E. Wand Bascomb, Perth.—The annual meeting of the pews and sale seats of Presbyterian Church, Brockville, took place on Monday evening in the church edifice. The meeting was a most harmonious one throughout. The rent last year was $2200, this year $400, which, added to the new rent, makes the largest total payment for the year for one year $520. A large number of pews were sold at premiums ranging from $200 to $376, and the bids were at the same liberal figure throughout.

On Monday James Bygraves was tried at the Liverpool Sessions for having maliciously wounded Ellen Higginbotham wife of a dock labourer. While she was scouring and his wife were in a house in Mile Jane Square took place between the prosecutor and the prisoner's wife sent to separate her husband from the prisoner, who butted one of her fingers off in the first join. The jury found the prisoner guilty, and he was sentenced to 12 months hard labor.

Early yesterday morning one Louis Lassegue dit Sanschagrin, a baker, residing in St Nicholas Tollentine street, and who had been working in his bakery all the previous night, suddenly exclaimed, "I am going to be seized with my sickness again," then laid himself down on his bakery table, and immediately expired. His death is supposed to have been caused by disease of the heart.—He leaves a widow and two children, the youngest only seven weeks old.

A correspondent of the Boston Journal says that Hood's supply gave out after the battle at Franklin, and he was obliged to send back a train to Florence to replenish. That was the cause of his delay in attacking Nashville—fortunately for us, as it allowed time to stren ithen. In the former siege of Nashville, at Stone river, our army of 35,000 men used 27,000,000 rounds of cartridges and 22,000 of artillery.

One murderer gave us the word "burke;" a second appears likely to add to the vocabulary of trade. In a small shop in Chelsea, England, may be seen the following tasteful announcement:—"Hats mulled here!"

A Rouen paper reports, on the authority of a letter from Caen, a very extraordinary discovery made on an estate in the Forest of Cinglais. There are many fine old Druid oaks in that forest, and one of them being very much decayed, was felled. The trunk being split, was found to contain the body of a man which turned to powder on being touched. The remains of a lance or javelin was found at its side, the iron head alone bearing exposure. The people of the district have been greatly puzzled by the discovery, though local antiquaries think that the body must have been that of one of the companions of Rollon, the chief of the Northern men who first invaded Neustria. How it got into the heart of the pine tree is however as great a mystery to them as the apple in the dumpling was to George the Third.

Message for the Young

PUBLISHED MONTHLY,

AT TORONTO.

To Sabbath-School Superintendents.

WE make an earnest appeal to all interested in the welfare of Sabbath Schools and of the young generally, to assist us in the effort we now make to bring out a really first-class illustrated Canadian paper for their use. We guarantee that, as soon as we shall be assured of the present encouragement to go on making improvements in all departments. The interest our Sabbath School papers enjoyed in causing a similar paper, which has now attained a large circulation, will be given with even more than its former zeal to supply a needful and hitherto much-felt want. It will have the advantage over others of being adapted to the Canadian youth, and, as there is no postage on any newspapers when published within the Province, it will be cheaper than if published either in the United States or Great Britain.
