between 40,000 and 50,000 words, the product of Mr. W. C. Coo's stenographic services on that occasion. When the committee settled down for business, the following gentlemen were in their accustomed places: Trustee Stephenson (chairman), Luscombe, Allaster, Rowlands, Johnston, Yates, Principal Woods and Inspector Boyle.

Some discussion ensued as to whether the committee were required by resolution of the Council to take evidence on the affair and submit it to the Board, or to take action on that evidence and report their findings on the same to the Board.

It was stated that the Board in its resolution merely referred it to the committee, lution merely referred it to the committee, and although ordering the latter to take the evidence, did not explicitly lay down what action the committee were to take in dealing with the charges after the evidence had been heard.

Trustee Johnston thought the committee could exercise its own discretion about that matter.

could exercise its own discretion about that matter.

Trustee Allaster considered that it was right for the committee to take action on the evidence which had been received.

Trustee Luscombs—I move that the committee having heard the evidence report the same to the Board. The question is whether we have power to make any finding on the charges, or whether we should investigate the charges and report back.

Trustee Rowlands—My impression was, that we had to take the evidence and report it book to the Board. Now, the question is whether anything further would be in our province on going further would be in our province on going further would be in our province to the Board and some of the members and fault with it, they will want to go all over it again.

Trustee Stephenson said that in his Trustee Stephenson said that in his appaient they ought to go over the charges and make their fludings on each of them.

Trustee Allaster thought it would be well to leave a copy of the evidence contained in the books in the secretary's office for the members to peruse and form their conclusions, and to vote as they saw fit when the matter came before the Board.

Trustee Lyansoombe said that would have to be done anyway.

Trustee Johnston—I think we had better refer the whole matter to the Board and make our recommendation, and they can take it for what it's worth.

Trustee Yates—As far as I am concerned, I do not think that properly we are the ones to make the recommendation.

Some more discussion took place, as to how the books were to be distributed in order to give each member of the Board a chance to look at the contents.

Trustee Rowlands said the question arose in his mind, if it were proper to let the Trustees Stevenson and Yates agreed with Mr. Rowlands.

Trustees Stevenson and Yates agreed with Mr. Rowlands.

Trustee Johnston—Well, if we had not excluded the reporters at the last meeting, the evidence would have been before the members and the public as well.

Principal Woods asked if the committee could give him any idea when the next meeting of the Council would be held, as he wished to fill an engagement that would keep him out of the city until Saturday.

Trustee Stephensom said he did not think a meeting could be held this week, as all the members would not have read the volumes through by that time. He would keep one of them as Chairman, and the other three would have to be passed around when each had finished it.

Trustee Rowlands asked the members if they desired to read the books after hav-

Trustee Stephenson—Certainly.
Trustee Luseombe moved that the evidence taken in the matter of the charges

The matter of distributing the books was The matter of distributing the books was again talked over and it was decided that it would be slow work with only three books among eighteen members.

Principal Woods thought that it would take a much longer time than expected, unless each member sat down and made a whole meal out of the book.

Trustee Johnson remarked there was all day Sunday to ponder over it.

Trustee Rowlands said he didn't care for that kind of reading on Sunday.

Trustee Kowlands said he did to case to that kind of reading on Sanday.

Trustee Yates moved that four more copies bound in paper be supplied at a cost of $20, the price mentioned by Mr. Coo.
