of Cole's at the Nakusp ranch, and the news of Cole's death was conveyed to Mr. Smith in a telegraphic message yesterday morning. The dead man was a brother of T. F. Cole, a Steel Trust magnate, and hailed from Negaunee, Mich. Mr. Smith left last night for Nakusp to take charge of the remains. He has been advised by the brother to ship the remains to Negaunee for interment, and will return here this evening for that purpose. Alexander Smith arrived Saturday and brought fresh details of the terrible tragedy on the beach of Arrow Lake near Nakusp, in which J. J. Cole, a well known Rosslander, was killed and Nels Demars fatally hurt. According to the press dispatches the murder was the result of a drunken quarrel betwen Henry Rose and Cole, but from the story of Mr. Smith it would seem that the murder was more of a pre-
