Laurier and Reciprocity.

The desire of the Laurier Government to truckle with the United States on the question of reciprocity has aroused the indignation of Hon. George W. Ross the former premier of Ontario, who, now that he has a "pensioners" seat in the home for incurable and broken down politicians, otherwise known as the Canadian Senate, is able to speak his mind freely, without thought of any constituency. Senator Boss frankly states, and without any hesitation that he can see nothing for Canada in a reciprocal trade arrangement between Canada and the United States, and in a letter to a Toronto newspaper he adds that he voices this opinion even supposing an arrangement could be effected which would be fair to both parties. Every Canadian will remember how Mr. Fielding went running to Albany last spring in order to escape the blow threatened by the Taft tariff club. Mr. Fielding and the other heaven borgenues who occupy the front treasury benches seemed to have had the idea that if the maximum tariff was imposed by the United States against Canada, that we would have been hurt more than Uncle Sam. They seemed to have forgotten that so far as trade is concerned Canada is willing and able to fend for herself, and that the imposition of the maximum tariff against this country would have raised such a storm of opposition in the United States against the Taft administration that would have been hard to stand up to. Senator Ross is quite well advised in his opinion that it is hard to get a square deal with our neighbors to the south in trade matters. He argues that even an exchange of natural products would be of no general advantage to Canada in the long run, apart from the incidental trade Canadian farmers living in the vicinity of large centres of population might pick up, for the reason that if Canadian produce was thrown in large volume on the United States market a reduction in prices would follow which would bring them to a level of those obtainable in Britain.

That Sir Wilfrid Laurier after his tour in the west has the reciprocity bee buzzing in his bonnet cannot be denied. What he will do and how he will do it cannot yet be foretold. His mind is above the ordinary, that is to say it soars in realms of phantasy far away from the level of ordinary common business sense.

The scandals of the Printing Bureau will have to be aired during the rapidly approaching session. If Hon. Charles Murphy cannot keep the lid screwed down tight on the unwholesome mess, which has persisted in bubbling forth to the extreme annoyance of the government, one naturally wonders what would have happened if the Government had accepted the resolution moved by Hon. C. J. Doherty last session and held an impartial enquiry into all the great spending departments? It will be remembered that Sir Wilfrid Laurier when he spoke refusing the request of Mr. Doherty that an investigation should be made, chided the opposition for always scenting scandal and he wound up with the saucy remark "To the pure all things are pure." Fancy that coming from the lips of the man who by his tacit consent has permitted the pilfering and plundering of the past fourteen years, who has winked at all sorts of iniquities done in the name of Laurierism. "To the pure all things are pure" That pious remark is calculated to make the very angels weep.

The government is fully aware that a royal commission is apt to find when it probes into departmental transactions. One little commission took up the dirty skirts of the Marine and Fisheries department and tried to brush them but the cloud of witness to incapacity and double dealing almost swamped the Liberal ship. Oh no it will be a long time before Sir Wilfrid Laurier again entrusts the reputation of his government to a little body of investigators. They are apt to find out too much. And it is doubtful if men who value their reputation would consent to act the part of scavengers in the governments August stables. If they do their duty as did the original civil service commission which touched the fringe of the Marine and Fisheries department and promptly put their hands to their nostrils, they are sure to be branded as meddlers and unprincipled trouble makers. And unless they do their duty the whole thing degenerates into a laughable farce. The Printing Bureau scandals must be looked into and it is hard to see how other departments can get off scot free. Just imagine the joyous time a Commission would have delving among the doings of the Militia and Defence Department for instance or poking into the interior Department of Mr. Frank Oliver.

King's County Exhibition.

The King's County Exhibition, and races held at Georgetown on Wednesday and Thursday last week, were eminently successful. It was a new departure for King's County to extend the exhibition, cattle show and trotting races over two days; but the fine attendance on the second day vindicated the wisdom of the board of management in making the venture. The weather on Wednesday, the first day, was somewhat disagreeable, and no doubt militated against a larger attendance. As it was, it is estimated that those present numbered about 800. The exhibits in the drill-shed were in place and were judged on Wednesday; but this inside exhibition was not open to the public until after the trot in the afternoon. The outside exhibition, horses, cattle, implements etc. was not in place until Thursday morning. The animals for prize competition were not brought in till the morning of this last day, when they were judged and awarded the prizes won.

Just about the time scheduled for the trotting to commence on Wednesday it began to rain which was not encouraging. The rain was not very heavy, however, and was in intermittent showers; so that a great deal of inconvenience was not suffered. The track, no doubt, was a little slow in consequence of the wet; but the races were well contested and much enjoyed. There were but two classes of races, and in each case three straight heats were sufficient to decide the winners. The races were as follows:

Thursday opened clear and cold, with a high wind blowing. It promised fine for the day, and so continued. From a very early hour exhibitors and other visitors to the exhibition arrived in town, and by ten o'clock there was a large concourse of people present. It is estimated that the attendance of the second day was twice as large as that of Wednesday, 2,400 being the estimate for the two days. There was a splendid show of live stock, which together with the exhibits in the building made the King's County exhibition of 1910 a splendid success.

The formal opening of the exhibition, by his Honor the Lieutenant Governor took place in the drill shed Thursday forenoon. His Honor congratulated the people of King's County on the excellence of the exhibition, which in some respects was superior to the Provincial exhibition and the Dominion Exhibition at St. John. He then declared the exhibition formally opened. Professor, Theodore Ross, represented the Commissioner of agriculture. Complimentary address were then delivered by John A. Mathieson, M.P.P., Leader of the Opposition, Hon. L. McDonald and A.L. Fraser M.P. His Honor then presented the medals for the best kept farm, in east and west King's respectively. The medal for east King's was won by Mr James Aeneas McDonald, Little Pond, and for the west King's by Mr. John A. Annear, Lower Montague. This ended the formal proceedings.

It would be impossible in our limited space to make any lengthened remarks about the different exhibits. Within the drill shed, the different departments were well filled and the exhibits were presented with very good taste. The fruit show was very fine, the best at any Island exhibition this year. The house-keeping department was abundantly supplied and was most attractive. It would be difficult, indeed, to see a finer exhibit of bread, cake and other articles of table use. The display was not only large; but was beautiful in the extreme and the judges must have been puzzled in making their awards, where all were of such a high degree of excellence. May other departments of the inside exhibition deserve the highest praise. The horse show was very good, a number of splendid animals being presented. Cattle, sheep pigs, etc. were all well up in their respective classes. The winners names will be found below, in the

Where Your Clothes Money Buys Most--and Why
When you buy a suit or overcoat, what are the things you insist on? Good materials, fine workmanship, fashionable cut, stylish appearance. And practically every clothing dealer advertises these things as attributes to his garments.
There is a wonderful sameness about clothing advertising in this respect. And when all are claiming the same thing, on what grounds can you base a choice?
There is one brand of clothes--and only one--which offers you more, that is PATON'S.
