Symphony to Appeal To Artistic,

seven concerts this year in the concert. Jubilee Auditorium.

The concerts take place on Sunday afternoons at 3 p.m. in the Auditorium, with a student rate for tickets.

The orchestra, using guest conluctors, has no permanent con-luctor. Thomas Rolston of the Fine Arts faculty leads the regular reearsals, preparing the musicians for he final rehearsals with the guest

His colleague in the Music Divion, Richard Eaton, will lead the University Singers in a January concert. The orchestra is closely connected with the University. irst Concert

The first concert of the season, on Oct. 16, will feature Frederick Balazs, Musical Director of the Tucson, Ari-zona, Symphony Orchestra. He led the orchestra here two years ago, and is remembered for his "warmth, riendly personality and experienced conducting." Appearing with him will be soloist Nadine Connor of the Metropolitan Opera.

Whereas most Sopranos confine hemselves to either the concert tage or the opera house, this vertile woman is at home in both ields as well as on TV.

On Nov. 13 Walter Susskind will ead the Edmonton Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Susskind is a Concert Designed to appeal to artistic Pianist, and is Sir Ernest MacMillan's but impoverished students, the Toronto Symphony Orchestra. In addition The University Singers and music students at the University of Alberta under the baton of Professor R. S. Eaton will augment the program.

Noted Orchestra Leader

The fifth concert on Feb. 12 will bring again to Edmonton Canada's most noted conductor and composer, Sir Ernest MacMillan, and Mr. Leondard Rose, one of the world's foremost 'cellists.

Sir Ernest, for twenty-five years Conductor of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra, has, by personal example, done more for music in Canada than any other individual.

Before his time, conductors were respected only if they were European-born or European-trained. Fortunately for ourselves we have honored the prophet in his own country.

Final Concert

The final concert on March 26 will, by popular request, bring back Victor Feldbrill of the Winnipeg Symphony Orchestra as Conductor, and Canadian Pianist Ray Dudley. Mr. Dudley has won the Eaton Award and the Geneva International Competition's "Unanimous Medal" for extraordinary keyboard artistry.

The ever-popular Christmas Box to the sparkling Junior Symphony Orchestra and the well-loved Muriel Taylor ballet, Llord's International Puppets will appear for the first time in western Canada—puppets for adults! These puppets have appeared on the radio and TV shows of Jack Benny, Bing Crosby, Charles Laughton, Fred Astaire, and Alfred Hitchcock.

In the Symphony's schedule for the year, six of the fourteen conductors or soloists are Canadians, and the visitors are artists with established names in the

Mural Sports Corner

With Dieter Buse

To many students, the word "sports" is synonymous with "Golden Bears". However there are other campus athletes than those who do play on the green and gold football, basketball and hockey teams.

Many of the activities (for example, curling) in which these persons engage form part of the intervarsity sports program; others, such as intramurals, place their emphasis on the participation and enjoyment of as large a part of the student body as possible.

The purpose of this column, which is a regular Friday feature of The Gateway, will be to give much needed publicity to these activities in the hope of arousing greater student interest and participation in them. REFEREE SCHOOL

An innovation in intramural sports is a new referee school which will give non-players an opportunity to participate in the sports program. Classes will be given to the members; those interested can contact Herb McLachlin. FOOTBALL

Gino Fracas will be handling the football this year and will introduce "strip football" which should bring the foot back into intramural football and bring the game out of the skies. CROSS COUNTRY

October 22, will be the big day for all prospective runners on campus as the annual cross country race will be run prior to the Alberta- Sask-atchewan football game. Dr. Alexander will be in charge and will accept entries up to post time.
INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Lee Coyne and Bill Dunn, who handle the intramural sports, have a new office, Room 150, Physical Education Building. One of the new facilities is a bulletin board to announce coming events and past results.
