TORTURED BY RHEUMATISM

Sunday School Supt. Tells How "Fruit-a-lives" Relieved

"Toronto, Ont., Oct. 1st, 1915. "I have lived in this city for more than 18 years and am well known. I suffered from rheumatism, especially in my hands. I spent a lot of money without any good results. I have taken "Fruit-a-lives" for 18 months now and am pleased to tell you that I am well and the sores are not left, my hands are strong, and perhaps never will, but the sores are not left and I can do any work I wish. I have gained 35 pounds in eighteen months.

sumner he receives as recruiting officer will go to the patriotic fund. Soldiers' Return.

Besides Private Gorman, two other soldiers returned to their homes in St. John yesterday. Lieut. Frank M. Smith, Rhodes scholar from Mount Allison, and Corp. Joseph Dryden who was with the signalers in France. Both had been wounded in action overseas.

Smith was serving with the King Edward Horse and was hit by a bullet from a German sniper's rifle. He was in hospital for a time, and is now home on leave until January. His friends are giving him a hearty welcome.

One of the largest crowds which have yet assembled on such an occasion in St. John was that which greeted Corp. Dryden last night on his return to his native city. He arrived on the 9:30 train, and the depot was thronged with friends anxious to shake his hand. He appears in excellent health, though scarred somewhat by wounds received at LaBasse. He was given a seat in a flag-bedded automobile and driven to his home in Chesley street, with a lengthy procession following, accompanied by the City Cornet Band.

Arriving at his home a reception was held for him, and Mayor Frink and others gave addresses. Corp. Dryden, in response to several requests, expressed his pleasure in being home again, and hearty cheers were given in his honor.

Word was received in Yarmouth, Friday last of the death of William Foster. He was engaged on one of the transport steamers running from England to the Continent. He died last January, but his people never heard any particulars about his death. He was cook on a steamer which sailed from the Tyne for St. Nazaire with army supplies and was never heard from. It was thought that the ship struck a mine.

George Svetka received an interesting letter from his son William, who is a member of the 26th Battalion. He enclosed a piece of shrapnel from a shell which exploded within a few feet of where he was standing. He told of the bravery of the boys of the 26th who, although wounded, refused assistance because they thought some of their comrades needed it more. One or two of the 26th, he said, had been recommended for the D.C.M. for bravery.

The Brookville Court. Walter Pedersen was fined $5 by Magistrate Adams yesterday for not having a light on his automobile.

George Garnett and Frank Stewart were acquitted on a charge of killing a cow moose.

Nat Hanson of Johnstown, Pa., was innocently carrying a paper bag of tobacco containing six pounds of large teeth. The bag burst and for about a mile Hanson left a trail of tobacco. As a result more than forty automobiles pulled into garages along the route with flat tires.

ENLISTS AT 73

Here is An Example For Young Men of New Brunswick

(Moncton Transcript). To enlist at the age of seventy-three for overseas duty with the 25th New Brunswick Battalion, to pass all the intermediary examinations and then to be recognized and turned back at Valcartier Camp, was the experience of Sergeant R. W. Gregory, of Fredericton, who passed through the city last evening on route to Sussex, having been transferred from the 82th to the 104th Battalion, for further service in Canada.

Sergeant Gregory has served fifty-two years in the British army, and at the age of seventy-three has repeatedly tried to go overseas with the Canadian Expeditionary Force. This time he succeeded in joining the 82th Battalion and got as far as Valcartier. What an example for the young men of New Brunswick and of Canada!

The veteran was naturally disappointed by his failure to "get past" the age limit rules at Valcartier, but is nevertheless happy that he is to continue to "do his bit" with the 104th while they remain in this country. He has two sons, three grand-sons and two nephews at the front.

Sergeant Gregory was born in the old country and first joined the Hants Volunteers in 1862. In 1864 he transferred to the Cheshire Regiment (British regulars) and with this corps he came out to Canada in 1865, at the time of the Fenian Raid, remaining in St. John and Fredericton for some months, later returning to England. He served in the Cheshire Regiment until 1878 when he joined the 60th Rifles with which corps he remained until 1886, at which time he was transferred to the civil branch of the service where he remained until '91. In that year he came out to Canada and joined the R. C. R. at Fredericton, where he has resided ever since. He was a shoemaker by trade and it was in this capacity that he joined the R.

C. R. with which he was connected or practically so until the outbreak of the present war.

When he signed on with the 50th Sergeant Gregory thought that he was at last sure of getting into the trenches, but an unkind fate intervened with the result noted above.

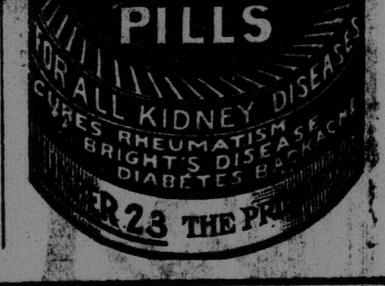

The veteran is erect and vigorous, and his eyes flash with the enthusiasm of youth when he speaks of England's situation and prospects.

"WURTEMBERG" GIVES WAY TO "CAVEL" AVENUE IN PREMIER'S ADDRESS

Ottawa, Nov. 2.—The name of the avenue in which Sir Robert Borden lives may be changed from Wurtemberg to Cavell in honor of the unnumbered British nurse. For some time there has been an Ottawa agitation to remove the German name of the street upon which the prime minister lives. It is now before the board of control in definite form, and it is proposed to substitute the name of Miss Cavell. The residents of the street have been asked to present a petition.

An Imperial pass for a year is one of the prizes in the patriotic drawing.
