IN THE LAND OF THE FREE. Six Persons Lynched on Tuesday Night by Order of Mob Law.

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 25.—Fearful scenes have been enacted in Arkansas in the past few days. If the report which reached here today be true, a wholesale lynching which, for the number of men put to death without 3.15 process of law, has seldom been paralleled in the annals of crime, has taken place in Cleburne county, where, of that county. One negro rapist was burned in his own home by a posse of deputy sheriffs in Drew county, Sunday night, and Tuesday morning the lifeless body of a negro murderer was near Pine Bluff. BOSTON LETTER.

Press Tributes to the Late Robert J. Gilbert-Personal Notes.

Mulock Wants to Copy After the American Railway Mail System.

(From our own correspondent.)
Boston, Aug. 21.—New England farmers and breelers are making preparations for the annual fairs, which begin the latter part of this month.

Business has improved considerably of late. The flight of wheat to $1 a bushel and over this week has given an impetus to prices of pork, oats, corn and provisions in general. Flour is of course much higher, and may even go up still further. The big demand for wheat from this country in Europe is the main fortor in the state. in wheat. Speculators have made big money, and of course the western farmer will be greatly benefited, although he receives no such price for grain as quoted in the New York and Chicago market. The western farmers have been in bad luck in the past lew years owing to the dull condition of business and the failure of crops. Many of the cotton mills now closed have announced that they will start up next month, and by that time it is not thought there will be many idle spindles.

Lieut. Col. White, formerly deputy postmaster general of Canada, is in the city inquiring into the local system of railway mad service. Postthis country to learn as much about the service as possible, it being the intention to establish the American system in Canada as soon as possible.

The death of Robert J. Gilbert, a well known newspaper man, caused great regret in this city, where he was well known. Of his death the B ston Post, of which staff he was a member for some time, says: "Mr. Gilbert was killed in the prime of a marnificent young manhood. His whole life had been marked by a cool sturdiness in facing what came to him. He was absolutely fearless, the soul of generosity and had a peculiarity manly code of honor. Leal and tryal to his friends, he was a man on the service as possible, it being the ward man. He had engaged in jour-nalistic work in San Francisco, New York and elsewhere and came here scendant of Sir Humphrey Gilbert."

A writer in the Record contributes the following: "Every man who knew Bob Gilbert in Boston, even though ordy in the most casual way, must be contributed to the news. ern district. Gilbert was one of those soldiers of fortune who roamed around with sourcely an idea of ever attempting to husband his resources. He wandered all over the world and matter where he turned up. I had seen him off for England and yet walking down Tremont street, and making plans to go to South Africa. His engagement with the London Graphic, I understand, in whose employ he was when shot, was a very important one, and he apparently had settled down to strong, serious work. Gilbert had a clever and taking way

SHOT DOWN.

The Assassination Occurred During a National Fete.

It Was the Second Attempt on the President's Life-The Assassin Arrested.

Montevideo, Aug. 25.—During a national fete which was held here today, President Idiarte Borda was shot and killed by an assassin. The weapon used by the assassin was a revolver.

Senor Idlarte Borda was elected pre-sident of Uruguay for the term ex-tending from March, 1894, to 1898. The fete at which he was assassinated was being held in celebration of the independence of Uruguay, which occurred on August 25, 1825. The assassination of the president occurred just as he was leaving the cathedral, where a Te Deum had been sung. The assassin was arrested. Arredondo, President Borda died alsteamer Halifax; 300 barrels flour, 41 barrels; 40 bags cornmeal, 300 sacks smiddlings, to Bridgewater, per has assumed the presidency of the re-

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—The assassination of President Idiarte Borda sassination of President Idiarte Borda of Uruguay was not altogether a surprise to officials here who have watched the recent outbreaks in Uruguay. This was the second attempt on the president's life, the former being made by a crazy student named Revecca. After it failed, the United States minister made a personal call on President Borda to convey the congratulations of President McKinley on the former's of President McKinley on the former's or President Mckinley on the former's escape.

The last mall advices received here showed that the revolution had broken out afresh, the peace delegates from the insurgents having given up the hope of securing peace, and withdrew to Argentina. Further agitation was occasioned by the reports that the government receipts had shrunk $1,600,000 during the year as a result of the revolution. The last issue of the Montevideo Times received here states that the president remained away from the state house, in evident fear of his life. At the same time a Colorado or Junta of those seeking to overthrow the government had established active operations at the capital.

The assassination of the president doubtless brings the country to a re-

PULP MILL OUESTION.

St. John's Facilities, if Free Water Were Available, are Unique.

View Expressed by James Beveridge, Consulting Engineer and Chemist.

The Sun noted the fact some days ago that the facilities for the successago that the facilities for the successful manufacture of pulp at St. John were very favorably regarded by Jas. Beveridge, consulting engineer and chemist, who is now in Chatham in connection with improvements to the Dominion Pulp Co.'s mills. Since returning to Chatham, Mr. Beveridge has expressed his views in a letter to Geo. Cushing, of A. Cushing & Co., as follows:

Chatham, N. B., Aug. 19th, 1897.

Dear Sir—Re sulphite pulp manufacture, referring to my visit to your mills on Tuesday last, I have now the pleasure to confirm my opinion, verbally expressed to you at that time, regarding the prospects of your proposed sulphite pulp mill.

The spruce deal ends and slabs from your lumber mills are well suited for the manufacture of pulp, and a good, clean, marketable product can be made from them, provided care and attention be bestowed in selecting the best and cleanest of the wood for the pulp and cleanest of the wood for the pulp process.

Your present plant for raising steam from sawdust and waste wood is the best I have ever seen, and I am confident a similar plant will meet every requirement of a pulp mill.

The site of the proposed mill is unique, owing to its close proximity to the raw material required in the manufacture, and to the shipping facilities at hand all the year round. The only drawback is the absence of a plentical supply of fresh water, and spects St. John holds an unique posi-tion with regard to the industry.

I can, therefore, see no reason why a factory established on the basis you propose, and given a supply of fresh water, should not prove a profitable undertaking in your hands.

Yours faithfully,

JAMES BEVERIDGE.
