OF INTEREST TO HORSEMEN.—Do you turn your horses out for the winter? If so, we want to call your attention to a very important matter. Horses that have been used steadily, either on the farm or for road work, quite probably have some strains whereby lameness or enlargements have been caused, or, perhaps, new life is needed to be infused into their legs. Gombault's Caustic Balsam applied as per directions just as you are turning the horse out will be of great benefit. This is the time when it can be used very successfully. One great advantage in using this remedy is that after it is applied it needs no care or attention, but does its work well, and at a time when the horse is having a rest. Of course, it can be used with equal success while horses are in the stable, but many people in turning their horses out would use Caustic Balsam if they were reminded of it. This article is given as a reminder.

Colonel Pennington McPherson's "Life of Sir John Macdonald" is now being canvassed for, and will be ready for delivery by the first of December. It is a book of 1,100 pages, published in one and two volume editions, printed on heavy paper and profusely illustrated. No binding is strong enough to hold and make lasting a book of such a size, therefore, the two volume edition is strongly recommended. Colonel McPherson is a nephew of Sir John, was intimately associated with him, had access to his private papers, was assisted by him on the work, and had the cognizance of Baroness Macdonald and Hugh John Macdonald, as is attested by public letters. Col. McPherson has been engaged for the last 12 years in preparing and bringing down to date this great work. His scholarship is endorsed by so eminent a man as Professor Williamson, late mathematical professor of Queen's University, and now Vice-President of the same institution, and his accuracy by Mr. Johnson, Dominion Statist. The incidents of Sir John's early life and after course are detailed with a faithfulness and minuteness that is the outcome of an earnest desire on the part of the author to prepare for the public a work undoubted in its authenticity, and born of a genuine love and admiration of the deceased statesman. The author's object was not only to prepare a life of Sir John, but to make these volumes valuable as a standard work of Canadian historical reference for politicians, students, journalists and controversialists. The Earle Publishing House of St. John, New Brunswick, by which this work has been brought out, is one of the largest subscription book publishing houses on the Canadian portion of this continent. W. H. Hooper, of Brandon, is General Agent for Manitoba, to whom all communications and applications for territory must be addressed.
