

Steps In a New Dance THE "LA Russe"

Militarism omnipotent! After conquering art, music, fashions, the press and popular vocabulary, it has invaded the realm of Terpsichore! The dance for the coming winter, La Russe by name, is highly martial. So has the American Society of Professors of Dancing decreed. La Russe combines march steps, goose steps, tapping steps, salutes, double

HARD TIMES NOT AN EXCUSE IN LAW Montreal Justice's Ruling in a Real Estate Case

(Montreal Gazette.) Hard times and the state of the money and real estate market are not a valid reason in law to hold up the sale of a piece of property, according to a ruling handed down by Mr. Justice Beaune in the local courts yesterday. S. Greenwood demanded the sale by litigation of a certain piece of property in which he was interested, in common with Dame S. Stern and her husband. He called upon the courts to order the putting into effect of this judicial method of disposing of the holdings, and, in support of his petition, he cited the law which provides for such litigation. The defendant opposed the petition, pointing to the present state of the money market. Owing to present financial conditions, she said, it would be inadvisable for the property to be sold by litigation at the present time; the tightness of the money market had caused a depression in the real estate market and should the property be sold by litigation, it would bring a price inferior to that which could be obtained by sale by other means. The defendant would stand to suffer serious prejudice; the property would not realize the amount which it would bring under normal conditions; these facts, she said, were notorious to the plaintiff, who had taken the present action solely to force the sale of the property for the purpose of causing the defendant great pecuniary inconvenience; there would be no prejudice to the plaintiff to wait while the financial and realty conditions were improved, seeing that the plaintiff himself had the administration of the property in his hands. The court decided that the allegations made by the defendant in her plea were not of a nature to set aside the plaintiff's petition. Hence the sale was ordered.

MR. GROU OPTIMISTIC OVER LOCAL OUTLOOK New Superintendent of C. P. R. Receives Many Words of Congratulation

That prospects for the coming winter so far as maritime business is concerned, do not look so discouraging as some would say, is the opinion of H. C. Goulet, who has been receiving congratulations in the last few days from numerous friends on the ratification of his appointment to the important position of superintendent of the Atlantic division of the C. P. R. Because of the chaotic conditions at present prevailing, he said this morning it was hardly possible to foretell to any extent just what the ensuing winter would hold forth but he was of the view that there should be large quantities of grain shipped from St. John and if the winter should be the close of the war, it would be accompanied by a heavy increase in trans-Atlantic trade. St. John should naturally share to a considerable extent. Making this port the depot for shipping remounts to the old country ought also to prove beneficial and while it is difficult to say just how shipping might be in the next few months, he believed that the prospects for the most optimistic feelings should prevail.

Why Doctors Study Eye Refracting A very large number of the graduates of medical schools who begin practice in small towns come back to the city a few years to take a post graduate course in eye refracting. It is because they find out that eyes have a very important bearing on general health. Much ill-health that every physician in general practice is called on to treat can't be cured until the patient is supplied with properly fitted lenses held in place by properly adjusted frames. Much ill health, including many serious cases, can be prevented by scientific watching of the eyes. At least once each year you ought to have a competent specialist examine your eyes and act on the advice given. You'll find such eye specialists at Sharpe's. You can rely on them absolutely. If you don't wear glasses, you'll be told so frankly. But if you do, the glasses they prescribe will be exactly the glasses you require.
