EVANGELIST HONEYWELL DELIVERS STRONG APPEAL

Church Members Listen to Splendid Sermon on How to make Campaign a Benefit and a Success

The members and workers of the churches interested in the work of evangelism in Belleville received a stirring and vigorous appeal last night when Evangelist L. E. Honeywell emphasized the need for earnest prayer and constant, untiring, individual and united effort on behalf of the Christians in this great desire for a better church, a greater community and an uplifted Belleville.

One reason for a deterioration of the Sabbath was the foreign population which as an influence in the life of our city make indifference our attitude toward spiritual things. In the moral machinery in each person be directed in an effort on behalf of God's kingdom the result would be immediately felt.

People refuse to do the small duties that lie in their path because they are unable to accomplish wonders.

What Can I Do?
All great things have been done by the fulfillment of the small things; the wall about Jerusalem was built; the boys who did their duty in the trench, on the water, in the air, where and when they were asked, and died, if necessary, to win, were examples of what can be done, if ready hands and a willing heart and soul burning with a desire to serve God in the best possible way. As professing Christians, cheerful aid, sympathy, time and even life itself, must be willingly given to help the fellow creatures.

How to Accomplish
The big problem confronting the church to-day is to draw the congregation. The hustle of life, drive of business, craze for pleasure, counter attractions were the chief causes for the small congregations. The preacher cited an instance of a church committee who advertised for a new minister. He must be a good looking, black hair and eyes, nice moustache, belong to four lodges and when asked the reason for this, the committee explained—that he would draw the crowd.

Help the Preacher
The attitude of the church in many instances is that six or seven hundred dancing and card playing church members get into the wagon and expect one poor minister or evangelist to get into the shafts and draw them to glory. Side track everything else and boost your own meetings, organize business to enable time to be given, give up lodge, club, etc., and boost for ideals, home, church, community, intellect and success. Ask neighbors, friends, associates, call the grocer, speak to everyone with whom each can touch and success will be assured. The members owe it to Dr. Scott, the church, the city and to God to attend every service and work unceasingly. "Eloquence lies as much in the ear as in the tongue" quoted the evangelist. The sympathy and attention of the hearers and earnest prayers of the Christians are required to make the message felt. One person not giving undivided attention spoils many a good sermon while a good man, listening intently, with lips frequently moving in silent prayer is a wonderful incentive to any preacher facing an audience. It takes a first-class preacher and a first-class listener to make a first-class citizen.

Life's Shadow and Sunshine
This is not the time for criticism. Mr. Honeywell felt this a good time to mention this serious drawback so frequently causing failures in God's service, as he has never heard any since reaching Belleville. "Many people," says the preacher, "close their eyes to ninety-nine good qualities in mankind, keeping them open for the one evil quality. Life has its shadows but what are they compared to the sunlight?" Even though the methods of the preacher, or his helpers do not appeal, be in sympathy and believe that he and they are working for, and winning souls and the prayers of all are necessary in the great work.

To Win Souls
"Fishers of men," the Great Leader, Jesus said "follow Me." His mission on earth was to win souls and to do His duty, be true, seek and save lost souls, follow Him, stand on the level. He suffered and died to win precious, sinful, lost souls and if we would serve and obey Him we must pay the price. Yes! it costs something as does everything worth while. Ask the mothers, wives and families of the boys overseas if the sacrifice they made had not cost something. The boy in school who hears the black, brook, green fields call him; the man in university who sacrifices the meal he longs for, that his mind may grasp some intricate study. If the bands of sin are to be broken and the captives set free the cost will be great, anxiety, worry, sleepless nights over some poor sinner will be the price and someone must pay and pay and pay.

Work Well Done
The result, the happiness in duty and service well rendered by giving the best, the "dead level" best comes and to Belleville friends and churches the call comes for the best.

The Choral Assistance
A choir of about thirty-five under the enthusiastic and able leadership of Mr. Tovey assisted in the service, several choirs being represented as well as the Bridge St. choir being augmented. Mr. Tovey as a singer and conductor merits great praise in being able to sing and lead the choir and congregation in the song service which preceded the meeting, and also rendered a solo "His Eye is on the Sparrow," a familiar evangelistic song in a wonderfully clear, pure tenor and perfect articulation. The pianist and accompanist, Miss Elizabeth Potter, F.T.C.M., Mus. Bac. supported the soloist in the artistic and subdued manner of the thoroughly qualified musician.

A Small Attendance
The attendance was regrettably small, due, very probably, to the busy season and the evangelist and his Australian vocalist assistant being entire strangers to this city, but their personalities are very strong, and the people who have been so far, fortunate in hearing them will certainly come regularly to join in praise and hear the message the preacher conveys in his clear, decisive manner with its many bright, interesting illustrations that appeal to the dullest imagination, and frequently holds his hearers with an intensity keenly felt.

Perished in the Burning Sleeper

Wilfred Phillips of Phillipston the Victim — Body Identified by his Brother — Had been Working on Farm Near Indian Head.

One more local tragedy is now traceable to the burning Canadian Pacific sleeper at Bonheur station, near Fort William. The one remaining body has been identified as that of Wilfred Phillips, son of Mr. Harrison Phillips, of Phillipston, in the northern part of Thurlow.

The young man left his home some months ago and went to Saskatchewan where he was working on a farm near Indian Head. He took passage for home on the ill-fated tourist car that was destroyed by fire two weeks ago at Bonheur station where fifteen passengers lost their lives.

The parents received an inquiry on Saturday night in reference to the body from the Canadian Pacific Co. A brother of the deceased at Winnipeg was communicated with and instructed to go to Fort William. He did so with the result that he identified the remains as those of his brother.

The body is being brought home for burial and is expected to arrive tomorrow night when it will be taken in charge by the Belleville Burial Company and conveyed to Phillipston where service will be held at Bethel church on Thursday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock.

The late Mr. Phillips was born near Phillipston 20 years ago. In addition to his grief-stricken parents he is also survived by two brothers and two sisters—Aubrey of Winnipeg, Wellington, with the Canadian army of occupation in Germany, Mrs. Simon Elliott, of Huntingdon and Miss Lena, trained nurse, at present residing at home.

GERMANY'S STAPLE IS ROAST GOOSE
Paris, Dec. 28.—Outward evidences of a revolution are few in Germany. The red, black and white tricolor, or the imperial standard is floating from almost every house in honor of the returning troops, but the red banner of the new republic is seldom seen. In Cassel I was informed that one reason was that the council had been obliged to tear the red strip from the old flags to make their official revolutionary banner.
