GARDEN FETE AT ROTHESAY.

The residents of Rotheray were much interested in the weather on Wednesday and the gleams of sunshine were warmly welcomed as the success of the garden fete held on Senator Donville's grounds, "The Willows," was a matter of deep interest. Fortunately the rain held off until the evening and the fete was well attended. It was a very pretty sight as the motors drove up the avenue. The grounds were gaily decorated with flags and the tables and stalls bedecked with flowers. The Temple of Honor Band stationed under the trees gave a delightful programme. Among the many attractions offered were ice cream, served in a portion of the grounds roped off by lengths of evergreen interwoven with flowers—a flower stall where bouquets and potted plants were for sale. The post office, a realistic booth where you called for a registered parcel and received a package addressed to yourself and containing a pretty gift. A decided novelty was a "bag lady." Mrs. Walter Trueman, attired in a costume of ye olden time. A produce table with some of the finest vegetables and fruits of which New Brunswick should be proud, and a candy table prettily decorated. The children enjoyed buying a parcel from miniature postmen dressed in the typical costume. Rides were given for a small sum upon Master Joe Allison's pony.

The jitney-bus service proved most acceptable especially when the rain began. Tea was served at small tables waited upon by young ladies dressed in white and wearing a badge of Allied ribbon on the sleeve. Great interest was taken in the drawing of the raffles. The prizes were won as follows: Ticket No. 16, Miss Beryl Mullin, gold wrist watch; Mr. T. E. G. Armstrong, ticket No. 4, silver wrist watch; ticket No. 39, Miss Muriel Robertson, blouse; ticket No. 45, for the embroidered night dress, has not been claimed. The sideboard was won by W. B. Tennant. Miss Rathbone was given a prize for selling the largest number of tickets for the fete.

The travel trips were won by W. H. Bell, King street; Miss Muriel Fairweather, Mrs. H. McCrea, Rotheray; Mrs. J. Royden Thomson, Hon. William Pausley, Mr. George McArthur and others.

The following were in charge of the various committees: Tea committee—Mrs. Thos. Bell, Mrs. T. E. G. Armstrong, Mrs. MacKay, Mrs. J. Henderson, Mrs. Blanchet, Mrs. D. A. Pugsley, Mrs. Walter Harrison, Mrs. John Magee, Mrs. Allan Daniel, Mrs. McPaden, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Harry Gilbert, Mrs. John McIntyre, Miss Gilbert, Miss Coffey, Miss Allison.

Candy—Miss Jean Daniel, Miss Dorothy Purdy, Miss Alice McKeen, Miss Edith Schofield, Miss Annie Armstrong.

Ice cream—Mrs. H. Frink, Mrs. J. M. Robinson, Mrs. Leonard Tilley, Mrs. Percy Fairweather, Miss Pitcher.

Book table—Mrs. H. B. Robinson, Mrs. R. D. Paterson, R. Turnbull.

Flower table—Mrs. Andrew Blair, Miss Muriel Fairweather, Miss Anna McKeen.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE NOTES.

Elgin.

One very pleasing feature of the Elgin May meeting was the reading

OF TIMELY AND UNTIMELY MIRTH.

Be cheerful at lunch and at dinner.

Be cheerful at five-o'clock tea.

But only a social beginner at breakfast indulges in glee.

—Punch.

of a letter written in French, from a Belgian soldier who had received a pair of socks from his branch. He said the socks reached him just when his feet were soaking wet and they felt so soft and warm. This branch sent a generous donation of maple sugar and syrup to soldiers at the front.

Petticoat.

Petticoat Institute conducted a very successful "clean" day, and this energetic branch is now collecting rags and papers to be sold later on, the proceeds for the Patriotic Fund. A band concert is being planned, money from this source to go towards Red Cross work. The Canadian blind soldiers in England are receiving assistance from this institute.

Lower Kingsclear.

The Lower Kingsclear Institute members of the Agricultural Society held a largely attended picnic last Friday afternoon on the grounds at the residence of Mr. Franklin Dunphy. A sumptuous supper, prepared by the institute women, so pleased the men, all unanimously declared they would like the ladies to join with them in another picnic very soon.

Garden Party at Vancouver Managed by School Girls.

The garden party for the Prisoners of War Fund for which Mrs. Leslie Wright lent her most artistic grounds on Shaughnessy yesterday afternoon was a decided success, over $130 being realized. The interesting feature of the party was that it was planned and carried out by a self-appointed committee of seven school girls—Vancouver Daily News and Advertiser.

FASHION NOTES

Purple and pink is one of the very latest schemes in color contrasts.

One of the season's fads consists of a hat and parasol of striped satin to match. A navy blue and white striped hat has a soft scarf of the same design to finish the trimming. The parasol is finished with a flounce of piped scallops. All color combinations are to be had and silk jersey suits are worn with the set.

Extra top coats in Harris tweed come in full sporting models, with coat sleeves, high convertible collars, half belts at the back and celluloid buttons to match the material in color.

Mannish shirts in cotton crepe are excellent for touring. They are in stripes or in solid colors made with French cuffs. They wash well and require no ironing, so are very good for touring wear.

An over night case for men is made of soft leather in wide envelope shape. A soft slipper fits in a pocket at either end and snap flaps hold a set of pajamas flat in the centre.

Plaid sport suits of light weight serge are new and attractive. One in blue and white is made full Norfolk model and is worn with a white crepe shirtwaist. The hat to match is made of blue and white pique. A small suit is made of natural pique in the same model, only it has three strip belt and the military bag pockets.

Yellow doeklin gloves seem to be more popular than the white gloves for touring wear this summer. Silk gloves are varied; the latest fad being the black silk glove with a long wrist of black and white stripes. These gloves button at the wrist with two large white buttons.

Luna veils are especially smart for wear with the drooping brim Bankok hats faced with colored silk. The veil matches the facing. The veil is of chiffon and the mask is of shadow lace woven in a rather close pattern. Large polka dotted chiffon veils are also popular.

Black and white is coming into fashion again and black hats with touches of silver or gold trimming are the very newest style.

CLOTHES FOR THE BUSINESS GIRL.

A Shirtwaist Summer.

Skirts and separate waists are very much the vogue this season—which is vastly pleasing to the business girl who knows the value of a freshly laundered shirtwaist with separate skirt as a solid standby for office wear. An admirable combination in this line has been admitted. The skirt, of striped blue and white serge is simplicity itself, and the diagonal arrangement of stripes is individual and smart, says Hester Whitworth in "The Rochester Democrat."

There are four circular gores and side pockets slash into the material and then buttoned flat. The wide belt matching the skirt is very neat and trim. The blouse in this instance is of tan-colored cotton batiste with collar and cuffs of handkerchief linen, the cuffs fastening with loops and buttons so that they may be slipped up on the arm when pasting or mimeographing. This well-equipped little business maid wore a shady but not unduly picturesque sport hat of brown millinery with a band of white ribbon; her low-heeled sport shoes were of white washable kid which may be sponged off in a twinkling at any time with a damp cloth.

A sport skirt of tan linen, crash, smartly cut and trimmed with pearl buttons, and accompanied by a cool blouse of tan batiste like the one just described, should make an ideal costume for a warm midsummer day. In the event of an afternoon downpour, the tan crash skirt will not take on the hopeless, bedraggled look of a white skirt—indeed a white costume is seldom a wise choice for the office, because one lives near the place of business and a day's weather changes do not so much matter. The woman who feels and looks best in fresh white in summer time may manage her favorite type of costume if she possesses a long, not too heavy topcoat for wear on train or other conveyance and if she accompanies the white frock with dark footwear and hat. Somehow the lily-white, birdlike effect of white frock, white hat, white parasol and white boots is not quite pleasing to the aesthetic sense in an office connection.

BEYOND DESCRIPTION.

In writing of a recent trip to the Pacific Coast, over the lines of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, a prominent member of one of the State Railway Commissions of the United States, says:

"I have promised myself many times since last November that I would write you expressing my appreciation of your contribution to the pleasure of the trip our party took in connection with our visit to the exposition in California, last September."

"It would appear that the grandeur of the scenery along the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific to Prince Rupert is not to be exceeded anywhere, the vastness of the snow-capped mountains standing like mighty sentries guarding its steel-ribbed path are beyond my power of description, and as the train glides from the prairies of golden grain among the mighty foothills of the Rockies, it brings quick comparison between the handwork of man and the author of nature."

"The equipment was good, the service fine, attention of employees beyond criticism, accommodation and service upon the boats that carried us through the series of inland seas was such as to bring rest and pleasure instead of added fatigue, and being thus refreshed we were ready for whatever the 'Great West' had to offer, and able to enjoy to the full each and every new sight that came within the range of our vision, from mountain goat to ponderous bear."

"Officers and employees seem to vie with each other in giving their passengers received 'special' attention. My observation was that there were no favorites, for certainly all the passengers appeared to receive the same attention as did we, and all were made to feel care-free, believing that everything that could be was being done for their comfort."

Marion was saying her prayers. "And please God," she said, "make St. John the capital of New Brunswick."

"Why Marion," said her shocked mamma, "what made you say that?"

"Marion settled herself in bed," "Oha," she answered, "I made it that way in my xamnation paper today, and I want it to be right."

Birthday Greetings.

Uncle Dick wishes many returns to the following kiddies who will be celebrating their birthday today: Little Gaudie, Pokins P. O. Frances Murray, 163 St. James street Edward Belyea, Brown's Flats. Mary Daley, 43 Marsh street. Marion Cunningham, Gardner's Creek.

Riverside.

Dear Uncle Dick:

I would like very much to join your interesting club. I read the page every week and enjoy it very much. My daddy does not take the Standard but we exchange papers with our neighbor. I was twelve years old the 6th of last January, passed my examinations in June. I will be in Grade 5 next term. I am trying one of your competitors and hope it is right. I will close my letter now.

From a new member,

The Range.

Dear Uncle Dick:

I thought that I would write and let you know that I want to join the Children's Corner, and that Evelyn Wasmaker wants me to. I am nine years of age, and I have a brother twelve years old. We have a cow, pig, horse and six chickens. We have ripe blueberries now. My little cousin is up from St. John. She is nine years of age. I am going to school, and I am in the Third Reader.

Well I guess I will close.

Dominion Day.

In 1867, July 1, the British North America Act was passed, which formed the Dominion of Canada. The Dominion of Canada first consisted of Lower and Upper Canada (New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Quebec, Ontario) Other provinces have been added since it was formed.

This joining of the provinces to form the Dominion was called Confederation. Manitoba entered the Confederation in 1870; British Columbia, 1871; Prince Edward Island, in 1873, and Alberta and Saskatchewan became provinces of the Dominion in 1876. A number of districts also belonged to the Dominion, and as their populations grew larger or became joined to other provinces or became provinces themselves.

Therefore we celebrate the First of July because the Dominion was formed on that day.

ACTOR-KNIGHTS.

The investment of knighthood upon eminent actor managers, the war has proved, is about the best investment that English royalty has ever made with the single exception of giving a peerage to William Waldorf Astor.

The actor-knights have done yeoman service for the country ever since the war began, says the New York Review. The other day someone tried to estimate how much Sir Herbert Tree has raised for war charities while he has been in America, and figured that Sir Herbert had paid for his title about twenty times over. Of course, no one can form any accurate estimate of how much money Sir Herbert has personally raised by benefits which he has fathered and by subscription, but it will exceed half a million dollars.

Sir George Alexander, Sir Squire Bancroft, Sir Charles Wyndham and the other actor-knights here have all been tremendously energetic in their patriotic activities during the war. The number of benefit performances which these actor-knights have promoted is amazing. With them the fact that their position and obligation to royalty placed them at the head of all these various war charity movements is undeniable, but I dare say that even had they not been knights they would have worked just as hard in the cause of the country.

Sir Frank Benson, the latest knight, is going to Serbia and tour the hospitals of the Allies there, with Lady Benson and a small company of players, thus doing his bit for King and country. Of course, Sir Frank does not have to do this. He could stay at home and play the provinces if he chose, but again "noblesse oblige."

WHA' D'YE MEAN!!

Special to the Bulletin by M. G. Jones.

Universal City.

"Get me some sea serpents." "Are you not composita mentis?" "Nix—I want sea serpents."

"Just what I say—sea serpents." "Come, now, Wallace, be reasonable, explain yourself."

"Nothing to explain, Fred; don't you know, sea serpents—swimmers—girls who can do fancy stunts in the water now d'ye get me?"

"Oh, that's easy."

It was Director Wallace Beery talking to Fred Dattig, manager of the Employment Department of Universal City. Beery was in quest of a number of maidens who could swim, and that was his way of informing Dattig of what he required.

CURTAIN FLASHES

Herbert Brenon, the director of the William Fox $1,000,000 Annette Kellermann play, has a blue purple limousine upholstered in crestone for the summer. It looks like a Grand Canyon summit trimmed with rambler roses.

Mme. Ganna Walska, the noted Polish grand opera singer, is to appear in the next production starring Irene Fenwick, William Nigh director.

Good for Pauline.

Pauline Frederick has traded her Stutz racer for a four-passenger car of the same make. She declared the two-seater car too selfish.

Antonio Moreno, himself of Spanish descent, especially enjoyed playing "Pedro," the hero of "The Tarantula," a Viennese Blue Ribbon release, an injured lover in a Mexican city.

Harold Lockwood, driving the hydroplane "Boatman," recently won a twenty mile race on the St. Lawrence river from four other contestants.

Kathryn Williams has thirteen picture theatres named for her.

Geo. Behan has left New York for Maine, where he will pass the summer.

Richard Travers is being starred in a play, "Lost, Twenty-Four Hours," by the Essanay Company. Marguerite Clayton and Wanda Howard are also in the cast.

Wells Hawks, well-known press agent, who recently directed the publicity campaign for the Russian Ballet on tour and at the Metropolitan Opera House, says Dramatic Mirror, has been engaged by Mary Pickford as her personal representative.

Emily Stevens is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Fiske, at the latter's country place at Big Moose lake in the Adirondacks. Mrs. Fiske and Miss Stevens will remain in the mountains until early September, when the latter resumes her tour in "The Unchastened Woman," and Mrs. Fiske inaugurates a lengthy season in "Erstwhile Susan."

The Dramatic Mirror's London letter says: Anzacs in particular are constant visitors to the Duke of York's theatre, for they have discovered an old friend in Mr. Charles Waldron—"Daddy Long-Legs." He was in Australia some years ago playing in "A Squaw Man" (well known here as "A White Man"), when he met and fell in love with Miss Alice Mary—ing, the popular daughter of a well-known Sydney family. After eighteen months he returned from America with his wife to prove to her relations that her "hot was a happy one."

Things Marguerite Hears at Movies.

"!!!!!!!" (uttered by thin gentleman whose pet corns have been subjected to severe treatment by stout ditto, passing to take a seat in centre of row.

The Lasky photoplay, "The Unconquered," now in production, with Blanche Sweet as star, is a story of an Alabama prison camp, and Hollywood is now becoming accustomed to seeing men in stripes going to and from the studios. Walter Long, remembered for the characterization of the negro in "The Birth of a Nation," has been engaged to support Miss Sweet in this production.

William Farnum is recovering from an illness which has lasted five or six weeks.

Since the trial production of the new play "My Old Dutch" (by Arthur Shirley and Albert Chevalier) at Hastings, a fortnight ago, Mr. Chevalier has had offers for London, the United States, and a big Canadian tour, says Beverly Brax in the Dramatic Mirror. For the present he has been compelled to decline these offers, because of a prior engagement to appear in another new play, which will shortly be seen in the West End. Mr. Chevalier hopes to arrange for a London production of "My Old Dutch" early next year. From all accounts he has made the success of his life as Joe Brown, in this simple drama of the poor, so aptly termed "a piece of humanity."

"Jerry and the Counterfeiters."

The Cub Comedy Company is finishing the last one reel subject entitled "Jerry and the Counterfeiters." With the completion of this, they will take up the making of two-reel subjects.

TAXIDERMIST ORDERS

PRINT FROM GAUMONT.

When the Gaumont Company made public a list of "Real Life" releases which included pictures of a zebra, there came a most unusual order from a St. Louis taxidermist. This was for that part of the reel which showed the zebra. The letter, in part, follows: "We have just received for mounting the skin and head of a zebra which was killed on the McMillan ranch in Africa by a St. Louis sportsman. As we wish to employ every possible means of reproducing this animal in as lifelike a manner as can be, we wish to order a print from your Mutual Magazine in Film, 'Real Life,' showing the zebra."

The picture in question was taken by Elwin R. Sanborn, who has filmed a great many of the Gaumont Animal Studies. The McMillan ranch is owned by a St. Louis big game hunter who has made his home in the dark continent for many years.

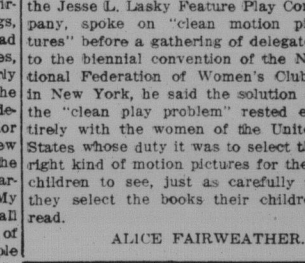

A "funny man" thought he would break up a suffrage meeting, so, from the audience, he called out to the woman speaker: "Say, madam, would you like to be a man?"

Back instantly came the reply: "Yes, I would. Wouldn't you?"

Clean Pictures.

When Jesse L. Lasky, president of the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company, spoke on "clean motion pictures" before a gathering of delegates to the biennial convention of the National Federation of Women's Clubs, in New York, he said the solution of the "clean play problem" rested entirely with the women of the United States whose duty it was to select the right kind of motion pictures for their children to see, just as carefully as they select the books for their children read.
