Mural Decorations, In C.P.R. Station At Vancouver

The walls of the noble and spacious waiting hall of the C. P. R. station at Vancouver have recently been decorated by a series of mural decorations representing the principal mountain scenes from the line between Calgary and the coast. They are the work of Mrs. Adelaide Langford, whose training has well qualified her for this species of work, which is in a class by itself. Mrs. Langford studied in the Slade School of London, England, one of the most celebrated institutions for artistic training, and she also is a graduate of the Art Institute of Chicago. Among her teachers in former years were Professor Tonks, whose name is well known in art circles; Prof. Froese, whose abilities as a water-colorist are known in two hemispheres, and Mr. H. Vanderpool, whose book on the "Human Figure" is one of the best ever published on figure-drawing. Mrs. Langford was also a member of the international jury on art works at the St. Louis Exposition, and holds several medals. It is perhaps to be regretted that architectural exigencies led to the placing of the panels to be decorated so high that they are liable to escape the notice of the ordinary observer, though this is but following the example of many edifices of the kind, both on this continent and in Europe. Still to people of average powers of vision, this series of fine mural decorations need present no difficulty. They will find that the laws of mural decoration have been adhered to. The general tone of the interior they ornament has been borne in mind by the artist, who has subdued her colors so that they harmonize with and seem part and parcel of their surroundings. They are broadly and simply executed, and will bear examination by the aid of a field glass, so as to bring them within the range of the constant which decreases that the proper distance at which to look at a picture is three times its greatest dimension. Following this frieze around from the northwest corner, westward, the following list will help to make the scenes more intelligible. The first picture is: Mount Stephen and Kicking Horse River, as seen from Field. This is the gateway to the famous Yoho valley, and a favorite stopping place for tourists. The winding waters of the river are particularly well shown. Lake Louise, Laggan, as seen from the chalet. Those who have visited this place do not forget its quiet peace and grandeur. The sight of the splendid glacier, which, as it thaws, produces the beautiful green water of the lake. The Falls at Ha are depicted with much vigor of handling, and the mountain background melting into the distance is excellently treated. Mount Temple, as seen from the main line of the C. P. R., near Lake Louise, is an arresting object in the landscape, but this decoration is scarcely so arresting as the one which follows, viz.: The Gap. The traveler who is familiar with the C. P. R. line will remember this spot, where after traversing some miles by the side with the Bow river he enters the noble region of mountain where sublimity reigns. The Three Sisters forms the first important group meeting the eye of the traveler from the plains, and they never fail to arouse the enthusiasm of the lover of natural beauty and grandeur. Mount Wapta, this decoration is one of the best of the series, the composition of the picture being especially admirable. Mount Wapta is one of the finest peaks in the Rockies. This view also gives a glimpse of Summit Lake. Castle Mountain. The peculiar formation of this mountain is well shown. Its series of what are apparently round towers, its pinnacles and "donjon keeps" give appropriateness to its name. The Crow's Nest. Here likewise we see the appropriateness of a name. This is almost the chief mountain on the Crow's Nest branch of the C. P. R. The Liens, as seen from the golf links, Vancouver. Cathedral Mountain. One of the most beautiful of the whole range of our Western Switzerland. Its snowy recesses look as if they might be the home of roaming polar bears. Mount Regis, as seen from the main line. Additional interest is given to Mrs. Langford's work from the fact that she has been a hard working organizer in the way of art. She was the manager of the artistic educational work of the normal and model school of the Manitoba Government at Winnipeg. And it was she who with others helped in the starting of the Vancouver Studio Club, out of which grew the B. C. Society of Fine Arts.
