 ANY one interested in small Threshing Machines should get my Free Illustrated Catalog. It tells how to test the horse power of an engine, what it means, how to find speed of pulleys and sizes needed, is most useful to anyone having or thinking of getting an engine. Kerosene burner can be supplied if desired. Read the names of the users of my machines there are bound to be some near you and call on them and see for yourself that they will do all and more than we claim. No one heard of small threshing machines till I introduced them into the West. Buy the Original Machine that is good. Don't buy a copy.

It Has Made Good For Six Years

Lalley-Light should need no recommendation beyond its record of successful use.

For six years it has been giving tireless service to farmers and country home owners.

When we say Lalley-Light is reliable, durable, and low in operating cost, we simply repeat what owners say.

When we say it furnishes ample power, brilliant, steady, safe light, we are again drawing on owners' experience. Electricity on the farm means cheap, efficient power for water pump, churn, cream separator, washing machine; current for a vacuum cleaner, electric iron, etc.; all the light you want for house and barn without danger of fire.

Lalley-Light engine and dynamo are direct connected—compact, simple, accessible. Engine starts at the turn of a switch, located anywhere you choose. Runs on gasoline, kerosene or natural gas. Automatically stops when batteries are charged. Write for literature.
