A peculiar accident happened in Belmont on Wednesday afternoon. Miss Ida Waun, her sister and Mrs. John Blanchard were driving down the hill when the horse stumbled and fell, breaking the shafts of the buggy. The buggy ran over the horse, whose legs became entangled between the spokes, bringing the buggy to a sudden stop. The ladies were hurled over the dash-board, and received a general shaking up, although none of them were seriously injured. FREE STREET CAR TICKETS.

A perfectly reliable person was today handed street car tickets for the Western Fair at the G. T. R. Railway station, and he saw free tickets handed to others. The Advertiser informant did not use the tickets, but is keeping them as curiosities.

THE DOHERTY ORGAN.

Turning to the right upon entering LEAVE ST. THOMAS the west entrance of the main building, the first display that attracts the visitor's attention is a superb collection hard at work, with good prospects.
—Summonses were issued this morning charging a number of union 'bus to perfection the beautiful designs and exquisite finish of the instruments. BLUE RIBBON TEA. Just inside the west entrance of the main building is one of the really unique exhibits of the Fair. A quaint Oriental-looking booth constructed entirely of packages of the famous Blue Ribbon Tea, confronts the visitor, and the grateful fragrance of daintily served cups of steaming tea makes glad the hearts of weary sight-seers. Prettilyclad young women hand out cups of the cheering beverage to all comers. This is done to demonstrate to the minority what the majority already know, viz., that Blue Ribbon Tea is unsurpassed. One of the largest and most attractive displays in the main building is the piano exhibit of Heintzman & Co. People who have been coming annually to the Western Fair have learned to look for Heintzman & Co.'s exhibit as one of the best attractions. The exhibit this year is located in its accustomed place on the left of the main building, near the eastern extremity. The arrangement is, if possible, more artistic than usual. And though it seemed that the old firm of Heintzman & Co. had brought the manufacture of pianos to perfection last year, this year's display shows still greater improvements. That is the secret of the success of Heintzman & Co. The firm has kept
