The First Raise.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

Tell me what a man does with his first raise," a successful financier used to say to me, "and I will tell you if he has any chance of becoming a rich man."

The other day I happened to be present at the family council of a certain young couple when the husband announced that he had just received a raise of ten dollars a month.

The little wife, who is a enthusiastic young person, clapped her hands like a child and cried, "Oh Frederick, then we can have that nice apartment we wanted. That was just ten dollars a month more. I'll go around to-morrow and see if it is still vacant. Oh, say we may."

At this prompt disposal of his hard-earned raise, Frederick, who is the common sense of the partnership, looked a trifle dubious, but the enthusiastic little person was ready for him with a dozen advantages such as that the kitchen was cooler and more convenient.

Now I have sometimes heard these same young people bewail the fact that, although they realized the need of saving for a rainy day, they needed every cent of his salary to live on. Whether that was strictly true or not is an open question, but there is no question but that if they did live on that up to the time of the raise, they could have continued to live on that or a very little more afterwards, and could have saved at least a part of that raise.

Now what does a raise mean to you young people who are receiving your first advance in salary?

Does it mean the possession of some hitherto unattainable luxury?

Does it mean that you won't have to look after the nickels and dimes so closely in the future?

Or does it mean at least some increase in saving power?

A young business woman who in the past six years has worked up from ten to twenty dollars a week told me she found it just as hard to save on twenty as she did on ten, and that altogether she had not saved over a hundred dollars. Undoubtedly that girl had regarded each raise as an enlargement of her spending power.

Another girl who has worked about the same time and never earned more than eighteen dollars a week has saved nearly a thousand dollars. "Each time I was advanced in salary," she said, "I saved half the raise. You see, I reckoned that if I could live on eight dollars a week I could certainly live on nine even if my salary had been raised to ten."

Now there are, to be sure, many people who can never enjoy the present because they are always saving and scrimping to an unnecessary degree for the future.

That, I think, is the very worst kind of extravagance, because it means wasting a perfectly good present for the sake of a future that may never come.

But between these two extremes, there is, as always, a mean. And this time it is a golden mean in more than one sense.

WOMAN'S TRIALS.

The burdens a woman has to carry through life are many but they can be lightened if she will turn to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. A soothing and strengthening service—subduing nervous excitability, prostration, hysteria, hot flashes and the many symptoms which may be caused by distressing life peculiar to women. For those "dragging-down" pains or distress and for the derangements and irregularities the "Favorite Prescription" has had many thousands of testimonials from people living in every part of America. Another important thing to every woman is that this medicine is made from efficient medicinal roots, without the use of alcohol, narcotics, or any injurious agents. Full list of ingredients given on bottle-wrapper and sworn to by Dr. R. V. Pierce—who is President of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Every woman is invited to write to this Institute and receive confidential and sound medical advice, entirely without cost from one who makes the diseases of women his specialty.

Mrs. Morrill.

"I can cheerfully recommend your remedies, especially your 'Favorite Prescription,' for all female disorders," writes Mrs. M. M. MORRILL, of Bluff City, Tenn., Route 2. "During the past seven years I suffered from pains in the back and ovaries. Tried many remedies but found only transient relief until I was persuaded by a friend to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. After giving this remedy a fair trial, I found that it would do just what it is recommended to do. I used in all seven bottles. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Pierce's remedies for all female derangements."

Fads and Fashions.

The new model show skirts of flowered silk with overdrapery of voile de soie in a harmonizing color.

Everywhere one sees hats trimmed with big, loose bows of wide, stiff, white ribbon, usually grosgrain.

For younger girls and women nothing is better for seashore or mountain wear than the white serge Norfolk suit.

Any daintier pair of evening slippers looks the prettier for a set of iridescent enamel buckles in a matching color.

Felt and straw mixed hats are attractive for seashore wear. They are flexible and can be trimmed and turned at any angle.

The blouses of bright-colored plum or tartan silk, veiled with chiffon or marquisette, are a pleasant change for autumn.

Dresses of ribbed shot eponge velvet are fashionably made in simple princess style and having a sash of contrasting color.

The corduroy outing coat, in all the new shades, is practical and fashionable for seashore and mountain as well as motor wear.

The cutaway coats in black and colored taffeta are worn over white lace gowns. It is the revival of a style of a few seasons ago.

A cream lace dress, worn with grass-green taffeta habit-like coat, fastened round the waist by a black, patent leather girdle, is chic.

Some of the fancier hats for children are faced with chiffon, lace or soft silk. Napoleons and plain sailor hats are also very good style.

Tweed hats for early fall are being made of two-toned tweed without lining or facings of any kind, the edges being bound with silk braid.

Piquant and practical little outing hats are made of Terry or Turkish toweling. They may be all white and black, made with fichu of lace and black sash, is very charming and different.

For the coming season children's washable dresses will be much in demand. For dressy wear all white is favored, pique, linen and rep being the materials preferred.

A fad of the moment is the wearing of bracelets on the upper part of the arm. These bracelets are also worn for day beneath net and muslin transparent sleeves.

Large hats are regaining popularity, especially the flat, broad-brimmed style. They are trimmed with layers of tulle, piped with silk, resembling a huge tulle flower.

Rose and lace are the favorite midsummer fashion, the lace as a trimming at the hem or draping the white mouseline de soie dress and the roses in the hat and at the belt.

Among the smartest tailored suits is the Robespierre, which takes its name largely from the standing collar, reaching only to the shoulder seam. The collar is frequently made of tulle or brocade material.

Maline is one of the most popular trimpings for millinery at this time. Entire shapes are made of it, and often forms the crown or brim in combination with other materials—

On Second Thought.

BY JAY E. HOUSE.

A country woman's idea of shiftlessness is to trade a cow for a cottage organ.

Here is another inviolable rule: No poor man can afford daughters.

It was Peter Sharp who discovered that two women can not live peacefully in the same house. Had Mr. Sharp pursued his investigations a little further he would have discovered that it is extremely difficult for two women to live peacefully in the same neighborhood.

Harry Lauder complains that the English managers to whom he is under contract take $400 from him every week. How would you enjoy being subjected to a surgical operation every Saturday night?

If a candidate for Vice President has money he is considered satisfactory.

If you cry "wolf" too often no rescuing party will be organized when the wolf finally appears.

The decisions of the umpire always are interesting. One eminent Chicago authority says one kidney is enough for anybody.

Gutzon Borglum says this country should spend more money for sculpture. As you may already have suspected, Mr. Borglum is a sculptor and is looking for commissions.

Probably the most painful process is that of a man engaged in an attempt to sing The Star Spangled Banner.

FOR THE BLIND.

A carpenter hung a box outside his workshop with "For the blind" printed on it.

Several passers-by put money in it, and everything went smooth till, at the expiration of three weeks, a lady contributor who was passing noticed that the box was no longer hanging out, and so she queried:

"Well, Mr. Carpenter, I see you have taken your box away."

"Yes," said Mr. Carpenter; "I got enough, thank you."

"Got enough?" asked the lady, in surprise.

"Yes," said Mr. Carpenter. "How do you like it?"—as he pulled down the new blind on the workshop window.

A BROKEN-DOWN SYSTEM.

This is a condition (or disease) to which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. It is simply weakness—a broken-down, as it were, of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its causes (for they are almost numberless), its symptoms are much the same: the more prominent being sleeplessness, sense of prostration or weariness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary affairs of life. Now, what alone is absolutely essential in all such cases is increased vitality—vigour.

VITAL STRENGTH & ENERGY to throw off these morbid feelings, and experience proves that as night succeeds the day this may be more certainly secured by a course of the celebrated life-reviving tonic than by any other known combination. So sure as it is taken in accordance with the printed directions accompanying it, will the shattered health be restored.

THE EXPIRING LAMP OF LIFE

LIGHTED UP AFRESH, and a new existence inaugurated in place of what had so lately seemed worn-out, "used up," and valueless. This wonderful medicament is purely vegetable and innocuous, is agreeable to the taste—suitable for all constitutions and conditions, in either sex, and it is difficult to imagine a case of disease or derangement, whose main features are those of debility, that will not be speedily and permanently benefited by this never-failing recuperative essence, which is destined to cast into oblivion everything that had preceded it in this wide-spread and numerous class of human ailments.

THERAPION is sold by Chemists throughout the world. Price in England, 2/6 and 4/6.
