WARM WELCOME IS PROMISED COBHAM

British Flier, on Return From Australia to Alight in Thames

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Alan J. Cobham, British aviator, who was last reported in British India on the return lap of his round trip flight from England to Australia, will alight on the Thames river, near Parliament Buildings—the heart of the British Empire—when he arrives here, under present arrangements.
Plans to have him alight on Scrymgeour Lake, in Hyde Park, have been abandoned because of the possible difficulty of handling the huge crowds which will greet him. Many fete have been planned for the returning aviator.

TALKATIVE WOMAN: It's a shame the way we women slave for the men. Home wouldn't be home without us. Can anyone think of any home without a woman?
Man (in rear): Yes ma'am, the Old Soldier's home.

IS GAINSBOROUGH

After Passing Through Many Hands is Valued at $50,000

LONDON, Sept. 25.—How a forgotten painting that was sold for a dollar or two was later revealed to be a Gainsborough masterpiece, and is now valued at $50,000 has been revealed at Old Dalby, a picturesque Leicestershire village near Melton Mowbray.
The romance started at Old Dalby Hall, a quaint old mansion once the residence of Admiral Sir Herbert Sawyer. Workmen were removing furniture, books and pictures in the 'nineties when they came across a tattered and grimy portrait of a woman, which has for years occupied a position in the front hall. When the picture was offered by auction, there was little or no enthusiasm. It was sold to a local dealer for a "song."

It next came into the possession of Henry Graves, a well-known dealer who paid $300 for it. The new owner had his "find" carefully cleaned and restored, and it was then discovered to be a genuine Gainsborough, and the portrait was of Miss Duncumb, a reigning beauty of the 17th century.
The next purchaser was the Earl of Chesterfield, who paid Mr. Graves $5,000, but died before the picture was delivered. Eventually it reached the hands of Baron Lionel Rothschild, who secured it for $8,000. It has since been valued at $50,000.

Documents in Old Tower in England Being Dried and Catalogued

LONDON, Sept. 25.—The romance of some damp old documents dating from 1458 found in a tower at Wells, Somerset, is told by Richard Holworthy in a booklet issued by the Diocesan Registry.
Mr. Holworthy wanted some information about a man who went to America in 1644, and returned to the diocesan registry at Wells for information. He was taken to a large room in the tower adjoining, where we found shelf upon shelf of old volumes, and three bastions crammed full of loose documents.
Of these volumes 722 have been dried and catalogued in groups—acts, books, deposition books, various lists of clergy, and license books.
They throw an interesting light on the social history of the 16th and 17th centuries. For instance the adventures of Mary Fortune, a ship built at Bristol, and minutely described in a record made in 1680. Cases of witchcraft, breach of promise, matrimonial offences, the household expenses of a Bishop of Winchester, and thousands of certificates of penance have been found.
