KICKERS' COLUMN

GAVE DOGGIE AWAY.

Dear Mr. Kicker,—No doubt on ac-ount of the restrictions being placed on ogs, a good many citizens will find it hardship to keep their pets. Now, I now of one man finding himself in just ch a fix, and, not wanting to destroy good and faithful watchdog, inserted small advertisement in the Sanigood and faithful watchdog, inserted small advertisement in the Smileckly Times offering him to any fareer who would provide for him a good ome. Needleess to say, a farmer drove even miles after the dog. Not only at, he has been besieged with letters om all over the country, offering to ke him off his hands. Now, this heme is worth a trial. Humanity.

LOOK AFTER THE TREES.

LOOK AFTER THE TREES.

Mr. Kicker,—Last fall the Parks
Board took the trouble to plant a fine lot of ormanental trees around the James street reservoir. These trees are making a start, but want attention. It would be a good idea for the above-mentioned Board to have a man go up and give them a little cultivation, also fertilizer, before it is too late. Yours, Ratepayer.

WANT A SHOW ON THE MARKET. To the Editor of the Times

WANT A SHOW ON THE MARKET.
To the Editor of the Times:
Sir.—I would like to call the attention of the Mayor and aldernen, through the medium of your widely circulated paper, to the advisability and necessity of passing some kind of by-law, which would place a restriction on wholesale men from buying everything in sight on one Hamilton market, before a reasonable hour. As it is at present, you have to be there at 4 or 5 o'clock to get a selection of something that is in demand. I have repeatedly gone between 8 and 9 a. m., only to find that the first-class stuff was all sold. Other cities have experienced the same trouble, and in many places forestalling by-laws have been passed, prohibiting storekeepers and others from buying before a certain hour. What is the market for, if not in the interests of all the people? There are hundreds- of your readers who would come uptown if they knew that they would have any kind of a show in getting good stuff at the market. Now, they have to depend upon the near-by store, that in many cases charges exorbitant prices, and two or three cents here and there makes a difference at the end of the month in the surplus of dad's pay. You hear a lot about extravagant housewives, but how are they to economize, if you do not give them a chance? issewives, but how are they to econo-ze, if you do not give them a chance? e often pride ourselves, too, on being We often pride ourselves, too, on being in the garden of Canada, and yet you can go to our market at peach time only to find that the best have been sent to Toronto, Ottawa and other places, and this the fruit-growers frankly tell you. Now, Mr. Editor, I think you can help us to get some sort of consideration in this matter, and I write you knowing that the Times' attitude on public questions is always sound and reasonable. Thanking you for the space, I am,

A Perturbed Subscriber.

Mr. Editor,-While the city fathers Mr. Editor,—While the city fathers are after the stray dogs, I would like to know what they are going to do about the cats? Dogs, we will admit, there are by the score, but cats are around by the hundreds, doing twice the damage of dogs Now, I would suggest that some liberal-minded citizen start a fund to build an asylum for both dogs and cats. Yours. Sleepy.

A CHIEF OF PUBLICITY.

(Canadian Courier.)

(Canadian Courier.)

The change from an international railway to the status of a trans-continental has brought forth a batch to readjustments in the personnel of the Grand Trunk system. The western extension of the system is responsible for much of the change. In the redistribution of portfolios in this railway cabinet, Mr. Charlton, the general publicity agent, alone retains exactly the same position he occupied before.

It is now eleven years since Mr. Charlton took charge of the advertising for the Grand Trunk system. In that capacity he has become one of the best-known railway men in Canada. Next to George Ham, the public know Harry Charlton—who is, however, an exceedingly quiet man, persistent in business, a clear-headed, systematic thinker who understands the dual art of being useful to a great system and agreeable to a great public. He is now general advertising agent for both the Grand Trunk and the Grand Trunk Pacific.

Much of Mr. Charlton's earlier career was spent in the one business that brings a man pre-eminently into touch with the people; not politics, however, but newspapering. He was born in St. John's, Quebec, and early in life went seriously to work on the St. John's News afterwards, gradunt.

born in St. John's, Quebec, and early in life went seriously to work on the St. John's News afterwards graduating to the Montreal Herald. It was there that he became an attractive figure to the Canadian Pacific and in 1891 he switched from newspaper work to railways, having charge of the advertising for the C. P. R.

It is not a simple thing to be advertising agent for a transcontinental railway system. The man who succeeds in that calling has to be as nearly alied to a genius as a good baseball umpire—for he is the man who comes between the system and the people. He must know the system which—he represents, the country through which the road runs and the genral traffic conditions; must know how to smile in the teeth of criticism and to persist in the face of discouragement. If there is anything new in either the building or the operation of the road, the publicity man must be one of the first to know it and the man who in the ultimate knows it most completely, so far as the pubman who in the ultimate knows it most completely, so far as the public is concerned. For the people who curse time-tables are more numerous now than ever they were. Mr. Charlton may be depended upon to do as well for the transcontinental system as he has hitherto done for the Grand Trunk.

HOW IT FEELS TO FLY.

chine climbs into the air one's eyes adjust themselves to the proper focus and the surface of the earth below seems to be ripping past at railroad speed.

By this time, says a writer in Outing, you have forgotten the clack of the noisy motor, the flap and whir of the propellers, the grinding of the chain and sprocket gear that drives them. All vibration has practically ceased and you float along with a sense of springy ease and buoyancy such as you can gain from no other means of locomotion.

HOW IT FEELS TO FLY.

You Seem to Float, Yet the Wind Roars in Your Ears.

All who have had the good fortune to ride in the aerodrome unite in their description of that first sensation. There is no jerk in starting, though the machine leaps forward with a powerful swoop. Then comes—with some—a brief sense of nausea, a feeling as if the blurred ground were dropping away from beneath.

A slight thrust of the left hand lever lifts the flyer's head, the ground drops away still faster, and then as the machine climbs into the air one's eyes adiust themselves to the proper focus and the flyer's head, the ground drops away still faster, and then as the machine elimbs into the air one's eyes adiust themselves to the proper focus and the flyer's head, the ground drops away still faster, and then as the machine climbs into the air one's eyes adiust themselves to the proper focus and the flyer of the wind in your ears and the slight difficulty you have in filling your lungs with air, the same sensation. There is no jerk in racing against the wind in an auto.

Then comes the first turn. The machine rises to it, taking its own angle sideways, just as a motor car leans on the banked curve of a racing racing track, You have no sense of leaning sideways, though—no feeling that yourself as you do when the auto turns a corner, for you sit upright, the aero-drome slanting of its own volition to the necessary angle and slanting you with it. A glass of water set on the flyer could be carried. the necessary angle and slanting with it. A glass of water set on floor of the flyer could be earn around curve after curve and still a lose a drop.
