HEAVYWEIGHTS FLOCK TO N. Y. AFTER REICH

Now that the heavyweights are gathering around New York it should be possible to pick out an opponent for Al Reich without going to extremes.

Beyond a doubt New York's new candidate for heavyweight honors is the most promising that city has put into the field in years. He is sure to be a big factor in New York boxing this winter, providing his boxing exercise some discretion in making his matches.

Jim Flynn, who just arrived from Kansas City, who has had championship aspirations of Al Reich, is now spoken of as Reich's next opponent. This match would be more logical than the proposed one with Smith, a veteran of raw material, the Pueblo veteran is in a class by himself. It will be a victory over him that Luther McCoy, Gunboat Smith and Jim Coffey established themselves, and Reich would do well to follow their example.

Al Palmer is another whom Reich might dispose of before attempting to humble the hard-hitting Gunboat. Palmer is due to arrive in New York this week for the express purpose of challenging the former amateur champion. Reports from the middle west state that Palmer has been working hard to get into shape ever since he defeated Fred Fulton in three rounds early this summer.

Of course both Flynn and Palmer are no longer in the running for the title, but neither is Fred McKay. Both are game enough to try out the new-comer's courage, and meeting them would give him much needed experience. Just at present Reich lacks steadiness under fire, and until this fault has been removed it would be pellucid suicide for him to face Gunboat's heavy shaft.

Ferry Keller, a starring heavyweight who recently arrived in New York, is another to challenge Reich. According to his manager, George Lawrence, Keller is a Californian who has just completed a tour of Australia and England. Lawrence writes that Keller is anxious to show his places in New York, only the better class of heavyweights need apply.

BRAVES WON'T GIVE GIANTS CHANCE TO START A SPURT

The thing troubling the Giants now is not so much whether they will be able to organize a little spurt for themselves as whether the Boston Braves will have just a wee bit of advantage in some circumstances.

The Boston drive continues with unabated fury. In fact, it is better than it ever has been, for the team is showing rare rallying powers, where hand pressed and that the element in baseball as well as in all other forms of athletic sports, that brings victory. Many times recently the Braves have come from behind by a splendid batting rally in one of the final innings and landed a victory when defeat seemed imminent. Seldom have they permitted rival teams to pass them once they themselves have taken the early lead.

Speaking of the straws the Giants and their followers are ready to catch at any lying around loose and they are finding a basis for some kind of hope in the improved showing of Doye Mount upon his return to the Polo Ground to open the long campaign here. The Giants routed Cincinnati in a way that gratified the demands of most exacting rotors and the clean, business like way in which they went about the field and that they played like regular champions in that game and this, accentuated by indifferent work on the part of the leaderless Reds, made them look better than they have in many a day.

"Getting the jump" is one of the first principles of attaining success on the athletic field and from the way the Giants started off their demonstration they have been taking to heart a few vigorous lectures on this topic. They rolled up five runs as a starter and they did it on two solid hits at the right moment, aided by a base on balls. Fletcher drove in two runs by a slashing three bases with Doye Mount on the bases and then scored himself by a fast sprint on Robertson's felder choice to Kellough, the Reds' first baseman. Merkle then led them on a long home run to the left field bleachers and Robertson and he crossed the plate.

Merkle Perks Up.

Merkle, who has been specializing recently in bloop hits, was one of the straws that "fans" grabbed at. In addition to his home run he smashed out a triple and enjoyed a batting average of .500 for the day. Of course, no one expects Merkle to continue at that pace, but any indication that he has recovered from his prolonged batting slump helps to push the good cause of restoring confidence along.

BIG LEAGUE BATSMEN'S AVERAGES

Ty Cobb Leads

Although making only eight hits in seven games last week, Ty Cobb added .007 points to his batting average and his .367 is just .027 points better than the mark of the next best man in the American League, Eddie Collins of the Athletics. Connie Mack's great second baseman fell off .002 points last week, yet he passed both Dick Holtzcler of the Red Sox and Joe Jackson of the Naps, who are third and fourth.

This Speaker had to give up fifth place to a newcomer in the league, Roth of Chicago having hit for .333 in his first sixteen games.

Myers Leads Regulars

Three Brooklyn regulars, Myers, Dalton and Daubert, have passed Joe Connelly of the Braves in the National League hitting list. Myers is keeping up close to 350, Dalton having 326, Daubert 324 and Connelly 322.

Outfielder Burns, who leads the new-gents and base stealers for New York, now has a new distinction. Burns with his 152 base hits leads the league, two hits ahead of Sherwood Masee of the Phillies. Wingo, the Cardinals' catcher, is back in the honor class again. Thorpe of New York and Gonzales of Cincinnati have dropped out.

California is to have most of the big stars for bouts this winter. Gunboat Smith and Mike Gibbons have been signed for bouts there. Charley Weinst and Howard Morrow will meet in Brooklyn, Oct. 6. Leach Cross was asked to meet Jack Brittain again for a $2,000 guarantee, but Cross passed him up. Jimmy Clabby arrived in San Francisco from Australia the other day. He will probably be matched to meet Mike Gibbons in California. Harry Lewis, the Philadelphia welterweight, who was forced to quit the same on account of an accident, has become the manager of Buck Crouse, Aurelia Herrera, the Mexican who fought several hard battles here and in Chile, and who got a decision over Kid Goodman that he did not deserve, who a government land grant just outside of Fellows, some 20 miles

A THRILLER THIS WEEK

Ninth Chapter holds successive audiences spellbound—Unique Theatre has another banner bill.

The ninth chapter of the "Million Dollar Mystery" as presented at the Unique theatre yesterday afternoon held spellbound the hundreds of patrons who crowded the cosy Charlotte street house at all performances. The ninth chapter showed in a graphic manner how Joe La Badie jumped head first from the upper deck of an ocean liner while the steamer was moving rapidly ahead. This act is a real thriller and shivers were plentiful in the audience when the daring deed was depicted on the screen.

"The Million Dollar Mystery" from the time the first chapter was shown, has taken a merited hold on the theatre-going public of St. John and each chapter unfolds further mysteries and daring deeds it arouses the keen interest of all to the highest pitch. The chapter this week bids fair to take the place of previous ones in the public esteem as from start to finish it is all that money can't buy.

Not content with a really banner programme the Unique has added an extra two reel feature to the picture entitled "The Courtship of O'San." This is a tragedy of old Japan and is interesting throughout.
