Well, the lattle is over," said Mr. F. S.
see yesterday, 'and we have to take the h with the smooth. I do not know anygrations corrupt practices on the other.
Of course that petition calling for repeal was all wrong. Many of the names were begus and men who could not write at all had shing on the roll. However bis is only the 22nd defeat we have sustained as 15 contests, and the first defeat on a fight gainst repeal we have sustained.

"Do I think our workers worked hard cough?

MISS ROSINA VOK

Why is the Scott Act repealed for the first me in its history? It may be due in slight easure to a few of the Laberale conceiving party by this infamiost as much as the Liberal to remain silent. Nay, when the opportunity was afforded them to aid is the return of a Government whose first act would have been to give them a fair votors list to work upon they to mut it in a rather indirect manner—unlited to improve the occasion. Now they are punished. It may be that they are getting only the beginning of punishment. It is known for delain that in several strong Scott Act counties the hominton Franchise Act has wiped out a number of Liberal vales far greater than the fluct that majorities.

From The Engire.

The opponents of the act have not made much noise, but they appear to have put in a good dead of solid work. Not more tian one or two public meetings have been held by them, while the friends of the act rallied in great strength at numerous meetings and the apcible, and determined to sacrifice it.

From The Mail.

The repeal of the act in Halton is the first really serious blow the cause has received. The moral to be drawn from the defeat is the old one—that a movement of this kind requires constant, vigorous and united effort on the nart of those suggest in its eropsyntion. The Scott Act is an imperfect measure, but with all its defects it is an its trausmit for good; and we are sufe temperance man will only be roused to fresh hope and determination by this disaster.

From The Telephane.

The coldness of Temperance Grits to punish Torice for preferring an anti-Scott Act Conservative to a Scott Act Liberal, may partially account for the result. These local causes Conservative to a Scott Act Liberal, may partially account for the result. These local causes cannot make the offect other than temporarily diseastons to the prohibition cause. The result in Halton will be generally accepted as an antirmarive answer to the question. Is the Scott Act a failure? Its repeal there probably means its repeal in Simcoe, Jufferin and other counties where contests are imminost. The Scott Act at best was an apology for prohibition. It failed as all laws that arrest the traffic in har-rooms instead of in the brewery and distiliery must fall.

From The Hamilton Times.

The vote of yesterday was somewhat of a surprise from the fact that the Scott Act advocates have been working hard during the last favy weeks, while the advocates of the Beense watem have kent very quiet. We have little parsonal knowledge of the effects of the Scott personal knowledge of the effects of the Scott Act in Harton, but if it was not more effective a prohibitory measure in Halton than it was a prohibitory measure in Halton than it was in Simone and Kent last summer, the people of faiton have done well to get rid of it. There same possibility that the lawyers may make harvest by harding an appeal on the ground of a commant, in the pedition for repeal. The tovernment has received regular petitions for repeal from Simone, Bruce, Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, and defective petitions are also in hand from Huron and Dunferin. The example of Halton will probably affect the voice in the other counties.

From The Hamilton Speciator.

There is no use attempting to disguise the fact: the crushing defeat which the Scott Act received yesterday in Halton is the first evifact: the crushing defeat which the Scott Act received yesterday in Halton is the first evidence of a powerful reaction against the act. It was killed is the bouse of its friends. Halton was the first Ontario county in which the Scott Act becarie law. It is a small county-one to which the sufforcement of the act was comparatively oney, and in which its effects counted ensity be seen. It has, therefore, been considered the banner Scott Act county, and tempérance orators in overy part of the country have for the past six or seven years drawn illustrations from Halton to emphisize their statements as to the ficultive working of the act.

Scott Act defeated itself. The truth is that the people of Halton have become tired of it, and he defeat which it received yesterday would have been a much greater one if it were not that many good neople, who know that it has been a failing, had not the courage to work and vote against it, fearing the social results that wall have been a received yesterday would the work of the result in Halton is sure to have a powerful offect on the voting the social results that wall have been are policy in the acture. The result in Halton is sure to have a powerful offect on the voting in other counties where appeals are ponding. It will dampen the arder of the friends of the act, and spur on its upponents to redouble their efforts.

Last December the employes of Ruse's Temple of Music surprised Mr. Joseph Ruse, their old employer, with an address expressiv of their esteem and attachment. They then stated that this address had yet to be illumin atated that this address had yet to be illuminated and properly framed before it became his properly finally. On Saturday evening last the same employes gathered at Mr. Ruse's residence with the address completed as they desired. The labor, skill and art expended apion is are simply marvellous. The sheet exclusive of the frame is about 22x30 inchés. On this left hand corner at top is the family creat in the proper metals and colors. The text is in old English, with illuminated capitals. Benettly are the signatures in their own hand of each employe. The artist to whom belongs the design and execution of this masterpiece of art is R. Holmes of this city.
