She made all sorts of enquiries about discounts on American bills and kept the broker talking three or four minutes. Not with soap—you know better than that. But with Pyle's Pearlina. Dirt leaves, and the work is done—easily, quickly, safely, thoroughly.

You save time with Pearlina—but you save more than that. You're spared the endless rub, rub, rubbing that tires you out and wears out what is rubbed.

It's money in your pocket to use Pearlina. If it cost more than soap, it were dangerous—then you might hesitate. But you needn't. It's as cheap as any soap, and just as harmless.

Feddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearlina." IT'S FALSE. Pearlina is never peddled, and if you grocer sends something in place of Pearlina, do the honest thing—send it back. JAMES PYLE, N. Y.

A Wonderful Bouquet.

When little Queen Wilhelmina was a few years younger than she is now, she surprised the King, her father, in a very charming way. Her mother and her maids made a monstrous bouquet; there were seventy different kinds of flowers in it, and it was made on a framework, with handles on it for carrying. The centre of the bouquet was a wickerwork box, well hidden with flowers, large enough for little Wilhelmina to get into. She was covered up with a gigantic artificial calla lily. The flowers, framework, and the child weighed seventy pounds, and there were seventy varieties of flowers, which corresponded to the old king's three score years, and ten. Seven maids carried the giant bouquet into the presence of the king. As soon as it was placed in front of him, the petals of the lily opened, and his dear little, well-beloved daughter looked up and smiled on him. It was a beautiful present, and very cleverly designed, and King William III. of the Netherlands pronounced a cure of rheumatism, neuralgia, gout, sciatica, soreness, sprains, and strains. One trial will convince the most incredulous.

The Great Atlantic Liners.

All carry St. Jacobs Oil. In fact, no ship sailing from London or Liverpool is considered ready for sea until sufficient quantity of St. Jacobs Oil is on board to last the voyage. St. Jacobs oil conquers pain—it acts like magic; it penetrates; it reaches the seat of the disease and relieves pain directly. It is wholly an outward application for the speedy and permanent cure of rheumatism, neuralgia, gout, sciatica, soreness, sprains, and strains. One trial will convince the most incredulous.

J. A. Lawson, Esq., Charlottetown, P. E. I., writes: "From my experience in the use of K. D. C. I can heartily recommend it to those who suffer from dyspepsia. I know several others in this town who have found great benefit and a cure in using your medicine."

The liver secretes bile. If the secretion is deficient, constipation ensues; if too great, biliousness and jaundice arise. B. B. regulates the flow to the proper quantity.

WILSON.—At Dalhousie East, July 29, of consumption, after a long and tedious illness, Selena B., daughter of Thomas A. Wilson, aged 29 years. Sister Wilson was baptized by the Rev. E. J. Grant, June, 1878, and received into the fellowship of the Dalhousie East church, of which she was a consistent member to her death. Her life ever adorned her profession. Two years ago she felt and pressed the need of building a house for God by some of her own money, and getting some of the sisters at work. The house was started and finished; although she never saw the inside of the house, yet she rejoiced in its completion; and after suffering much with great patience and cheerfulness she passed away to occupy a house prepared for her of God.

STUB.—At Smith's Cove, August 22, aged 30 years, Agnes I., beloved wife of Henry Stub and daughter of C. E. Cassibon, leaving a devoted husband, two sons and many friends to mourn the loss of a worthy woman. Some fourteen years ago she was baptized by Rev. J. W. Skinner, and united with the Second Hillsburgh Baptist church at Smith's Cove, of which she continued a consistent member until the end. She took a deep interest in the work of the church until five years ago, when, with her family, she removed to Everett, Mass. In June last she returned in poor health. It was hoped by her husband and friends that rest and change of climate would recuperate her strength, but their hopes were vain. She was very precious to her husband, and she summoned her friends to her bedside, calmly spoke to them of things concerning the kingdom, and bade them an affectionate farewell. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. M. Grogan, her former teacher and familiar friend.

The autumn term of the Legislature Academy opened on last. Some fifty students were enrolled—a comparatively large number—work as now. The Manual Department adds a new feature of interest and value. Principals consider the prospect for work highly encouraging.

The Catholic Total Abstinence in the vicinity of Mass., held their annual field day in that city on September 4th. It was one of the most successful demonstrations ever held in Springfield, attracting some 20,000 visitors. The spectacle of the parade as a whole, far exceeding in the expectations of the profane, "there is much to encourage in this organization whose greatly influence the community."

Mr. JAY GOULD is said to have sold his $500,000 yacht for $200,000. The Chicago Statesman says that Mr. Gould sold the yacht to a missionary society, a religious and temperance like it, not with rifles but with pills, name it the Evening Star of our western land, and port to Africa. The Interior pro-missionaries are not likely for in this connection, and just as well. Probably not missionaries would care about Africa in Jay Gould's yacht.

There appears to us some ambiguity about the word "Critic" from Mr. Moore's we are inclined to think the pondant may have taken sense somewhat different which was intended. "I Itched Intensely!"

A TERRIBLE SKIN DISEASE Of Eight Years' Standing "PERFECTLY CURED" BY SKODA'S Ointment and Discovery.

LEWISTOWN, ME. GENTS—I wish to inform the suffering ones you that SKODA'S Ointment and Discovery will cure the worst skin disease that can be found. This statement may seem hardly to be true, but I have had a terrible skin disease from which I have suffered untold misery. I have tried Physicians of repute and from all the so-called "wonder cures," but the result was failure.

My skin was covered with white scales, I itched intensely, and when I would rub or scratch my skin, the scales would come off, and I would feel as if I were being tortured. My skin was so sore that I could not even touch my face, and I was obliged to keep my face close to my head.

I had used all the best ointments and lotions, but I was not cured. I was then told of SKODA'S Ointment and Discovery, and I bought a box of it. I am perfectly cured. I have never since suffered from the disease, and I have been able to go about as usual. I have written to the publisher of SKODA'S Ointment and Discovery, and they have sent me a copy of the book "SKODA'S Ointment and Discovery," which I have read with interest. I have since written to the publisher, and they have sent me a copy of the book "SKODA'S Ointment and Discovery," which I have read with interest. I have since written to the publisher, and they have sent me a copy of the book "SKODA'S Ointment and Discovery," which I have read with interest.
