Gladstone, as will be reen from his etter to Moriey, has declared that he letter to Moriey, has declared that he is unwilling to work in he interests of Home Rule, so long as Parnell is retained at the head of the Irish Party Michael Davitt, in his paper. The Laber World, has put on record his most unqualified disapproval of Parnell being longer retained in the position of leader. The Irish Members, too, by a considerable majority, have expressed themsolves in favor of his resignation, and late Irish advices in form us that the Irish bishops, as was natural to expect, were unanimous in their aginion that no mount restricts the leadership.

At the same time, the intelligence is flashed ecross the Atlantic that Parnellineists on retaining his position and leading the party he has created labors or the last wenty years may be lest; for the cause which the hierarchy, clergy, and people of Ireland hold dearest, cannot prosper under the leadership of an impure man.

It uppears to me desirable, for the increased contentment and dimination of political disturbances throughout Ireland to take measures for augmenting the number of owners engaged in actual cultivation on the land. A measure having this object in fire will be laid before you.

Proposals will again be submitted to you for remedying the difficulties which have arisen from indirect incidence of the tiths ent charge on land in England and Wales. A measure will be submitted for facilitating the transaction in Scotland and freland of the more important stages of countries.

Your attention will be invited to the expediency of alleviating the burdens which the law of compulsory education has, within recent years, imposed upon the poorer portion of my people.

There are several other matters upon which legislation is desirable, but recent uxperience has rendered it doubtful whether the time at your disposal will, in your judgment, be sufficient for consideration of many subjects of an important character beyond which I have referred. In case time for further legislation should be found, I have directed the preparation of bills for enactment of a reform system of county government in Ireland, analogous to that put in operation for Great Britain; for the establishment of district councils for the extension of facilities for purchasing small parcels of land in Great Britain; for amending the law in respect to compensation payable by employers in case of injury to persons in their employment; for consolidating and amending the laws relating to public health; for the appointment of public trustees; and for increasing the security of friendly securities and

In the discharge of the arducus duties usingsed you I commend you to the guidance of Alevighty God.

On Thursday Balfour introduced the frish Land Bill in the House of Commons. He said the Government's policy was the same as in the bill of 1898. One variation of the present bill from that of last year was that it was in some degree of fr. Paprelll's views.

Mr. Parnell had suggested that the privilege of purchase be confined to tennies whose holdings were under £50 valuation. Though he (Balfour) could not accept except the limitation he had altered the scope of the bill by excluding all purely graing farms and farms whose benants did not reside on them. Among other changes embodied in the new bill one had reference to the objection taken at the last season to all gradually, registrating developments at limits the first trusting the season to fall gradually, registrating development to the wind abated, and the thermometer began to fall gradually, registrating development of the wind abated, and the thermometer began to fall gradually, registrating development of the wind abated, and the thermometer began to fall gradually, registrating development of the wind abated, and the thermometer began to fall gradually, registrating and their contents at the same as in the bill of 1898.
