

Manpower and Immigration Council and the National Research Council report separately to parliament. The Adjustment Assistance Board reports through the minister's annual report, as does the National Design Council created by a former government. Most of these bodies have reported separately to us. I note that the Area Development Agency reports separately through the minister's report.

Under the Minister of Labour, the Canada Labour Relations Board reports to us from time to time and also reports through the minister's annual report. Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation reports separately as does the Unemployment Insurance Commission. The Merchant Seamen Compensation Board reports to the minister for inclusion in his annual report. Their report for 1966 is to be found at page 54 of the departmental publication.

Under the Minister of Manpower and Immigration (Mr. Marchand) we find the National Advisory Council on the Rehabilitation of Disabled Persons and the National Technical and Vocational Training Advisory Council issuing separate reports to us. So there is precedent within the minister's own bailiwick for the course I am suggesting.

Let us turn to the Minister of National Defence (Mr. Cadieux). Defence Construction (1951) Limited reports separately to us. Then there is the Defence Research Board. Though my research took more than a week I failed to find out how the Defence Research Board reports or to whom it reports.

The next department on my list is the Department of National Health and Welfare. I could not find out how the Advisory Council of Consumers reports. The Canadian Council on Nutrition reports through the minister's report as does the Dominion Council of Health. The National Advisory Council on Fitness and Amateur Sport issues its own separate report and also is in the minister's report. I do not know how the National Council on Welfare reports. This minister has lately taken on responsibility for the Atlantic Development Board which reports separately to us.

Turning to the Minister of National Revenue (Mr. Benson), we come to the Tax Appeal Board whose decisions are, of course, published from time to time. Under the President of the Treasury Board we find, of course, the Treasury Board whose warrants are issued and reported from time to time. The Minister of Public Works (Mr. McIlraith) is responsible for the National Capital Commission which makes a separate report.

[Mr. McCleave.]

Under the Registrar General (Mr. Turner) we find the Director of Combines Investigation and Research, the Patent and Copyright Office, the Restrictive Trade Practices Commission and the Trade Marks Office, all of which make separate reports.

All the diamonds in the widespread crown of the Secretary of State (Miss LaMarsh), with one exception, report separately. Listed here are the Board of Broadcast Governors, Canada Council, Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, Centennial Commission, Public Service Commission, National Film Board, National Gallery, National Library, National Museum of Canada, Office of the Chief Electoral Officer, Public Printing and Stationery Department Publications Branch (Queen's Publisher) and the National Arts Centre Corporation. The Office of the Representation Commissioner reports to the minister and Public Archives sends a report separately though there is no statutory obligation to do so.

Responsible to the Solicitor General (Mr. Pennell), the Canadian Penitentiary Service, the National Parole Board and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police all issue separate reports.

Under the Minister of Trade and Commerce (Mr. Winters) we find the Canadian Corporation for the 1967 World Exhibition, the Corporation and Labour Unions Returns Act Administration, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and the Exports Credits Insurance Corporation, all reporting separately to us.

Beneath the wing of the Minister of Veterans Affairs (Mr. Teillet) we find the Army Benevolent Fund Board reporting separately, and the Canada Pension Commission and the War Veterans Allowance Board which issue reports to the minister for incorporation in his annual report. I do not know how the Commonwealth War Graves Commission reports.

● (5:50 p.m.)

Finally we come to the Minister of Transport (Mr. Hellyer), that figure of unified fun. Air Canada reports separately, as does the Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada, the Canadian Maritime Commission, Canadian National Railways, Canadian Overseas Telecommunication Corporation, the National Harbours Board and the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority. All these issue separate reports. The only one in the minister's empire that does otherwise is the Air Transport Board. That could be in the minister's
