HUMOROUS.

A country editor lately returned a tailor's bill endorsed, "Declined—handwriting illegible."

"I think the goose has the advantage of you," said a landlady to an inexpert boarder who was carving. "Guess it has, mum—in age!" was the withering retort.

"Well, Johnnie," said a doting uncle to his little nephew, who had been fishing all day, "did you catch a good many fish?"

"No, uncle; but I drowned a good many worms," was the reply.

Could conjugal affection be more strictly displayed than it is in the subjoined: "And, so, doctor, you think my wife will get well?" "I am sure of it, if you can persuade her to take this dose." "Doctor, take it she shall, if I have to break every bone in her body!"

"Sarah, this going out incessantly I cannot have; next Sunday you must stay at home all day." "But, ma'am, I have promised my aunt to spend the afternoon with her." Sonny, interced-ing: "Do let her go mamma; her aunt has been made a sergeant, and he has got a new coat with stripes on it, and a great,

"Man slive!" exclaimed the judge in a "Man alive!" exclaimed the judge in a heated discussion of a tangled theological point with his friend, "I tell you you are a free agent. You have not to obey any one." "Yes," said Mr. Goodman, meekly, "but I do though." "Who ?" shouted the judge, "who ?" "My wife, her two sisters, and the baby," howled the good man, meekly triumphant. Would't Pay for Breathing the Air.

Bill Smedley was resting his left foot on the top of a beer keg in front of a saloon in Butte City, Montana Territory, the lest time I saw him. On his bent left knee he rested an elbow, thereby arranging his arm so as to support his chin, which rested on his hand. His clothes were well worn, and here and there a rent. His hair stuck out through a hole in the grown of his hat, while the great toe of his crown of his hat, while the great toe of his right foot peeped forth ruddy and cheerful from his boot. The whiffs of smoke, drawn from a short, black pipe, curled lazily from his lips. His eyes were half closed and dreamy. His thoughts were in closed and dreamy. His thoughts were in dreamland. Bill had experienced the ups and downs of Western life; had been rich and poor by turns, and was now very poor. He had grown philosophic, and looked at things in a way different from what he had in his youth, when life's pathway smiled to him, and seemed rosegarlanded.
"Hello, Bill! been looking for you,"

said the tax-collector, coming up.
There was no response. He repeated:
"Bill, hello!"
"Well?"

"Want to collect your tax."

"Haint no property."
"I mean your poll-tax."
"Don't own no pole."
"A poll-tax is a tax on yourself, you now." know."
"I ain't no property."

"But the county court levied this tax

on you."
"Didn't authorize 'em to levy any tax

on me."
"The law does, though."
"What if it does; 'spose I'm goin' ter pay for breathin' the air ?"
"Still you are one of us, you live here."

"I didn't bring myself into the world."
"You exercise the privileges of a citizen; you vote."
"Don't want to vote if you charge for

"Don't you wrnt a voice in the selec-tion of officers?"

"No; if there was no officers you wouldn't be here consumin' my time."

"If you do they won t work."
"There are other county expenses—paupers, and so on. If you were to die without means you would want us to

"No, you needn't."
"No, you needn't."
"Why, you would smell bad to other people!"
"I kin stan' it if they kin."

"I will levy on your property," said the officer, growing impatient; "I will hunt it up."

"I'll heip you; I want to see some of my property."
The officer moved on rather abruptly,

The officer moved on rather abruptly, while Bill continued, as if musing:

"Let them fellers have their way, and they'd make life a burden. Want to assess my existence; want to charge me for enjoyin' the bright sunshine; ask me to pay for beholdin' the beautiful landscape; charge me for looking at the grass grow and the rose unfoldin'; charge me for watchin' the birds fly, an' one cloud chase t'other."

chase t'other."

The eyes continued to blink dreamily. The whiffs of smoke reacaed up in grace ful spirals toward the blue dome. The foot-falls of the tax-collector grew absenter and absenter.—New Orleans Picay-

The News that Jack Brought.

Some time ago, in the Southern part of Arkansas, says the Little Rock Gazette, an incident occurred which will be spoken an incident occurred which will be spoken of upon the occasion of every election in that part of the country. Upon the day of the noted event people in all the township exhibited their interests by going early to the polls. Two very prominent men in a certain county were candidaes for sheriff, and their supporters were so equally divided that a great concern was felt. Bets were made; fist fights were inappurated in fact, everything was encaged. augurated, in fact, everything was engaged in which to make the elections interesting. About 10 o'clock the excitement be came so great in one township that a man was selected to ride over to a man was selected to ride over to the next township to see who was ahead. The swiftest horse was selected. The man sprang into the saddle and dashed away. The rider was intently watched until out of sight. Then more bets were made as to which of the candi-dates was ahead. More fist engagements were inaugurated. Finally the man was seen coming back. He had lost his hat and his long hair streamed out horizon-tally.

"Six ahead! Six ahead!" he shouted when within hearing distance of the excited crowd. "Who is six ahead?" demanded several voices.

"I'll be dinged if I know," said the man checking his horse, "but you may bet your life that one of them is six ahead."

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

Alwaysrequire agents to show you the written authority of the proprietor of the RECORD before you do business with them. In every case demand a receipt on the printed form before you pay money.

New subscribers are requested to enclose the price of subscription ($2) in a registered letter, writing plainly their name and post office. It will then come at our risk. We will in every case send an acknowledgment. Do not ask as to stop sending your paper while in arrears. This we cannot do. Send the amount due, and then your name will be taken off. Until arrears are paid, the law says the papers are your property whether you take them from the post office or not.

When subscribers move away from a place they should always give the name of the post office where they received their paper before, as well as the one they wish it sent to.

When the time expires that you have paid up to, send your money for the coming year punctually. If you want the paper stopped drop a card to office at the proper time, and the name will be taken off the list.

Messrs. M. A. Egan, M. Redmond and W. Walsh are authorized to do business for the RECORD in all parts of Ontario.

Mr. J. Dromgole, sr., is our city agent, and has authority to transact all business for the paper.

The Fire Office, now in the 21st year of its existence, is doing a larger, safer and better business than ever, having in the month of June issued 1,940 policies and in July 2,032 policies—a number never before exceeded except by itself.

Intending Insurers Will Note,

1st. That the "London Mutual" was the pioneer of cheap farm insurance in Canada, and that its rates have always been placed as low as is commensurate with the hazard; that, being Purely Mutual, it has no stock-holders, and all profits are added to its reserve fund to give better security to its members.

2nd. That it is the only Company that has always strictly adhered to one class of business, and now has more property at risk in the Province of Ontario alone than any other Company—stock or mutual—English, Canadian, or American, ivide Government Returns].

3rd. That it has paid nearly a million dollars in compensation for losses, having distributed the same in nearly every township in the Province

4th. That its books and affairs are always tributed the same in nearly every township in the Province

4th. That its books and affairs are always open to the inspection of the members, and the Directors are desirous that the privilege should be exercised.

FARMERS! Patronize your own old, sound, safe, economical Company, and be not led away by the delusions of new ventures and the theories of amateurs in the insurance business.

My Dear Sir,—Your Thermo Electric Vapor Bath, it appears to me has decided advantages over any bath with which I am acquainted. Having made a full crial of it this week, I am now ready to pronounce it a great success. For rheumatism, I consider it unequalled, and I am sure that no one who gives it a fair trial will ever leave dis-atisfied. Your Bath stands ahead of a ything cise I have tried, both as a luxur: and a sanitary agent. I take great pleasure in commending them to all similarily affected.
