

ALIEN MILLIONS SEIZED BY NATION

A. Mitchell Palmer, also alien property custodian, has seized millions in stocks and bonds owned in this country by two former American girls, now the wives of alien enemies of the United States. The properties seized are those of the Countessess Laszlo Sechenyi, formerly Gladys Vanderbilt, and of the Countess Anton Sigray, who was Miss Harriett Haley. Miss Haley is the sister of Mrs. James W. Gerard, wife of the former Ambassador to Germany. Both are wives of Austrian noblemen.

(Halifax Chronicle.)
Many old friends will regret to learn of the death of William R. Dunn, for many years one of the best known journalists in eastern Canada, who passed away at the home of his mother, 7 Carleton street, early on Sunday morning. Mr. Dunn, who was fifty-three years of age, had been in poor health during the last ten years, and although he had been out and around the city until quite recently, his friends recognized that he was falling rapidly.

He was the eldest son of the late John Dunn, who for many years was manager of the Morning Chronicle. He grew up in the atmosphere of the publishing craft. He entered the service of the Morning Chronicle as a youth and quickly showed his aptitude for journalistic work. He was for several years news editor of the Morning Chronicle and was the first editor of the Daily Echo, which he started as the successor of the Citizen and Evening Chronicle. Later he founded and published, on his own account, an illustrated weekly which he carried on for several years. He then spent some time in the United States where he was on the staff of leading dailies and for a time held an important position with the Associated Press.

Returning to Halifax he again became news editor of the Morning Chronicle and subsequently editor of the Daily Echo until 1909, on the retirement of his father, he became manager of the Chronicle Publishing Company, Halifax, and from this position about twelve years ago.

As a newspaper man Mr. Dunn was alert, energetic and enterprising, and those who were associated with him in his prime remember him as one of the brightest and keenest news gatherers in the profession, quick to act, resourceful in getting a new story and skilful in presenting it to the public. He was one of the most brilliant reporters which Halifax ever produced. He excelled as a graphic writer, especially in reporting sea disasters. His story of the loss of the steamer Daniel Steinman off Halifax, over thirty years ago, written for the New York Herald, was appraised as one of the finest pieces of journalistic work of the time. The New York Herald regarded it so highly that it gave Mr. Dunn what was then the rare distinction of printing his picture, accompanied by a very complimentary tribute to his fine reporting.

In those days, before the Associated Press had perfected its organization, most of the large American newspapers had their special correspondents at Halifax, which, then as now, was a very important world news centre, and Mr. Dunn was the correspondent of a string of the big news stories of the day were given to the world by him. The last notable story which he handled was that of the sinking of the French liner La Bourgoigne, in collision with the sailing ship Comarystre, off Sable Island on July 4, 1908, when over 600 people were drowned, the news of which was brought to Halifax by the survivors on July 6.

Although Mr. Dunn had retired from active work ten years ago he had many friends who will learn with deep regret of his death. He is survived by two daughters who are married in the United States, also by his mother, three brothers and four sisters.

GRAVE NEED FOR SAVING OF FOOD

Dr. J. W. Robertson Tells Buffalo Audience That World Faces Appalling
Situation—Up to the Individual Now

(Buffalo Express.)
Dr. James W. Robertson, chairman of the central advisory food council of Canada, told the Buffalo chamber of commerce yesterday in an address that there was grave need of saving food for the fighting forces now. He called the food situation of the world appalling and urged that greater acreages be planted and that greater effort be made by the individual to curtail consumption of the foods that are most essential to the soldier in fighting trim. Dr. Robertson said in part:

"At this time the food supply of our Allies in Europe is the gravest, most disquieting situation they have to face. If we all eat and waste this year, and next year, just as we used to eat and waste, then there will be still greater privation among our Allies, privation which may mean the weakening of our position in the war."

"The causes of the world-wide shortage are still cumulative. There was a general shortage in the northern hemisphere in 1916 of the five big cereal crops, wheat, corn, rye, barley and oats. The shortage was due partly to the weather and the withdrawal of labor from farm production. A conservative estimate places the total number of men withdrawn from agriculture for fighting and munition making in the belligerent countries at some 20,000,000. The scarcity of food has been accentuated by losses due to destruction by submarines of the food supplies still available after these great losses, it cannot be said that they have been handed to the best advantage. The world's reserves of food, to carry us through the winter months, are now in a precarious position. We should use all the experience we have gained in planning and carrying forward a campaign for larger acreages and higher yields in 1918 and the years that are to follow. We can better meet the needs of the Allies by the production of food than by any other service."

A given tonnage of shipping can carry twice as much grain from America as from Argentina and three times as much as from Australia or New Zealand. The world's reserves of food, to carry us through the winter months, are now in a precarious position. We should use all the experience we have gained in planning and carrying forward a campaign for larger acreages and higher yields in 1918 and the years that are to follow. We can better meet the needs of the Allies by the production of food than by any other service."

ST. JOHN COUNTY LODGE.
The St. John County L. O. L. held their annual meeting last night. Reports were read and showed the lodge both in membership and finance, to be in a flourishing condition. The following officers were then elected for the ensuing year: Francis Kerr, county master; E. J. Anderson, deputy county master; James E. Arthur, county chaplain; W. H. McDonald, county recording secretary; J. H. Burley, county financial secretary; N. J. Morrison, county treasurer; Isaac Mercer, county director of ceremonies; J. K. Lawson, county lecturer; E. H. Morell and Robert Jones, county deputy lecturers.

Valley and the Laurentide chains. All that can assure comfort to the patients has been installed, and the most recent discoveries for the treatment of tuberculosis will all be available there.

The frontage of the hospital covers some thirty-five feet and the cost of the building without the clinic installation is around $150,000, which was collected through subscriptions from private parties amounting to $80,000 and two subscriptions from the government and the city each of $25,000.

Operettes organized in previous years brought very good results, one of them, "Veronique," adding $2,000 to the funds and "Francois les Bas Bleus," $1,000, while the flower fete two years ago resulted in $6,000 receipts.

Hon. L. A. Taschereau, minister of public works, is the president of the hospital, and Mgr. Roy, archbishop, is the vice-president. The opening of the hospital which had become a necessity for Quebec will mean a great step towards the welfare of the residents of the district and a great protection to the public.

Why the Vicer Wept.
A story is told of a medieval sultan who had all the mirrors removed from his palace so that he might avoid the pain of seeing his own face. This sultan called on his grand vizier one day and by accident happened to catch sight of his reflection. His hideousness overpowered him and he broke into violent sobbing.

In this outburst the vizier joined. Finally the sultan calmed down, wiped his eyes and got ready to smoke and talk. But not so the vizier. He sobbed on and on.

At length the sultan got angry and exclaimed: "Why do you weep longer than I, vizier?"
"Alas!" the grand vizier replied, "you wept, O commander of the faithful, because you saw your face but for an instant, but I see it every day."
