Steamer Carries Away Lower Gates and Rush of Water Collides Assiniboia With Crescent City.

SUPERIOR WATER NOW RUSHING THRU CANAL

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont.; June 9 .-(Special.)-This afternoon the Canadian Soo locks were practically put out of commission by one of the worst accidents that ever happened in marine circles in the Soo or vicinity.

At the present time, water from Lake Superior is pouring thru locks in a torrent and it will probably be a month beforg the locks are again available for the marine trade. The overflow of water threatens to wash out the piers at the foot of the locks. Three boats, the Assinibola of the the Gilchrist fleet, and the Crescent City, all ligured in the accident. At two this afternoon the Assimibola was in the locks, bound down, followwas in the locks, bound down, followed by the Crescent City, which had not yet entered the upper gate. The Walker was coming up the river, presumably to lock thru on an up trip. Just as the Crescent was entering the canal, and before the gates could be closed at the upper end, the Walker crashed into the lower gates, breaking them and allowing the Assinibois and Crescent to rush down with the overflow of water.

The Assiniboia missed the Walker, barely grazing her side, but the Cres-cent dashed into her and received a hole in her side six feet square. The but since it has not yet been iried there is some doubt as to its effectiveness. The four large gates have been swept away, and there remain only the frail emergency gates, which are not of much use, providing the

LONDON, June 9 .- (C.A.P. Cable). The imperial press congress resumed its discussion on imperial defence this morning. Hon. A. J. Balfour presided, and Lord Roberts and Hon, R. Hal-and Lord Roberts and Hon. R. Haldane were present.

A grave note was again emphasized in the speeches of the home statesmen. Mr. Balfour declared all local defence, tho it was necessary, was subordinate to imperial defence and subordinate from the viewpoint of the particular localities themselves, not from the viewpoint of the empire only. Dealing first with the military aspect of the question he laid down two propositions; first, all forces of the oversea states should be under the control of those states; second, they propositions; first, all forces of the oversea states should be under the control of those states; second, they should be organized on a common basis. Respecting the navy he would not regard as useless any local attempt at naval defence, but anything in the nature of coastal protection should be rigidly subordinate to fleet action. The fate of the empire would be dependent upon fleet superiority, and that superiority must be shown in home waters.

If there were to be an Armageddon, it would take place in the German Ocean, the English Channel, or perhaps the Mediterranean. Mr. Balfour sure at the full recognition of the home statesmen that the overseas states combated the own affairs. Brierly idea that Canada had idea that Canada had been lacking on the matter of imperial defence. Mr. Haldane addressed himself par-ticularly to the necessity for homoeneity in the military forces of the mpire with due regard to local needs and local control, and said the next twenty years would be critical years in the history of the empire. Lord Roberts thought the next 20 nonths, not years, would be an important time for the empire, and the sit-uation demanded the closest attention of all patriotic men.
