

HISTORY AT UPPER CANARD

Macaulay says that the man who cares nothing for the past, will care nothing for the future. The care and attention given to the graveyards of any community is a good measure of the degree of culture and refinement attained by its people. The people who neglect the graves of their kindred have as much soul as the animals they have confined in pens in their barnyard. As a rule the graveyards of Nova Scotia are shamefully neglected. Graveyards are robbed. Gravestones have been taken up and used for door stoops and chimney pots, by human ghouls. Makers of gravestones are known to use the monuments of persons having no near relatives, to form the sub-structure of monuments they erect. Those having the care of graveyards as a rule take no pains and go to no expense in maintaining the old monuments intact.

The worst example of sheer neglect is probably in the town of Windsor. One of the best preserved in the Province is the ancient graveyard at the old Parade Ground, Upper Canard. It is under the care of the Baptist Church, but Jew and Gentile, bond and free are found there, side by side. The widow of Dr. Theodore Harding Rand bequeathed $1,000 for its upkeep. This is a fitting monument of one of Nova Scotia's great sons, whose remains repose there. He was Superintendent of Education in Nova Scotia, when the bill was first enacted, and was still under fire. He served the public in the same capacity in New Brunswick at a later date, and was afterwards appointed Chancellor of McMaster University. One gravestone goes back to 1767—over a century and a half, and from that date there are many graves of the first generation of settlers—some of whom have no stone to record their life or death.

The following is a list of the older ones: They are given alphabetically and not according to age:

- James Brag, died 1831, aged 35 years.

The Parade, across the highway from the graveyard, was set aside in the revolutionary days to keep a rebellious realm in awe. It was adopted by the early Congregationalists from New England for a church which was soon occupied by Henry Alline. It later became the Ft. et Baptist Church of Cornwallis. The present structure is one of the finest rural churches in the Province.

ANNUAL CONVENTION UNION OF N. S. MUNICIPALITIES

AMHERST, August 31.—The eighteenth annual convention of the Union of Nova Scotia Municipalities concluded its three days session this afternoon, a motor boat trip to old Fort Beauséjour rounding out the end of a session that was pronounced by many of the large number of delegates as the best in the history of the union. On invitation of Mayor Mosher, the union decided to hold its 1924 session in Dartmouth.

A number of important resolutions were passed, including thanks to the entertaining municipalities, the Press, the provincial government and others. The retiring president, Parker Archibald, Municipal clerk of Halifax county, was elected an honorary member of the union, and H. A. Rice, Mayor of Canso, was elected president.

The resolution before the convention that promoted the most discussion was to the effect that the provincial government be asked to amend the present legislation so that at least one half of the fees collected from motor owners residing within the cities, town and rural municipalities, be refunded to the cities, towns and rural municipalities wherein the motor owners reside. The resolution passed twenty-seven to four.

A resolution requesting the abolition of the grand jury was passed, also one asking that the penalty in bastardy cases be raised to a minimum of $200 and a maximum of $500.

The convention went on record as favoring the establishment of Juvenile courts. Other resolutions passed were to the effect that the federal government maintain prisoners undergoing sentence for violation of the inland revenue act; that the penalty be made payable to the town; that the establishment of a municipal department again be urged upon the provincial government; that the convention favored the Provincial Tourists Association; that the government should defray the costs of collecting the road tax.

WE NEVER KNOW

I spoke a word,
 And no one heard;
 I wrote a word,
 And no one cared
 Or seemed to heed;
 But after half a score of years
 It blossomed in a fragrant deed.
 Preachers and teachers all are we—
 Sowers of seed of unconsciously.
 Our hearers are beyond our ken,
 Yet all we give may come again
 With usury of joy or pain.
 We never know
 To what one little word may grow.
 See to it then that all your seeds
 Be such as bring forth noble deeds.

NOVA SCOTIA APPLES FOR LONDON EXHIBITION

Five splendid exhibits of Nova Scotian apples were forwarded last week to St. Catharines, Ontario, by the Department of Industries and Immigration. These exhibits are specially prepared in glass jars each of which contain a whole branch of apples suspended in a preserving liquid which guarantees the coloring and life-like appearance of the apple for several years. The jars contain specimens of McIntosh Reds, Cox's Orange, Golden Russets and Northern Spy. These jars are to accompany the exhibit being forwarded by the Canadian Government Exhibition Commission to London, England, and will be set up in the magnificent entrance to the new offices of the Agent General.

The Importance of Being Pretty

Many a girl's fortune is determined by her face. A skin which is fresh, smooth and alluring with the radiance of health, predicts a happy future, because this is the greatest of all womanly charms.

Every girl can have a beautiful, attractive skin if she will only learn to give it proper care.

The constant application of cold creams, lotions, powder, and rouge tend to make the skin sluggish and inactive. Dirt accumulates and blackheads and other blemishes appear.

Thorough cleansing once a day prevents such a condition and keeps the complexion fresh and smooth. Cold Cream is beneficial when applied to a clean skin and rouge and powder are harmless beautifiers—but—start fresh every day on a clean foundation. Keep your skin active and it will be clear, fresh, youthful and attractive.

Soap to be thorough, need not be harsh. The mildest toilet soap made is the most thorough of all cleansers, as you will know after you have once tried Palmolive.
