STUDENTS RIOT AGREEING ON PETITION TO RECALL LORD BEAVERBROOK AS CHANCELLOR

Fredericton (BURP) — The usual quiet of Queen Street was shattered last evening by the shouting of an unruly mob of students from the University of New Brunswick who marched through town singing "The Internationale" accompanied by the crashing of store windows up and down both sides of the street.

The mob carried huge cardboard signs on which were written slogans agreeing on a recent petition for the return of Lord Beaverbrook as Chancellor of UNB. It was the evidence that his Lordship was the champion of the students. It was rumored that the demonstrators were looking for an outlet for their pent-up emotions and had grown tired of burning Saint Thomas in effigy and had merely selected Lord Beaverbrook for a change.

BUCK ROGERS SUBPOENAED BY COUNCIL OF PLANETARY ACTIVITIES

Capt. Rogers, known to all where they were held in connection with the moon landing, is being subpoenaed to appear before the committee on the activities of the planet.

The committee is investigating the activities of the planet, and is looking for evidence of the planet's activities.

The committee is also looking for evidence of the planet's activities, and is looking for evidence of the planet's activities.

ROMAN COLUMNS FOR CENTRE

Rome (GLEEP) — Shades of "Quo Vadis" A touch of old Rome is being brought to the UNB campus. It has been announced in "WYRHR" from Rome that columns from the Colosseum are to be used in the interior of the men's room in the new Student Centre.

The credit for the uncovering of these remarkable columns goes to UNB's own Professor of Classics, Deeper Furrows. It was he who led the expedition, and wielded the spade that finally brought these magnificent pieces of Sewardian architecture to light.

around 9.00 a.m. After announcing our bodies with oil, and burning a jeep to the gods, we stripped to our togas and commenced work in the first three days of work we uncovered a worthless charred fiddle, a half-burned effigy of Senator McCarthy and a textbook from physics 100. Then, when we were all showing signs of fatigue,

FLIMSEY TALKS TO GIRLMAN - NEW BOOK SEEN

By JAMMY O'SOLE M'OH
Sexton, W.Va. (OOMPH) — Dr. Flimsey, noted sighthawologist was seen in the company of one Lidertine Orgenson recently. It is known that the good doctor is working on a new study of human relations (male to female) in which he will approach the subject of sex in a "middle of the road manner". Orgenson, a convert of probably the world's outstanding authority in this field. When questioned by Smellegraf reporters recently, Dr. Flimsey said, and I quote, "I think that my new book TO OR NOT TO, will reveal many things hitherto unknown by the average layman. I think that sex has been too long neglected, and ah ah ah to neglect it." Unquote.

Runs Out of Grapes
Orgenson when questioned concerning his part in Dr. Flimsey's forthcoming book made the following statement, and I quote, "The Doc an me is just good friends," and I unquote.

SLEEPS ON FLOOR

Minto—(Special to The Smellegraf)—Found asleep on the floor of Falgout's Pharmacy Dr. Tanker of Minto was arrested by RCMP Saturday morning after a tip-off brought police to the scene.

STUDENT ATTEMPTS ESCAPE FROM MEN'S RESIDENCE TO ATTEND LECTURES

Fredericton (Pilegm) — An unknown freshman student from the University of New Brunswick attempted an escape from the men's residence to attend lectures this afternoon. He had originally tried to crawl down the swimming pool drain, but was thwarted in this endeavor when he met the president of the university coming through the other way. After seeing at the window bars and thereby making a small exit, he became stuck half way out and dangled there while "Trapper" Jones, with light, and two other professors stood guard lest he wriggle free. He had been confined to the residence for having refused to take part in the riot on front street, and has several times tried to appear intelligent in the presence of professors. Although no proof has been presented, it is believed that he attended the Forester's Hammerfest this fall and did partake of alcoholic beverages. We, the Editors, express regret at hearing about such an ill-bred youth being allowed to enroll in the University of New Brunswick. The youth has now received his last dues and is doing a stretch in the "hole" on bread and beer.

CAUSES UNKNOWN

BY RED RYDER
SMELEGRAPH-JOURNAL STIFF WRITER
Sin Yawn was dealt a severe blow today by the deaths of one hundred men, women and children. The causes of the deaths are unknown and there were no known survivors.

ROMEO AND JULIET

Berlin (Rioters) — An East Berlin Romeo who strayed into the bedroom of the father of his Juliet featured a comedy of errors described Sunday in the East Berlin Communist newspaper Neue Zeit. Konrad Muckelbeggin, a young law clerk, appeared before an East Berlin court on charges of theft. His Juliet was Julia Knobb, a daughter of a snappy mail merchant.

General Here In Hopes To Locate Missing 8th Army

Fredericton (U.N. Lousey B) — A general in the United States Army, was in Fredericton last night looking for the US 8th Army which has been lost for several months. They had last been seen entering a dance in Oromocto, N.B. but no word has ever been received that they left the dance hall. The dance hall itself has not even been seen since that night. The general, who has been duly approved by Senator McCarthy, will be in the Capital City for several weeks before venturing to Oromocto. He is hopeful of finding some trace of the misplaced army and told reporter last evening, "I am hopeful of finding some trace of the misplaced army."

ARSON

Kentville, N.S. (Tripe) — An officer's mess and theatre on the 3,000-acre camp Underhill were destroyed by fire Saturday. Firemen said it looked like arson.

Damage was estimated at about approximately $800,000 more or less by army officials. The camp has been placed under strict military guard while RCMP and special investigators search for clues and a fat man who was reported seen vanishing from the area.

About 500 members of the Black Watch Regiment were training at Underhill but none were in the officers mess when fire broke out Saturday morning.

It was the second fire in the mess in little more than a year. Fire caused about $40,000 damage in June, 1952. There has been no word from the RCMP on the origin of the blaze or progress of their investigation but, of course, the trail is only one year old.

From Here and There

In Toronto, a 19-year-old new Canadian who died in Etobicoke in 1944 in an open boat, and little else, climaxed her fourth year in Canada Friday night when she was awarded three scholarships and several prizes at Bloor Collegiate commencement. Gretel Schlampepper received the Reuben Smells Leonard scholarship, University College, the H. W. Morris memorial history scholarship, and the Canada Packers scholarship.

In Kansas City, a man who was stuck to a bottle of beer for several hours in near-freezing temperatures, was reported in fair condition today. So tightly was 67-year-old M. I. Tight held by the bottle that it took two men to pull him loose. He was found in an abandoned brewery Thursday, hours after he apparently stumbled into it.

In Oswego, Ill. King Crawl of Greece, currently on a goodwill tour of the United States, satisfied a desire to see a "typical mid-west form" Saturday. He visited a 35-acre hog and dairy farm in the Illinois community and joined the Smiths at a dinner of fried chicken and apple pie. It is with deep regret that we must announce three cases of ptomaine poisoning in Oswego.

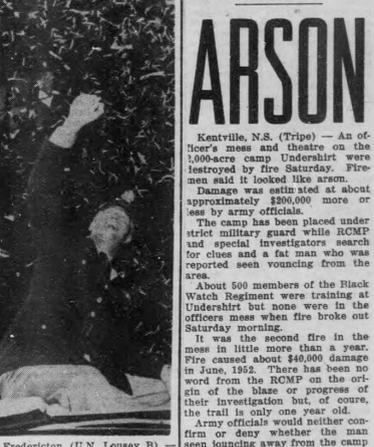

An 82-year-old woman who has married five husbands was married at the registry office in Bradford, Eng., Saturday for the sixth time. Mrs. Roxine Cluv Bridegroom was Robert Toomas McSpleen, 75, a retired punching bag.

At UNB a pair of daring briefs, worn by a co-ed at least 1,900 years ago, have been found lying deep excavations. Diamond Construction workers said today, "The leather scanties, remarkably similar to the bottom half of the 20th-century bikini bathing suit, are in almost perfect condition. No top section was found."

Russian scientists have found a "missing link" hip flask in a cave near Bakchisarai, Crimea. Moscow radio reported Thursday. The flask was found in a member of the Academy of Alcoholics as saying: "The flask shows a transitional form between ancient and modern containers."

In Sin Yawn a south-side Air Force "club" owner sued for $500,000 damages Saturday, claiming a barrel of beer exploded while he was trying to open it, destroying his right eye. Marvin "Max" Moore, 40, filed suits in court for $300,000 damages from the Juice-head Brewing Co. and $200,000 damages from the Polished Brass Co., manufacturers of beer-dispensing equipment.

In Hong Kong, cyclist Ng Kau paid in court for cutting his corners too close for comfort, that is, Ng was fined about $50 for damaging government property. His bicycle fender ripped the seat out of an officers shorts. (And that's the truth.) And that's, the end.
