MONUMENT TO MR. PATRICK BOYLE.

At a recent meeting of the Hibernians, it was decided that each division in the city should contribute a certain amount towards the erection of a monument to the late Mr. Patrick Boyle. The matter is to take shape immediately.

I.C.B.U. EXCURSION.

The I.C.B.U. excursion took place to St. Catharines on Monday per steamers Garden City and Lakeside. A grand baseball match between the teams of the I.C.B.U. and the Independents was the chief feature. A first-class orchestra furnished the music. The committee in charge were R. Flanagan, chairman; W. Oster, secretary; N. Davis, treasurer; P. Cassidy, F. Oster, T. Byrnes and C. O'Donnell.

OFF TO CUBA.

Bro. Rogation, who a few months ago was the able and popular Principal of the De La Salle Institute, was in the city this week after a residence of three months in France. Bro. Rogation speaks of things in the land once known as the Eldest Daughter of the Church, as being in a very bad condition; and this, too, not in matters of religion alone, but in all that relates to politics and trade. After spending a few days with his old friends, all of whom gave him a hearty welcome. Bro. Rogation left on Monday evening for Montreal, from which place, in company with seventeen others, he will start in the course of a few days for Cuba. Here they will open a college, the building for which has been secured on a lease for some Brothers are in a position to offer principal church in Havana, and the Brothers are in a position to offer a thorough course in English, French, German and Spanish. In the new field Bro. Rogation will doubtless find scope for his ability as a teacher and for his great and unflinching vitality. His friends wish him bon voyage and all success.

PILGRIMAGE TO ST. ANNE DE BEAUPRE.

Pilgrims from Toronto who intend taking part in the Pilgrimage which leaves the city on Tuesday the 25th inst., have a rare treat in store. Those who have visited St. Anne's on a former occasion of course know all about it, but others, those who go for the first time, cannot possibly conceive of the altogether new and unexpected sights and scenes in store for them. The grand scenery on the St. Lawrence, the rare sights in the quaint old City of Quebec, the ride on the electric railway over a most picturesque bit of ground from Quebec to St. Anne's, the little village itself, the great church there situated, the many chapels, the richness and beauty of the buildings, the Scala Sacra leading to the artistic chapels above, the quaintly erected Stations, the miraculous spring, the huge pyramid of crutches and other discarded instruments, the rich and historical vestments and paintings, the beautifully carved altar-railing of white marble, the decorations of the altars, each and all are something to excite wonder and admiration. And then the crowds, and the ceremonies of the Feast. They are something to live in one's memory throughout a life-time. On a recent Feast Day ten thousand pilgrims were in the church and seventy-two priests from almost every part of the continent said Mass at one of the altars. Half a dozen or more masses going on at the same time, Communion given throughout the entire morning, thousands worshipping at the beautiful shrine, and scores of God's afflicted ones praying to the bonne Ste. Anne for relief. And Ste. Anne is not unmindful and many go away rejoicing. This is only a tithe of what might be said about this holy and attractive spot.

DOUBLE FEAST.

The Feast of Sts. Peter and Paul was celebrated throughout the diocese on Sunday and the Feast of Our Lady of Mount Carmel was also commemorated. At the cathedral Solemn High Mass was sung and a sermon preached by Rev. Father Rohleder.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL QUARTERLY COMMUNION.

Sunday next will be the day for the Quarterly Communion of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, the regular meeting will be held at 3.30 p.m.

ANNUAL EXCURSION A.O.H.

The annual excursion of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will take place to Buffalo on Tuesday, August 15th. Excursionists will be carried by the steamers Chippewa, Chicora and Corona, and by the New York Central Railway, boats to leave Yonge street wharf at 7.30 a.m., 9 a.m., and 2 p.m. A grand reception picnic will be given by the A.O.H. of Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Tonawanda. SOME LOGICAL STATEMENTS

By Rev. Dean Egan, as Expressed to The Barrie Gazette in the Course of an Interview

In view of the conspicuous place which the educational clauses of the Autonomy Bill have in the public mind at present, a representative of The Gazette called upon a prominent local clergyman to obtain his views on the situation. He did not hesitate to express an opinion and willingly answered the various questions. The first was:

Q. What effect, if any, will the Autonomy Bill have upon Separate Schools in this Province? A. It will have none, whatever, because they are fixtures.

Q. In your opinion would it not be better to leave education to the different provinces? A. No.

Q. Why? A. Because they would be subject to change at any time. If they had been left to the provinces what would have happened to Ontario when Meredith was leader of the Opposition?

Q. Would it not be better for all children to go to the same schools? A. So far as Catholics are concerned they could not consent to that because they want to have religion taught in their schools, and Protestants on principle cannot teach religion in schools.

Q. What prompts you to make that assertion? A. There are over 300 different sects of Protestantism, each of them, of course, being revealed by God, and since they are all equally true, which could claim a priority? Catholics claim that youth is the time for religious instruction, and if it is omitted in youth it is likely to be omitted altogether.

Q. Could not parents and Sunday Schools supply this deficiency? A. We know that many parents are not very well qualified, while the great majority of them have not the time, very well qualified while the great majority of them have not the time, nor the inclination, to fulfil this very important duty. As for Sunday schools, we know by experience they do not amount to a great deal because they are not thorough enough.

Q. Don't you think, if all our children were brought up in the same schools it would have the effect of making them more liberal and broad-minded? A. There is no place in the world where that plan has got such a workable opportunity as in the north of Ireland, and there is no place in the world where Protestants and Catholics so thoroughly hate each other. In this country the only bigoted Catholics I have ever known are those that have been brought up in public schools, where they were so disgusted with the abuse and insults which they received from teachers and pupils that frequently they went home with bleeding hearts. This does not apply so much now as it did a few years ago, when some teachers could not give a lesson in geography or history without in some way insulting the Catholic children. Some of our friends want to have Catholic children back in the same schools so as to have the luxury of repeating these insults. It was on account of this treatment that a great many of our Separate schools were established in country places. Look at the specimens of bigotry we have had during the recent elections. Look at the unjust cartoons of the hierarchy which appeared in some of the papers, The News, The World and The Saturday Night being particularly offensive. It is, however, a source of satisfaction to know that these newspapers did not serve the purpose of the parties they represented, or the objects they had in view. The cry of coercion which was raised was meaningless. They tried to lead people to believe that Catholics wanted Protestants to pay for their education, and this, of course, is not the case.

Q. Is it not generally known that the Protestants of Quebec were the first to ask for a system of separate schools? A. No, it is not, but that is the case, and when they got them the Government could not, decently, refuse Catholics in Ontario, who were in the minority, the same privileges.

Q. Some people express the opinion that our children would be just as good citizens if no regard were paid to religion in the schools. What do you think of that? A. The truly moral citizen is the best citizen in the world, and to my mind, it is shameful for people to talk of bringing up their children without religion. It surprises me how Protestants are trying to banish religion from the schools when as a matter of fact, by their higher criticism they are also trying to banish religion from their churches as well. Fortunately for Canada we have a class of sensible Protestants who will not listen to coercion from any source and the cry was raised by a few irresponsible people.

What do you think of the interference of the hierarchy and particularly that of the Apostolic Delegate? It has been asserted that they have interfered and even that they have been consulted by the Government in connection with Catholic Education in the new provinces. It was a matter of surprise in quarters, that they should have any voice at all in such affairs.

It is quite evident, to any sane intellect, that Dr. Sproule, and others of the Yellow Hierarchy, not the Catholic Bishops, are the proper judges of such matters. They are the parties who know what kind of education is suitable for Catholic youth and therefore they alone should have been consulted. In fact, the Catholic clergy have said nothing these educational clauses having left the cause entirely in the hands of politicians.

On the other hand the Protestant clergy made the educational clause of the Autonomy Bill the occasion of raising a race and religious cry. This they did from their pulpits, at meetings and at their conferences passed resolutions of protest, of which no intelligent person took the slightest notice. This should convince them that their influence with the intelligent classes amounts to nothing. If the Catholic priests had acted as they have done, these are the very people who would cry out against clerical interference.
