For five years this Maxwell motor car has remained standard in practically its present form.

That's four years longer than some of its would-be rivals have stayed in

And it is longer than any other comparable model has endured.

Of course we have changed body lines and other external details from time to time, for the Maxwell clientele is fastidious as well as frugal.

Maxwell buyers demand style and finish, and all those other qualities that make all the difference to the owner who would be proud of the looks as well as pleased with the performance of his car.

But mechanically the changes in all those years have been in refinements of details only.

We have never had to apologize for a single detail-never found it necessary to change any unit-in the original Maxwell.

And you know, that had there been a single weak link-one detail that was faulty in the slightest-keen competition would have forced a change of such.

When, after looking them all over, you select a Maxwell motor car for yours, you have the satisfaction of knowing that more than a quarter of a million other careful buyers endorse your judgment and your good taste.

Better decide while the present price holds - there's no telling when it may have to advance again.

ARTIST TESTIFIES IN HUMBER DISPUTE The ownership of several islands in the Humber River which are claimed by the city, was disputed yesterday by the Purity Springs Water Company before Justice Lennox. W. J. known thru the work he has done in painting Toronto's landmarks, was called to give evidence by the plaintiffs' counsel, J. W. Bain, K.C. Mr. Thompson testified that in 1869 and 1870 he had painted a picture of the clusted old Gamble mill, and at that time the course of the river was west of where it now is; this being the only channel above the mill. An old citizen, T. J. Robinson, corroborated Mr. Thompson's statement. He said he he was on a visit to had made many trips up the river the city.

I. S. Fairty, counsel for the city, said he was not yet prepared to acknowledge that the foregoing statement as the regular allowance as well as the regular allowance from now. Each application made to the departing the head of correspondence before the matter was adjusted at Ottawa.
