The Universal Language.

By RUTH CAMERON.

A few weeks ago I happened to be in the room where a man was talking to one of his woman friends over the telephone. She was not a woman whom he had long known, nor was his name linked with hers in the talk of the day, but the moment I hear him speak to her I said to myself, "That's the woman he is going to marry—if she will let him."

This morning I received the cards announcing their engagement. What did the man say over the telephone? Nothing but the merest commonplace, but he said them in a tone which gave the secret away.

What wonderful things one's tones and facial expressions are, to be sure! They are the universal language. A smile or a frown is understood the world over. A friendly or unfriendly tone of voice carries its message with infallible accuracy though the hearer understands not one word of what is said. A little baby comprehends this universal language long before he knows one word from another, and isn't it wonderful when you come to think of it that as soon as a baby takes any notice at all he responds to a smile? Who taught him the meaning of that particular facial contraction? Why doesn't he coo and laugh when you frown at him? That is, if anyone ever does frown at a baby?

This universal language is also the language of truth. Anyone can lie with words. Lying with tone and expression is infinitely harder.

Weariness, impatience, nervous ten-

Open Air Rinks for City Schools.

Calgary, Nov. 21.—That every public school in Calgary having more than eight rooms should be provided with two open air skating rinks one for boys and one for girls, is the decision of the playgrounds committee of the board of education of this city.

The board has gone extensively into the playgrounds business and the rinks are in charge of a supervisor who arranges for some teacher to take charge of the playgrounds connected with each school after the hours of study. The plan is one designed to keep the children off the streets between the time they leave school and the supper hour. The committee is starting to deal with this problem for the winter months, decided that establishment of skating rinks would be the best way to get around the difficulty.

Thinks Captain Should Follow Weather Wisdom.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—The first of a series of investigations into the lake disasters will be begun by Captain Lindsay, Wreck Commissioner, at Kingston, to-morrow. It will deal with the loss of the Turret Chief, an English-built vessel, which stranded on Lake Superior, the crew wading ashore.

Discussing the criticism directed against captains for going out in the face of storm signals and the degree to which this could be regarded as negligence, Captain Lindsay stated that if a skipper did not know enough

12 Tumors Removed Without An Operation

Silver Lake, Ont., Sept. 20, 1908.
 Dear Mrs. Currah.—I am enjoying better health than I have for eight years, and I think I am entirely cured. I have none of the old symptoms. I am very grateful for my present health, and think Orange Lily is the greatest treatment for women. The world knows the use in my case caused 12 tumors or growths of some sort to be expelled. Some were as large as a hen's egg, and others smaller, down to the size of a walnut. You may use my case in your advertisement for it in the future. The truth is, and I cannot describe all the good it has done for me. Mrs. Louise E. Bolte-ridge.

This letter gives an indication of the positive benefits that always follow the use of Orange Lily. It is an applied treatment and comes in direct contact with the entire organism. It produces results from the start in all cases of women's disorders, including painful periods, falling womb, irregularities, leucorrhoea, etc. I will send a sample box containing 10 days' treatment absolutely free to any suffering woman who has not yet tried it. If she will send no bar address. Enclose 4 stamps and address MRS. FRANCES E. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

"Humanity" Writes

Some Suggestions Worthy of Consideration.—Care of the Poor, &c.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—The sad death of the man and woman who died last week under conditions that surely must cause blame to rest somewhere has set me thinking and has brought to my mind the subject of a letter written by me for your paper a year ago, and kindly published by you. That letter drew attention to what seemed then and is now proven to be, a crying shame, nay more, a disgrace to any community. I refer to the practice followed here, and possibly in many other places in the island, of placing old people who have become a burden on the Colony in the home of another dependent, often a pauper, where they are supposed to be looked after and receive a certain sum, said to be in the neighborhood of $2 a month is paid for the board and lodging of each.

How on earth can one poor person who is depending on the miserable pittance allowed by Government be expected to feed, clothe and attend to another poor person sick and helpless for that sum? Is it not clear that the greatest poverty, misery, etc., must exist there? The duty of finding a home for these old and unfortunate ones rests, I suppose, with the Relieving Officer, who is held responsible for the amount agreed to be given. How many cold days or nights will the Relieving Officer visit these homes and see for himself how these poor unfortunates are clothed and fed, and go further and ask to be shown the sleeping chamber of the poor who are really under his care, and who is responsible if through hunger and cold they pass into the other and no doubt a better world?

The same thoughts and questions hold good when speaking of a little bundle of humanity occasionally ushered into the world under sad circumstances. It is considered and is a burden on the Colony. But who can tell the possibilities that lie before it, if given a chance to live and be helped to develop itself. But the poor little thing must be found a home, and that duty falls on the Relieving Officer. I have heard of cases where a child was placed by that officer in a home where there was a great lack of food, dirt and neglect. The sum of $2 a month was paid, but how could that old woman do for that little infant as it should be done for—clothed, fed and looked after for the sum of $2 a month. How often does the Relieving Officer visit the home, see the clothes, food and sleeping place of that little human being. What provision is made a few years after for its schooling. Is it not destined to be always a burden on the Colony? A law in force to have such children transferred to the happy land just as soon as they arrive here, would seem to many to be cruel, but to the mind of the writer the present practice of putting them out in miserable homes, to be in many cases brought up in squalor and misery, with all prospects of leading a better life far worse. We know of cases where these poor little things are well cared for, as they should be even for the small amount paid, but they are few.

The only remedy I can see is to give the Relieving Officer a larger salary and make it incumbent on him to visit the old and young who are thus put out to keep, and if they are not properly looked after to find their homes for them and to lay the blame to him when people who are known to be in distress are found dead, as the old couple were last week.

Yours, &c.
 HUMANITY.
 Hr. Grace, Nov. 25, 1912.

last twenty years. It has a dozen stores, varying in size from 10 to 100 acres. It has sidewalks 30 feet wide, and usually two layers deep with humanity. State street pedestrians are geared higher than any others on earth, and the guileless foreigner who attempts to participate in the double track marathon race always in progress on its walks retires after a few blocks with skinned heels and a bruised disposition.

State street is twenty miles at the least calculation, but tourists are not supposed to bother with more than a mile of it. For one mile State street is a humming, buzzing, roaring cavern, with a jagged and glittering sky line and show windows filled with the luxuries of five continents lining its walks. The other nineteen miles are, like Front street, Podunk, considerably strung out. With the aid of an automobile fitted with wings, a man might navigate the street from end to end, but he could employ his time more profitably, no matter what he did with it.

Bishopric Wall Board.

BEATS LATHS AND PLASTER. MADE TO LAST.

Bishopric Wall Board is made by imbedding kiln-dried dressed lath in hot Asphalt-Mastic, under a pressure of 500 lbs. to the square inch. The other side of the Asphalt-Mastic is surfaced with smooth, heavy sized cardboard.

COSTS LESS.
 Bishopric Wall Board saves 75 per cent. of the labor cost and about a month's time in finishing walls and ceilings. With it there is none of that expense for repairs and re-decorating that you incur so often when plaster cracks or falls.

 The layer of Asphalt-Mastic in which the laths are embedded is absolutely air-tight and damp-proof. It blocks all drafts, and keeps the inside of the house dry, warm and cosy.

 These pests find it impossible to gnaw or bore through the tough, gummy Asphalt-Mastic.

EASILY DECORATED.
 Bishopric Wall Board is surfaced with heavy sized cardboard, which forms the ideal surface for Wall Paper or Burlap. Artistic paneling adds to its attractiveness.

THE ONLY WALL BOARD MADE WITH LATH.

Goodyear Glove RUBBERS!

A Billion Dollars Lost Each Year. Dry Feet Could Save The Most of it.

The International Congress on Tuberculosis that met in Washington last winter discussed the financial side of consumption as well as its medical aspect. Prof. Faber, Professor of Political Economy at Yale, made the statement that tuberculosis cost the United States a billion dollars a year. He based his figures on the cost of doctors' fees, medicines, nurses, etc., and added the loss of earnings during the patient's period of sickness. He went into the question in great detail, and nobody disputed his figures.

A billion dollars every twelve months! That's a stupendous national loss, and all the doctors agree that this disease could soon be stamped out as effectively as yellow fever and cholera have been. There are four very simple things that will prevent consumption. Pure air, wholesome food, cleanliness and avoidance of cold. —AND THE RUBBER WAY TO AVOID COLD, ESPECIALLY IN WINTER, IS TO KEEP THE FEET DRY.

There were 100,000 deaths from tuberculosis in the United States last year. Probably one-half of those unfortunate people would have been alive and well today if they had taken so simple a precaution as putting on a pair of rubbers every time they went out into the rain or snow.
