THE BUSINESS COLUMN

EDITED BY MANSFIELD F. HOUSE (Continued)

"Irishman and Jew"
Prosper in Harmony.

Probably there is no more unique name for a retail business anywhere in America than that used by a firm of haberdashers in Traverse City, Mich. who style and advertise themselves as "The Irishman and the Jew."

This firm name blazes out every night from a big electric sign over the front of the store and all of the concern's newspaper ads and other publicity are signed this way. Even the neckties which they sell bear a label, "Made especially for 'The Irishman and the Jew.'"

Incidentally it may be remarked that hundreds of traveling men and other "outsiders" who visit Traverse City drop in and buy neckties just to be able to exhibit the unique label when they get home.

F. E. Joy and D. H. Netzer, the original "Irishman and Jew," who named the business fifteen years ago when they started out, and who still operate it, explain the selection of their unique name in the following way: One of them is Scotch-Irish and the other a Hebrew. When they started in business they had but little money to put into an advertising campaign of a size sufficient to bring the results they were anxious to get. So it occurred to them that if they could get some unique name for their business—a name that would be so striking as to "stop" any casual reader of their advertising—their success would be assured. "The Irishman and the Jew" was the result, and it has proved a combination hard to beat.

After Promoters of Closing-Out Sales.

George C. Flynn, of Madison, Wis., a director of the National Association of Retail Clothiers, has issued an appeal to members of the Wisconsin association to unite in their efforts to obtain legislation to combat the evils of the professional sales promoter and the bankrupt sale. Speaking before the recent convention of the Wisconsin body, he said: "Every individual merchant must feel a personal share in the national responsibility and maintain the credit and financial standing of his community. Everything that tends to create the popular impression that business is 'rushing to cover' should be condemned. In that regard we must at this time use every effort to arouse public sentiment and secure legislation against the widespread practice of conducting bankrupt and closing-out sales."

"Every bankrupt sale sign in a town impairs public confidence in the financial stability of that town. Such sales are usually conducted by irresponsible agents, having no material investment in the business; and often the merchant is duped into signing a contract for such a sale under the impression that it is good business."

"We should urge our national association to establish an efficiency bureau in connection with our main offices, with trained men in charge to advise and give their services to all members when (Continued on page 9, third column.)

October

Hallowe'en weaves its charms, its mysteries, and so do our new styles in suits and overcoats.

The weaves are many and interesting, and the mystery lies in the accomplishment of such good tailoring and perfect fit in ready-to-wear clothes.

For that Hallowe'en party here is your new suit and all the necessary fixings.

REAL ESTATE

Two Family House

Modern Home Freehold

Price $4,200

This property is situated just outside the city, on the Street Car line, has baths (up-to-date plumbing), electric lights (Expensive fixtures), hardwood floors, etc. The foundation is of concrete. The house, which is about eight years old, stands on a high and dry lot 50x100. There is also a good garage.

This proposition is a real snap, and the owner, who is not now a resident of St. John, desires the money to invest in his pleasant place of residence.
