The seamen then considered that they had been shipped under false pretences, and refused to proceed further in a ship carrying contraband of war, unless they received a ...igher rate of pay than that prevaiing in the merchant service. They had heard at Hongkong, too, that the steamship Allanton, belonging to the same line as the Ashlur, had been captured by the Russians and taken as a prize t Vladivostock, and they reckoned the risk of capture with them was quite as great. Increased pay was refused them by the ship's master, and the men "struck." men were discharged at Hongkong.
