

creation that the state of the secretary

SURPRISE

is stamped on every cake of SURPRISE SOAP.

It's there, so you can't be deceived. There is only one

See to it that your soap bears that word-

SURPRISE.

SURPRISE.

A pure hard soap. Don't forget the name.

St. Croix Soap Mig. Co. ST. STEPHEN, N. B.

THE "RYRIE"

Not for a year, but for a lifetime. Watches that may be handed from father to son-heirlooms.

The movement of a "Ryrie" Watch is as nearly perfect as possible, and yet, it's not expensive. That is why it has brought to our store so many buyers who are particular about accurate time.

showing the many styles of solid gold, fine gold filled, silver and gan metal "Ryrie" Watches in both [ladies and gentlemen's

The "Ryrie" Monogram Watches are particularly attractive.

RYRIE BROS.,

TORONTO. DIAMOND HALL, Established 1854.

Could we read the hearts of every mass we meet, what a load of sorrow and despain would be disclosed. Indiscretions and Steed Discuses have caused more physical and mental wrecks than all other causes combined. They strike at the foundation combined. They strike at the foundation of manhood; they sap the vital forces; they wardermine the system, and not only do they often disrupt the family circle, but they may even extend their poisonous fangs in to the next generation. If you have been a victim of early sinful habits, remember the seed is sown, and sooner or laker you will reap a harvest. If your blood has been diseased from any cause do not risk a return later on. Our New Method Treatment will positively cure you and you need never fear any return of the disease. We will give you a guarantee bend to that effect. We would warn you shored they against the promiscuous use of mercary, which does not cure blood poison but simply suppresses the symptoms.

WE CURE OR NO PAY. WE CURE OR NO

Bon't Let your Life be Drained Away, which weakens the intellect as well as the body. There is no room in this world for meastal, physical or sexual dwarfs. Our New Method Treatment will Stop all Unstread Losses, Purify the Blood, Strength on the Nerves, Restore Vitality, and make a man of you. If you'are in trouble, call had consult us. Consultation is Free. We treat and cure Drains, Blood Diseases, Varienceds, Stricture, Unnatural Discharges, Clieck, Kidney and Bladder Diseases. We received and the stricture of the second properations. No detention from business. Everything confidential. Consultances. Everything confidential. Consultances of the second properation of the second properations. The second properation of the second properations. The second properation of the second properation of the second properations.

DRS. KENNEDY & KERGAN Cor. Michigan Ave. and Shelby St. DETROIT, MICH.

} Builders Supplies

we have a complete stock of Beach-ville and Pelee Island Lime, Akron Cement, Highest Grade Portland Cement, Calcined Plaster, Sewer and Calveet pipe, Cut Stone, Sand, Hair, Hise Brick and Clay always on hand land at the lowest possible prices, call and see us when wanting anything in our line.

J. J. Oldershaw

Office and Warerooms, King St., West Branch Office and Yards next to Kent Mills. Telephone No. 85.

TEA and TEAS lens & Company, William Street import direct from London, England, the nest Ceylon, Assam and China Teas. Try ur English Breakfast Tea. 35c and 40c

IONE: A BROKEN LOVE DREAM &

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

Author of "A Broken Betrothal," "Parted by Fate," "Parted at the Altar," "Heiress of Cameron Hall," "Miss Middleton's Lover," Etc., Etc.

want to know who and what this girl by the name of Ione is, who loved and was loved by Arthur Rochester. He has no right to keep it

"Then why do you not go to him and ask him, my dear?" suggested Miss Rochester, mildly. But her eyes looked troubled as she

"I will find out," cried Elaine, with flashing eyes. All that day Elaine brooded over her terrible discovery; for to her jealous heart this knowledge seemed terrible indeed. 'Surely," she cried, starting to her feet, and pacing excitedly the length of her beautiful boudoir, "Ione Law-rence cannot be the one!"

The more she thought of it, the more a score of trifling incidents went to confirm it. "I will find out for myself," she cried, hurrying to her wardrobe taking out a carriage costume. "Are you going out, my lady? asked Patrice, the little maid."

"Yes;" returned Elaine. ready as quickly as possible. Do not mention that I have gone out. "To No. - Lexington Avenue," she directed the driver

She did not see the sunlit streets, the crowds of pedestrians, or the blue, over-arching sky above her as the carriage rolled along. Her heart was bitter with tumultuous thoughts.

'I shall soon find out if it is whom he loved. If it is I shall hate her with a hatred more bitter than death. I shall not accept half a I want a whole heart or none. If she has ever loved Arthur Rochester I shall be her bitterest foe. Love cannot die easily out of the human heart. If they have loved each other once, that love has never wholly died out.' Let those who read of the tragedy that followed remember bow different poor, wilful, misguided Elaine's life had been to that of other girls. Her mother had died in her afancy; she had grown up without a mother's guidance, without a sister's kindly admonition. Her own will was her law. No one had counseled her against the bitter fires of jealousy, the sinfulness of hatred and thirst for

It was quite a surprise to Ione when, half an hour later, Elaine's card was brought up to her.

"Why does this girl thrust her friendship on me?" she sobbed. "It will be cruel torture for me to smile kindly into the face of the girl Arthur Rochester loves-the girl whom he is to make his bride.' For a moment, bitter sobs shook her frame; then she rose calmly, and dried her eyes. The calm that followed the tempest had come.

must not rail at Heaven for taking him from me and giving him she murmured, "since it was od's will."

Her step faltered slightly, and the slender figure trembled as she walk-d slowly down the corridor and enered the drawing-room.

"Miss Granger," she said, huskily, xtending her hand. Elaine took it, and they stood for moment gazing steadily into each other's eyes-Ione and the girl who was destined to be her bitterest fee -and all for love's sake-love for the CHAPTER XXV.

"This is quite an unexpected pleasure, Miss Granger," said Ione, con-strainedly, as she took a seat opposite her visitor. "I have thought of little else save yourself ever since we met at the ball," returned Elaine, "and I took the opportunity of calling as soon as possible. Do you know," she went on, lightly, "your face actually haunts me? I cannot shake off the impression that we have met be-

As she spoke she looked keenly into the lovely face opposite her. She expected a reply, but Ione vouchsaf-ed none. After a few moments of indifferent conversation, Elaine turned suddenly to Ione with the query: "Did you know Mr. Rochester be fore the evening of the ball, Miss Lawrence?' She saw the lovely face flush, then pale; then Ione lifted her dark eyes, and frankly answered:

How Elaine longed to ask the question that fairly burned her lips: If she was the Ione Arthur Rochester had loved? But there was a certain dignity about her that for bade questioning. "The name is uncommon," marked. "I do not know that I have ever heard it before. I had almost forgotten the real object of my visit, 'Miss Lawrence,' she said, laughingly. "I am thinking of getting up a garden party in your

The sentence never was finished. A gasping cry fell from Ione's lips. She drew her chair closer to Elaine's and took her hands impulsively in her

"Do not think me rude," she said, hastily, "but I hope you will abandon the idea. You must have a reason for declining, and a very strong one," said Elaine. "Would you mind telling me why you do not care for it?" lone's lips quivered. How could she say that it would be but a cruel to there to here to cross Arthur Roch torture to her to cross Arthur Rochester's threshold—to look upon his face again-to hear him speak tender words, just as he used to speak to her, to this girl who was soon to be his wife, if report spoke truly. "Because I care so little for so ciar gatherings," replied lone, hest-tatingly. "My uncle, Colonel Whit-ney, is far from well. On the night I returned from the ball I found him in a deep swoon in his chair. I have determined to remain at home for the present and minister to his com-

> "It is a wonder that Mr. Lyons, your betrothed, will consent to any such arrangement," smiled Elaine; seeing a chance to score a hit then and there by adding: "He must be very different from my-my-lover. Arthur often says to me, 'Enjoy your single blessedness as much as you will, Elaine, my darling, for soon you will belong to me, and I am going to be selfish enough to be lealous then of every moment spent > away from me." saw the face into which she gazed grow very white, as though it was an effort to > listen with calmness. "Do you know," said Elaine, medi-"although I have many tatively, "although I have many friends, I have not one confidente among them, and I should like one so much. How I should like to make one of you, Miss Lawrence-Ione! But somehow I have conceived the idea that you do not quite like me. I cannot tell why."

> Why should I not like you, Miss Granger?" said Ione, confusedly. "As for friendships, I am slow to make "For that reason I should yours all the more," declared Elaine.

"I should like to tell you my hopes and pretty day-dreams—how has py I "Oh! if she knew that every word stabled my heart she would not ut-ter them," thought Ione. "I will the girl whom Arthur Rochester now "You are very good to repose so much confidence in me," said Ione, adding, with an effort: "Have you ever spoken to Mr.-Mr.-Rochester never, no, never be the confidente of "Certainly," replied Elaine. "And when I told him I should like you for my best and dearest friend, he laughed as though he thought the idea was vastly amusing to him. Gentlemen do not understand, you see, how much young girls love confidences. Well," said Elaine at length, rising to depart, "if you won't permit me to give a garden party in your honor, you must at least accept my invitation to lunch-eon to-morrow. Now do not find an excuse to avoid that." "I cannot promise just now," returned Ione, evasively. "If I can one I will drop you a note to that Elaine's eyes glowed restlessly. This was what she desired above all Then she would know bethings. yond a doubt if the scrap of Laper she had found in the pocket of shooting jacket was in Ione Lawrence's handwriting. All night long Elaine tossed restlessly upon her pillow pondering over the matter. The note from Ione came with the early morning mail. It contained but a few lines, stating her regret at not being able to attend the luncheon party; but those few written words were quite enough for Elaine, for, being placed side by side, proved beyond a doubt that the same hand had written those words to Arthur Rochester which she had

Yes, they had been lovers What, then, had parted them? This was the reason that they so studiously avoided each other. She held the key now to the secret trouble that seemed eating Arthur's heart away. He was about to wed her, but his heart was with the love from whom he had parted.

Had he and Ione quarreled, and had she betrothed herself through pique to Mr. Lyons? Yes, surely that was the way of it; for, with the keen eyes of bitter lealousy, she could de-

ABSOLUTE SECURITY

Cenuine

Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Must Bear Signature of Very small and as easy to take as sugar. CARTER'S FOR HEADACHE. FOR BILIOUSNESS.

FOR TORPID LIVER.
FOR CONSTIPATION

FOR SALLOW SKIN. a Com Purely Vegetable.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

hands together so tightly that the soft, pink palms were brusied, while tears fell from her eyes like rain. "If she crosses my path in the future, Heaven forgive me! I cannot answer for what might happen," she told herself, bitterly.

That evening, when Arthur entered the drawing-room, he found Elaine standing by the lace-draped window, looking thoughtfully out into the

"In a day-dream, Elaine?" he asked, quietly, "I am in the way. I ought not to have disturbed you." You are never in the way, Ar-replied, and wreathed she replied, smile wreatl bitter girl's lips to note how very indifferent he was to her. He would as soon have thought of flying as offering her one caress. "Does he think me a block of marble, never to long for any warmer greetings than this?" she thought.

Where were all the gay spirits, the bright repartee with which she was wont to keep him amused? he won-It was something unusual to dered. see Elaine with a serious expression on her face.

"What are you thinking of, Elaine?" he asked at last, drawing nearer to her. you really wish to know?" she queried, falteringly.

Yes," he answered. "I was thinking of you, Arthur, as she responded-"wondering usual,' if you really love me. Do you?" "Is it not rather late to ask that Elaine?" he answered,

"But de you?" she persisted. "Yes," he said, huskily; but he would not pain her by adding: "But it is with a brother's love, rather than a husband's. Will you tell me why you ask me, Elaine?' "I have been reading a book of oems," she replied, "and one of them affected me deeply. It was of a maiden who wedded a lover whose heart was another's and she pined she cried, vehemently, "did you even love any other woman?" A spasm of pain crossed his handsome face. He took both her hands away and died. Tell me, Arthur,' in his as he said, slowly: "I will be frank with you, Elaine; it is your due. Now that you have asked me a straightforward question, I will tell you that which I have been summing up courage to tell you for some time past: I have before, but I found that the woman to whom I had given all the deep love of my heart was as false as she was fair. I cannot say more about her, Elaine, for the very memthe past is painful. The ory wound is not quite healed even yet, though I do my best to try to for-I should have told you this on the day I asked you to become my wife, Elaine," he went on; "but it is 'better late than never.' You do not think the less of me for it, I hope? For answer, she burst into tears, murmuring:

"But now, and for all time to come, your love is mine, Arthur!" "I shall devete my whole life to you. Elaine." be happy if I can make you shall Even in that moment she noticed, with bitter jealousy, he never spoke of loving her. He had carefully avoided that. When she reached her own room, she threw herself down in a velvet arm-chair, with bitter cries. "Another girl's image is in his heart—not mine!" she sobbed. "Oh, how am I to bear it and live? Seeing her constantly will but fan the flame. It must! If she were but out of the way, his heart would turn to It was a pitiful thought, but she brooded over it night and day, and there was danger in this constant It was the smouldering brooding.

flame which was soon to burst into a raging fire.
But from the hour in which Elaine had discovered beyond a doubt that Ione Lawrence was Arthur's first love, Ione had a strange fascination for her. With the keen eyes of jealousy she noted, too, that although Ione Lawrence was soon to marry Mr. Lyons, there was no love between them. "There is something back of all this," Elaine concluded; and she re-solved that she would find out what it was, at any cost, Another month dragged its slow length by, and at the end of that time a thrilling event happened. CHAPTER XXVI.

It so happened that Ione and Elaine had both been invited to a yachting party which was to take place the following week, and each-not expecting the other-had accepted the invitation. To be Continued.

Packing Fruit. "Any old thing" will not do in these days — the package must be neat, clean and attractive. The grower of fruit must put it in packages as his customers like if he expects to make fruit growing financial success.

The freight, cartage and package on poorly packed fruit, or that which is of poor quality, cost as much as in the case of well packed fruit and that of good quality. The proceeds are more on the latter, hence the profit is greater.

The Indispensable man. The indispensable man is a myth. There never was such a thing and there never will be in commerce, in the State, or in the Church. The man to fill the gap may not be in sight, but he is not far from anyone of us at any time. He who thinks he is indispensable is dangerously near the place where he may some day be rudely awakened to the fact that his room is preferable to his company.—Canadian Grocer. the State, or in the Church.

Grocer, Minard's Liniment Cures Dandruff.

Croup and Whooping Cough

Claim Scores of Thousands of Young Lives Every Year-Lives That Could as Well be Saved.

It is a serious question with every mother as to how she can best combat croup, whooping cough, bronchitis and similar ailments, which are sure to suddenly attack the little ones at times least expected. The hollow, croupy cough comes with frightful breboding as it arouses the mother from sleep. She realizes the hopelessness of battling with a disease which often defies the most skilful physicians.

In croup above all other diseases prompt action is of the greatest importance maginable. With Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine at hand any mother an effect almost instant relief when the children are struggling frantically for breath. By sheer force of merit it has won its way to popularity and is known throughout this continent as the most effective treatment for throat and lung troubles that science has CROUP. Mr. W. McGee, 49 Wright Avenue Toronto, Ont., states: "There is no remedy, in my opinion, that can not more promptly than Dr. remedy, in my opinion, that can act more promptly than Dr. Thase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It cured my son of croup, absolutely, in one night. We gave him a dose when he was black in the face with choking. It gave him instant relief. During the night he took several doses, and in the morning woke up bright, perfectly well and cheerful. I must say it is a wonderful medicine."

WHOOPING COUGH. Mr. E. Hill, fireman, Berkeley Street Fire Hall, Toronto, says: "I desire to say in favor of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine that one of my children was promptly relieved of whooping cough, and as long as obtainable, will not be without it in the house, nor use any other medicine."

BRONCHITIS.

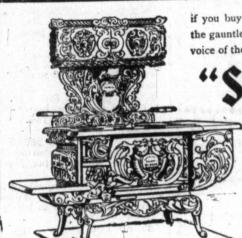

Mr. A. Wingfield, 71 Garden Avenue, Toronto, states: "My two children had bronchitis and were decidedly croupy. Two bottles of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine put them to rights again, and that quickly."

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine

Is the most necessary preparation that can be kept in any house. For children and grown people alike it affords the most thorough and prompt relief for all affections of the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs. 25 cts. a bottle, family size, containing three times as much, 60 cts., at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure, 25 Cents a Box, with improved blower free.

JUST ONE FOR YOUR McConnell LIFETIME

if you buy a "Souvenir." Down goes the gauntlet ! It is the almost universal voice of the Canadian people, that last longer-are better made and easiest to keep clean. convenient, have large aluminum-lined aerated ovens, sure, quick bakers.

Every stove guaranteed.

GEO. STEPHENS, QUINN & DUUGLAS Agents,

CHATHAM Made by THE GURNEY-TILDEN CO., Limited, Hamilton, Canada STOVE, RANGE AND RADIATOR MANUFACTURERS
Wholesale Branches—Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg.

Chatham's Millinery Store

JUST IN

Chatham's Millinery Store

Some extra values in Black Plumes, Tips and Fancy Breasts Special line of Tips, all colors, at 25c., worth 45c. Very special bargains in Ready-to-wear Hats from

C. A. Cooksley, Opposite the Market

95c to $2.00, worth from $1.25 to $3.00.

Exclusive Designs of Fine_ Furniture

That can not be obtained elsewhere in this city can be seen at H. McDonald's Furniture Store, opposite the Garner House. If we have not got what you want we will show you catalogues and procure any style of furniture for you at the low-est possible cost. Christmas will soon be here and by placing your order for holiday delivery you can rely upon getting what you want and when you want it.

Hugh McDonald

Park St.

...HAS...

one of the largest and prettiest selections of Xmas China, Opal and Glassware in the city. 10 per cent off on the 30th of November.

Just wend your way to Park street east—it's a pleasure to show goods, when we know we can please you. Our goods are A1; our prices away down. Now is the time to buy Xmas presents. Dinner, Tea and Chamber sets at cut rate prices.

You ought to know McConnell's is the people's grocer. First in quality-with prices that bring us ess from all parts of the city

NOVEMBER 30TH SPECIALS. Smoked Sugar Cured Shoulder, sliced, 13c. per pound. Smoked Sugar Cured Ham, sliced, 14c. per pound.

Daisy Baking Powder, 10c. per 1b. Aroma packages Teas-25c. packages for 20c., 35c. for 30c., 50c. for 45c. per pound.

Our selected Raisins for 5c. pound are extra good.

Pickles, 9c. per bottle.

New Dates, 5c. per pound.

Clothes Pins, 1c. per dozen. Lemon Peel, 15c. per pound. A good mixed biscuit 8c. per pound the day. 3 pounds new Raisins, 25c.

pounds new Currants, 25c.

A Dust Pan given away with every $2.00 order. For the day only. McConnell

 Does Your

Phone 190. PARK ST. East

PIANO Need Tuning? IF SO it should be seen to at oncc.

LEAVE ORDERS
AT F. P. WELDON'S
OFFICE; Scane block
Rep. Heintyman Piano Co.

J. L. H.
Bollo
Bollo
BOX 26 Chatham +++++++++++++++++++++++++

TAKE YOUR SOILED LINEN TO THE

••••••••

PARISIAN STEAM LAUNDRY

And get the best work in the city. WORK CALLED FOR AND DELIVERED

 Sewer Pipe and Portland Cement

We have a large variety of Sewet Pipes from 4 to 24 inches, and the best Port-aud Cement at LOWEST PRICES.

John H. Oldershaw, Wellington St. Near Harrison Hall

Keep Minard's Liniment in the