under the Statute. When he received the Governor's Warrant, assuming he had jurisdiction to set him free, he should have taken no fresh complaint. He should have embodied nothing in the form of a complaint or charge against the prisoners but what was contained in the Warrant of the Governor; and as this was his sole authority to act, he should have confined himself strictly within its requirements, which was simply in the first instance to aid in apprehending the persons accused which he should have done by issuing his Warrant reciting the Governor's Warrant, the charge therein contained against the prisoners, the requirement imposed on him thereby, and commanding the apprehension of the persons named therein, and should not have received a new complaint or introduced new charges or new matter against the accused. The correctness of this view will, I think, be confirmed by reference to the Imperial Act 8 and 9 Victoria, Chap. 120, passed 8th August, 1845, and the forms there given.

Having so examined Isaac Willits, the final commitment recites that upon the evidence of the said Isaac Willets and in pursuance of the Act of Assembly, he issued his Warrant directing the apprehension of the parties to answer, not the charges in the Governor's Warrant, but the complaint of Isaac Willets made on oath for having &c., in the words which I before mentioned, to be dealt with according to law, the said complaint having been made and taken, and this Warrant having been issued in pursuance of a Warrant under the hand and seal of the Governor &c., in which, however, I am constrained to differ from the learned Police Magistrate, the Warrant of the Governor not authorizing the taking of such complaint nor the arresting the parties to be dealt with according to law, but in the words of the Statute to be delivered up to justice according, &c., and had an application been made to discharge the prisoners while detained under this Warrant I do not see how it could have been successfully resisted, Bassett's case 6, Q. B. 485 being a direct authority against it in one point. That was the first decision under the French convention, Act 6 and 7 Vic., Chap. 75, which is in the same words as the American Treaty Act we are now considering. The Warrant of the Lord Mayor there set out, that the Constable do should convey and deliver into custody the body of J. B. being charged before him &c., for that the said J. B. is accused of having committed in France the crime of Fraudulent Bankruptcy, appears by the Warrant of Arrest issued by a competent Judge in France, and duly authenticated before me, and as also appears by the warrant of one of His Majesty's principal Secretaries of State requiring me to take cognizance of such charge &c., I then avowed to the officer and the warrant committed the service until he should be discharged from court of law, which is the strict rule of committing under the words, to be dealt with according to law. But the Court held the Warrant had upon the ground that as the commitment was under special Statutory authority, the terms of the commitment must be special and exactly pursue that authority, acting on and recognizing the authority; or Mack's case, 2 Wm. Bl. 806, where it is laid down that the true distinction is that when a man is committed for any crime, either at Common Law or created by Act of Parliament, for which he is punishable by indictment, then he is to be committed until discharged by due course of law, but when it is in pursuance of a special authority the terms of commitment must be special and exactly pursue that authority.

The commitment then proceeds to aver that the prisoners having been brought before the Justice under the Warrant, and he having proceeded to the investigation of the charge of Piracy charged against them, and upon examination of the witnesses under oath touching the offence of Piracy, and upon the evidence before him, so under oath, he did, under the Act of Parliament, require and command the said Constable to convey the prisoners to the Common Jail, and deliver each of them to the Keeper thereof upon the charge of Piracy, for that they having on the 7th day of December, &c., and then proceeds to recapitulate the particulars of the charge in the complaint made before him by Isaac Willets, omitting the felonious &c., murder and shooting, there to remain till delivered pursuant to the Requisition aforesaid. On referring to the examinations themselves, we find the charge on which the examination proceeded was of an offence which it alleges was done on the High Seas, about 20 miles N. E. East of Cape Cod, in the United States of America, and within the jurisdiction of the United States of America, and the Circuit Courts thereof, against the laws of the United States of America and the statutes of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland. So we see that at every stage of these proceedings the charge assumes a different phase.

In the first instance the Consul simply presents the complaint, as that certain persons believed to be guilty of the crime of Piracy. The Governor's Warrant puts it as a charge of Piracy and Murder on the High Seas, within the jurisdiction of the United States of America, on the complaint of Willett and Henderson. The complaint before the Police Magistrate is the complaint of Willett alone, and alleges the crimes of Piracy and Murder in the United States of America, and, further, felonious shooting and wounding of engineer and mate, and felonious shooting of the crew. And on the examination before Mr. Willits there is the addition of the charge, that within the jurisdiction of the Circuit Courts of the United States, and as being contrary to the laws of the United States, and the Statutes of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, which would cover the committing to prison, or on legal remands, or otherwise for, there is, to my mind, a still more substantial
