Parliament Resumes After Easter Recess

Contentious Matters Held Over Until More Members Are Present — Lively Discussion Over Amendments to Act to Prevent Fires

Ottawa, April 22.—A small attendance of members at the first sitting of the commons after the Easter recess did not prevent good headway being made with government business and the voting of supply. Efforts of the government to proceed with contentious legislation, such as Hon. J. D. Reid's bill to incorporate the Canadian National Railway Company, were successfully objected to by the opposition, on the plea that many absent members desire to discuss these bills.

There was a long discussion in committee on the bill providing penalties under the criminal code for people who fail to obey dominion, provincial and municipal fire prevention regulations. Several members on both sides of the house thought the provisions of the act were too severe; nevertheless, it was reported from committee and stands for third reading.

During consideration of the railways and canals estimates at the evening session, B. C. McGoig gave voice to some rather sharp criticism because three private cars were attached to the Toronto-Ottawa government railway train which was derailed this morning. The burden of his complaint was that because of the number of private cars it was impossible to attach another sleeper to the train, with the result that many people, including himself, were inconvenienced. One private car was occupied by Sir Thomas White, another by Major-General Mewburn, and the third by Sir Henry Drayton and D. B. Hanna.

Dr. Reid, in reply, said it was only an accident that three private cars happened to be attached to this train. He asserted that fewer private cars are being used now than in the past.

During consideration of $3,500,000 vote for Welland canal construction, the opposition criticized the government for its decision to carry on the work at present on the cost plus, or forced contract, system.

Dr. Reid explained that under present conditions it is practically impossible to get contractors to take work on tender. It was necessary to proceed with construction, he said, in order to give employment.

The opposition persisted in their objection to the vote passing until the contracts are produced. The vote stood over with the understanding they would be brought down.

Hon. C. C. Ballantyne took his seat in the house this afternoon for the first time this session.

The Premier's Return.

Sir Thomas White stated in reply to Mr. Lapointe, of Kamouraska, that he had no definite information regarding Sir Robert Borden's return; but he presumed the prime minister would be back as soon as his duties overseas would permit. The house then took up second reading of the bill to extend, until the end of the present session, orders-in-council passed under the war measures act. Mr. Meighen pointed out that it was essential the bill receive assent before the session closed.

fore peace is proclaimed. It does not prevent the governor-in-council cancelling any orders in the meantime. Second reading of the bill was eventually postponed until tomorrow.

Sir Thomas White's bill amending the insurance act, was referred to the committee on banking and commerce.

Hon. A. K. MacLean introduced a resolution to amend the fertilizer act. The bill based upon the resolution provides that there be a tax of one cent per hundred pounds to cover the cost of inspection of fertilizer. The resolution was carried and a bill based upon it introduced.

The house then went into committee on Hon. T. A. Crerar's resolution providing for the adoption of the livestock and livestock products act. One purpose of this amendment is to standardize the size of packages of wool. It also provides that farmers and drovers may buy and sell at stockyards, and makes provision for importation of certain livestock products coming into Canada from foreign countries.

The resolution was adopted and the bill based on it was introduced.

Bill For Fire Prevention.

The house went into committee on the senate bill to amend the criminal code in respect to the prevention of fires. In presenting the bill for second reading, Mr. Meighen said its purpose was to make it a criminal offense on behalf of a tenant, owner or occupier of the building to fail to obey the requirements of any law intended to prevent fires.

LADY BADEN POWELL INVITED TO SPEAK

An executive meeting of the Women's Canadian Club was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. H. A. Powell, Queen square. There was a very large attendance at the meeting and considerable business was transacted.

Mrs. James Dooey reported that she had secured the services of ten members who assisted in the recent appeal of the Great War Veterans' Association. The luncheon committee, consisting of Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Beattie, were heartily congratulated for the artistic decorations. Thanks were also tendered to T. McAvity & Son, Ltd., and to Miss McQuarrie for their kind assistance.

An invitation was sent to Lady Baden Powell to address the Women's Canadian Club during her proposed visit to Canada. A suggestion was also made that a tablet commemorating the names of the units who have so heroically gone forth from the province be placed in some public place, and if possible within the city limits. A committee was appointed to investigate the matter and to ascertain if possible where the erection could be made.

Mrs. Kulring reported that many of the copies of the pamphlet "The Glory of Zebrugge and the Vindictive" had, through the courtesy of Dr. Bridges and Dr. Carter, been placed in the hands of the teachers of the city and also of the province. She also stated that fourteen copies had been sent to the provincial newspapers, by order of the club. It is felt by the members of the club that too much honor cannot be paid to this greatest naval achievement of the empire.

The executive noticed with pleasure the report by Dr. Mabel Harrington, whose appointment as inspector of schools had received the hearty endorsement of the club.
