THE WAR

The news from the front continues to be of the most encouraging nature.
Foch launched his first big counter-stroke early in July, and the Allied offensive has grown in strength and power every day since. First here and then there, and always at a vital point, Foch has launched blow after blow, so that there has been almost continuous fighting along the greater part of the western front.

Instead of slackening, the Allied pressure against the retreating Germans is increasing all the time, and in spite of the use of every trick of which they are masters, and the employment of all available reserves, the enemy is being driven out of one stronghold after another. Several German generals were retired because of the failure of the offensive, and only the other week Von Boehm was called in as a specialist in retreat. As things are going, even this great specialist is not going to prove equal to his task. Royce, Chaunles, and now Noyon have fallen to the French, while the British forces have captured Bapaume and blasted away through the famous Hindenburg line. There has been nothing sensational in the allied advance. If it had been desired a faster pace could have been maintained, but the ground evacuated by the Germans is more dangerous to advancing troops than when it is held by the enemy.

His own account of his aerial tactics is as follows:

"Tactics I have none. I attack watching my adversary's manoeuvres.
In the last combats in which I have taken part I have succeeded in forcing my manoeuvring upon them.
In my flight in July 16, I attacked two German aircraft which were protected by a patrol of six others. I fixed my gaze on my two victims, but never did I lose sight of the patrol. When the patrol rushed at me I was able to break away by manoeuvring."

"You ask me at what distance I shoot. Generally from 150 metres according to my relative position. I believe it may be said. If I attack frontally I start to shoot at 150 metres, that being the most suitable allowing for the speed of the machine.
If I attack in the rear or laterally I get somewhat closer."

DOMINION THEATRE

Now like a frenzy in very truth is the daring aviator, who, far above the battle-scarred lands, darts hither and thither upon his mission. He is the eyes of the army. He is taking a place in this war that makes it different from any other war, if it were not already different from other or wars in history by reason of its enormous proportions and the fearful weapons of destruction employed.

In "The Fire of France," the new Paramount picture, starring Wallace Reid with Ann Little, which will be shown at the Dominion Theatre today, the work of an in-trrepid birdman forms the basis of a story that sets the blood tingling and makes one of the most interesting pictures that has been seen here in many weeks. Donald Crisp did the directing. The scenario is by Margaret Turnbull, and the story, originally published in The Saturday Evening Post, was written by Marion Polk Angellotti.

The comedy on the programme is Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

INDIGESTION AND CONSTIPATION

Quickly Relieved By
"Fruit-a-lives"

Rochester, P. Q.
"I suffered for many years with terrible indigestion and constipation.
A neighbor advised me to try "Fruit-a-lives". I did so and to the surprise of my doctor, I began to improve and he advised me to go on with "Fruit-a-lives".

I consider that I owe my life to "Fruit-a-lives" and I want to say to those who suffer from indigestion, constipation or headaches—try "Fruit-a-lives" and you will get well." by German soldiers. The pursuing allies troops have to follow on very slowly and cautiously, but they are moving on relentlessly, and already the Germans have lost over two-thirds of the ground they gained in their March offensive. Indeed on parts of the line the allies have occupied ground which has been in possession of the enemy since the very beginning of the war. On the situation as it stands it may fairly be said that the German defence is crumbling away before the allied pressure, and September may see allied successes which a few short weeks ago would have seemed impossible even to the most optimistic and which may bring the end of this terrible war appreciably nearer.

FONCK LEADS FRENCH FLYERS

Leading French Ace Has Brought Down Over Sixty Enemy Planes—Has Record for One Machine.

With the French Army in France, Aug. 29.—Lieut. Rene Fonck, the leading French ace, has brought down since January 1 fifty of the more than three hundred German aircraft he has destroyed during his career. Of the fifty enemy machines vanquished this year, thirty-two have fallen before him in the same campaign, which is a Spad, Spado bi-plane with two machine guns. This completes a record for one machine.

Between July 18 and July 22 he felled eleven enemy machines, nine of which already have been officially accounted for. On July 18, while stationed in the Somme region, he was ordered to report in the Champagne region. He left for Paris that day at 10 o'clock. He landed there and set back for the Somme front, arriving there just before 5 o'clock.
In the afternoon, by 5 o'clock he had become the conqueror of two more Boche machines. He left that evening for his new assignment.

The following day, in the Champagne he felled a German machine, and on the next day two. On July 19 he brought down three, on July 21 two, and on July 22, 1.

His Tactics.

His own account of his aerial tactics is as follows:

"Tactics I have none. I attack

one of the ways welcome two-reel Mack-Sennett Paramounts. Two Tough Tenderloin. With our old friends, Ben Turpin, Polly Moran and Charlie Lynn.

Polly Moran, after a season as a perfect lady in several Sennett Comedies, goes back to Sheriff Nell and the Wild and Woolly in "Two Tough Tenderloin." There is a lot of wonderful rough riding in this comedy, and Polly, on her broncho, performs some of the wildest of the stunts.
There is one scene in which Polly is the only passenger in a stage hold-up that would raise the hair on the heads of the famous old stage drivers of Carson City fame.

BIJOU THEATRE

Quaint Japanese Children Appear in
"The Bravest Way."

The Japanese kiddies who appear in "The Bravest Way" in support of Sessue Hayakawa are very good actors and all Canadian audiences will enjoy seeing them for their quaint ways and pretty faces. It is a picture of romance and youth, and is bound to appeal to Canadian audiences.
Sessue Hayakawa says that the children picked up the suggestions of Director George Melford and himself very quickly as to acting certain scenes and laughed or cried in accordance with the requirements of the situations.

"The Bravest Way" is to be shown at the Bijou Theatre Friday and Saturday.

British casualties reported in the week ending yesterday, totalled 14, 484, compared with an aggregate of 8,411 reported in the previous week.
