Thomas Mulvey Encountered
Some Extraordinary
Claims Overseas, But Only One Case of Forgery—Some $6,000,000 From London Public Trustee.

(Canadian Press)
Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 17.—Bringing back with him approximately $1,500,000 of securities formerly in the ownership of enemy nationals, Thomas Mulvey, K.
C., under-secretary state for Canada and deputy custodian of enemy property, has returned to Ottawa after spending the last few months overseas in connection with the business of the clearing house and the settlement of enemy debts. Some extraordinary claims were encountered but so far only one actual case of forgery in connection with a claim has been met with. Many claims, however, are still under investigation.
One of the important results of Mr.
Mulvey's trip, which took him to England, Holland and Germany, was the reaching of a settlement with the public trustee in London as a result of which some $6,000,000 in securities will be turned over to Canada. Of this amount some $700,000 has been delivered. Another result was the settling of a means to direct correspondence between Canada and Austria and Hungary in clearing house matters. Here-before there was no direct communication with these countries in which, as well as in Germany, there were held many large amounts of Canadian property and shares in Canadian industries such as the C. P. R.
German government officials and others while overseas were all pleading "poverty and persecution by the Allies," and there was an apparent design to delay as far as possible payment of allied claims made against the German government and its nationals.
The visit, however, had resulted in straightening out many misunderstandings and bringing a settlement of claims against enemy countries much nearer than it had previously been.

$300,000,000 FRANCS TO CROWN FERDINAND

Minority Rumanian Parties are Protesting Against the Huge Expenditures on the Event.

Bucharest, Oct. 17.—The much-postponed coronation of King Ferdinand and Queen Marie, held on Sunday, provided the most elaborate festival in the history of Rumania, with an estimated total public and private expenditure of $300,000,000 francs.
The programme began with the arrival of the royal family at Alba-Iulia, in the heart of Transylvania, where the actual coronation took place. Alba-Iulia is an ancient national shrine in that section of Hungary given to Rumania by the peace settlement and is the birthplace of the hero Michael the Brave, who is called the father of his country by all Rumanians.
It is a town of only 6,000 inhabitants, but was the object of a pilgrimage by fully 200,000 loyal subjects, mostly Transylvanians dressed in what Ruskin termed the most picturesque costumes in Europe—the men in embroided pantheons and petticoats and the women in enormous hoop skirts decorated with gold coins and jewels.
On their arrival the sovereigns were received by the premier and other members of the government and driven in gayly decorated carriages, with a military escort, to the cathedral, where high church dignitaries celebrated a solemn mass and the coronation took place in the presence of delegations from other countries.
After the cathedral ceremony the heralds-at-arms read the king's proclamation and a state luncheon was held. This was followed by a military review, the day ending with the departure of the party for Bucharest.
The programme on Monday provided for a great pageant at two o'clock.
In the afternoon, illustrating the various phases in the country's history, and in the evening a state dinner and reception to the foreign missions and the Diplomatic Corps.
At ten o'clock this morning 10,000 mayors, from every province in the kingdom, saluted the sovereigns at a banquet in Carol Park. Nearly two miles of tables were erected for this affair, which cost in the neighborhood of 40,000,000 francs. Each mayor received from the sovereigns the entire expenses of his trip to the coronation.
The king and queen will receive the members of parliament at five o'clock this afternoon, and the festivities will end with a gala performance in the National Theatre in the evening.
As a measure of protection for the royal family, the government has prohibited all foreigners from entering the country except on special visas.

The large amount appropriated by the government for the event has aroused considerable opposition from the minority parties, which declare that the expenditures are not justified, in view of the country's straitened financial condition.

WILL WAIT UNTIL NEXT YEAR'S SHOW

No Exhibit from Saskatchewan for International Live Stock Show in Chicago.

Regina, Sask., Oct. 17.—No official exhibit of live stock will be sent to the International Show at Chicago this year by the Saskatchewan government, according to a decision of the Provincial Live Stock Board. An exhibit will, however, be sent in 1923.
"It is considered that after the success of the exhibits which were sent during the past two years," states P.
H. Auld, deputy minister of agriculture and president of the board, "and in view of the need for economy, exhibitors could very well take a holiday and make arrangements for a good display next year. It is also understood that the management of the Canadian Royal at Toronto is offering assistance to live stock exhibitors in showing their stock at Toronto, the week before the Chicago show. It is probable, therefore, that individual exhibitors and clubs may take advantage of this offer." Hon. C. M. Hamilton, minister of agriculture, announces that the Saskatchewan government will pay an honourarium of $800 for a grand championship, $100 for reserve championship or Canadian championship, and $50 for a first prize with livestock which may be exhibited from Saskatchewan at the Toronto show. The above offer is also open to any Saskatchewan exhibitors showing livestock at Chicago, but not more than one honourarium will be paid the owner of an animal which wins at both Toronto and Chicago.

ROYAL YEAST CAKES

As a health builder, Royal Yeast is gaining in popularity every day. It is a food—not a medicine. It supplies the vitamins which the diet may lack. Royal Yeast is highly beneficial in cases where the system seems "run down." Royal Yeast is the richest known source of vitamins, and when taken into the system acts as a corrective agent. Royal Yeast Cakes are recommended for their purity and wholesomeness. It is the purest, the most convenient and economical yeast on the market.

Two to four Royal Yeast Cakes a day will work wonders. A full day's supply can easily be prepared at one time by using one glass lukewarm water and teaspoon sugar to each yeast cake. Allow to stand overnight in moderately warm room. The morning stir well and pour off liquid. Place in refrigerator or other cool place and drink at intervals as desired throughout the day.

GIANT TAPIR BABY DIES.
New York Losses Only One of Species in Captivity.

New York, Oct. 17.—The eight-month-old giant tapir, the only one of the species which has ever been in captivity, died last week at the Bronx Zoo, less than a week after its arrival in this country.

The baby tapir, which was captured in a Panama jungle, after its relatives had been driven away by Indian hunters and hounds, arrived in a weak condition because of a hard voyage from Panama on the steamer Gorgas. It had been carefully fed and cared for at the Bronx Zoo, where it was kept under glass in the warm reptile house, but was too weak to recover.

This was one of the last of the almost extinct species known as Baird's giant tapir, which is found only in mountain jungles in Panama and Guatemala. They are three times as large as the ordinary tapir, which is the largest animal found in South America.

The Bronx Zoo has been striving for ten years to obtain a specimen of the giant tapir and great disappointment was felt over the death of the first one to be captured.

CANADIAN STORIES FOR BLIND READERS

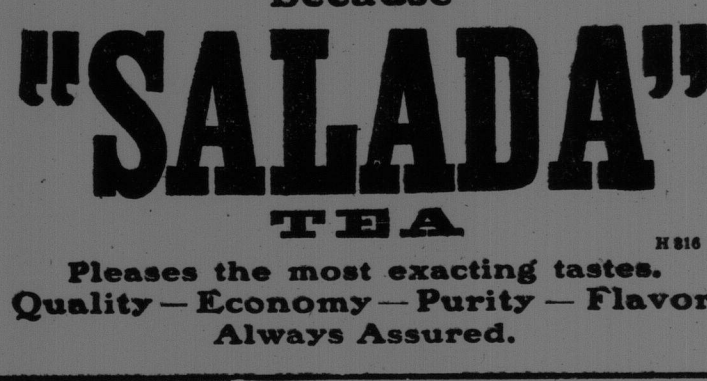

Well Known Books Being Produced Under Braille System.

Blind readers of Canada, who delight in perusing in their own Braille system Canadian literature, will soon have the privilege of reading "Maria Chapdelaine," the French-Canadian novel that has won continent-wide popularity. Engaged in translating this book into Braille, Mr. Swift, Librarian of the Library Department of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, is preparing "Maria Chapdelaine" for circulation among the blind throughout the Dominion.

When this work of fiction has been completed Mr. Swift will undertake the publication in Braille of "The Sacrifice of the Shannon," by Albert Hickman. This book, with its graphic descriptions of battle on the part of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, is the ice-crusher, among the legends of Northumberland Strait. Mr. Swift claims it is too little known among Canadian readers and yet embodies one of the best stories ever published in Canada.

The aim of the Library Department of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind is to make available to blind readers appreciating Canadian literature, available for circulation in

Capturing Sleep—
on a hint from Science

People used to think of engineers simply as men who built bridges and railroads. That they might make a big contribution to sleep was never thought of—until Simmons brought science to bed spring construction.

Two sciences, in fact. Starting first with the science of sleep. Nerve reactions. What happens to the body during sleep. The source and effects of nerve tension.

Then from there into practical engineering, producing the sleep equipment that relaxes the nerves and invites deep, sound sleep.
