The Abnormal Development of the GIRAFFE is remarkable, but the abnormal development of the demand for SUNLIGHT SOAP is still more remarkable. It is not known how many people have never seen a Giraffe, but it is known that there are millions and millions of careful house-wives all over the world using

SUNLIGHT SOAP.

These housewives no longer dread the advent of wash-day, for, with SUNLIGHT SOAP as their ally, they are assured of a quick despatch of all dirt and uncleanness. SUNLIGHT SOAP saves your clothes.

"Light the Fuses."

Stirring Story of French Soldier's Heroism, Who Held the Germans at Bay.

The story of a nameless hero who faced certain death with words of encouragement to his comrades on his lips, is told in the "Intransigent" of Paris. "The Wrestler," as he was called, was a soldier of fortune with the soul of a gypsy. Born in the Jura Mountains, he was a poacher and smuggler in peace time, while as a distraction he visited the local fairs and tried his strength with the strong man in the show. Tall and broad-shouldered, with the strength of a lion, he was seldom worsted. In his regiment he showed himself taciturn, but earned the approbation of his chiefs by his tireless energy and devotion to duty.

One morning, while the French were preparing to explode a series of mines, a curious noise was heard in the trench in which "The Wrestler" was posted. It was soon found that a German sap led right into the redoubt from which the Bickford fuses were laid. A few blows with picks and hammers quickly demolished the thin partition separating the sap from the redoubt, and the next moment a number of the enemy, some armed with revolvers and others with sapling tools, swarmed into the redoubt. Then ensued a terrible subterranean combat.

"The Wrestler," armed with a pickaxe, swung it round and round, dealing destruction on all hands, while the Germans vainly tried to reach the fuses to render them useless. The French were greatly outnumbered, and "The Wrestler," noticing this, cried out: "Light the fuses and run! I'll keep them back."

A non-commissioned officer lit one of the fuses. "Come on," he said to "The Wrestler," "you had better run, too." But the ex-poacher stood his ground, holding back the enemy while the officer continued to light the fuses. Finally he was brought down, as the last Frenchman evacuated the redoubt, and the Germans trampled his body underfoot in rushing to extinguish the fuses.

But it was too late. There was a deafening roar, the earth opened, and every man of the enemy was engulfed. When the French returned to the position they found the torn and mutilated body of "The Wrestler" lying among his victims. He had died a simple hero when escape was open to him, and he was buried with military honors, surrounded by his comrades.

Pains In the Side, Chest, or Back

Aching Muscles Cured Quickly

Even Doctors Marvel at the Penetrating Power of Good Old "Nervine."

Pains anywhere—in the chest, neck, side, back or muscles—they are always a discomfort.

If the inflammation is severe, the pain will be intense. If allowed to continue, complications will follow.

Physicians say one of the best remedies is "Nervine"—it can't help curing, because it penetrates through the sore tissues, carrying healing properties that destroy every symptom of pain.

In cases of colds, sore chest and pleurisy, there should be a good hand-rubbing with Nervine, and, of course, prevent the trouble coming back. It is advisable to put on a Nervine Plaster, which, by absorption through the skin draws out all congestion.

For general household use, for curing the ailments of the young and old, for destroying all pain, outward or inward, nothing can excel Nervine; thousands testify to this effect.

For nearly forty years Nervine has been a renowned and trusted remedy in thousands of homes where practically no medicine is needed.

Nervine is safe to use. For children's coughs, colds and sore throat nothing can be used with more certain results.

Get the large 50c. family size bottle to-day. It is more economical than the 25 cent trial size, and is sure to keep down the doctor's bill and cure a host of minor ills that arise in every household.

All dealers sell Nervine.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

"Will you please tell me if it is proper to pick asparagus up in the fingers, to eat it?" asked Will.

"Asparagus is not taken up in the fingers. All that is edible of the stalk can be cut from it with a fork," said her father with a smile.

Swedish

Seaman's "Joke".

Sentence of Four Years' Penal Servitude.

Before Mr. Justice Horridge, at the Lincolnshire Assizes yesterday, a Swede named Ernst Gustav Walde-mar Olsson, 31, seaman, was charged with having on March 23 attempted to obtain information of the disposition of His Majesty's naval and military forces and of the defences of the Humber, which was calculated to be useful to the enemy.

Mr. Hugo Young, K.C., and Mr. Disney prosecuted for the Crown; and Mr. C. E. Dyer defended.

Mr. Young said that on September 5th the prisoner joined a British ship and after a voyage to New York returned to England on October 17, leaving for Rotterdam on November 8. Afterwards he joined a small vessel, the Zeeland, as first mate. This vessel carried cargo between Grimsby and Rotterdam. The prisoner knew another Swede, Eric Napoleon Erander, a marine store dealer at Grimsby. Counsel outlined certain conversations the prisoner had with Erander, and went on to say that when arrested, among other things, the prisoner had on him a diary and an electric flashlight.

Erander, giving evidence, said that on March 16 the prisoner said he had some German friends in Rotterdam and they wanted information about the naval and military forces at Grimsby. He asked the witness if he could, or would, give him any information. The witness said he would not. On the 23rd the prisoner again asked if the witness had thought the matter over, adding that he could take any letters to his friends in Rotterdam and that there would be plenty of money in it. The witness replied that he had been in Grimsby 15 years and had always been treated as a man, and it would be the very last thing he would do. A fortnight later the witness again saw the prisoner, who said his German friends were very fine men—some were masters of big German liners lying at Rotterdam. They told him that Great Britain would shortly get a great surprise. There were 130 or 170 Zeppelins ready to come over to England. The prisoner added that he had a chance of an appointment on a German submarine on the east coast of England, or a small craft to lie in the North Sea with petrol and provisions for German submarines.

In cross-examination the witness emphatically denied that what the prisoner said was said jokingly. Detective Fred Kitchener gave evidence of the arrest of the prisoner and of searching him and his cabin. He found some cards, two diaries, a photograph of a Rotterdam cafe, and an electric flashlight.

A discussion took place as to the right to cross-examine on the contents of one card. Mr. Hugo Young considered such cross-examination would be prejudicial to the national interests and eventually declined to give any evidence on the card.

Other evidence having been given for the prosecution.

Olsson, giving evidence on his own behalf, denied the accuracy of the translations of his own conversations with Erander, which took place in Swedish. He swore he never asked for any naval or military information. He had simply described an incident at a Rotterdam cafe, which he had treated as a joke.

The prisoner was found guilty and sentenced to four-years' penal servitude.—The Times.

Defy Dyspepsia!

Among the symptoms of Dyspepsia or Indigestion may be mentioned a heavy, cutting pain soon after eating; a distended, full feeling of the stomach and bowels; belching of wind and flatulence; a burning sensation in the stomach, which indicates acidity; heartburn; palpitation of the heart; oppression of breathing; pain under the ribs and shoulder-blades; headache through the temples and eyes; dizziness, coated tongue and constipation; sometimes nausea or vomiting.

Abbey's Effervescent Salt is the natural specific for all these conditions. Being an antacid, it immediately relieves the acidity of the stomach and stops the fermentation. It stimulates the secretion and muscular action of the stomach and bowels, and overcomes the constipation. When its use is kept up the normal action of all the organs of digestion is re-established.

LAND O' DREAMS.

It's over the mountains, a million miles, it's over the misty sea, it's off at the end of the forest aisles—it's ne'er where we chance to be. O u r homes are gay with the rose and rhyme and the grass is bright with dew, but we always think of a far-off clime, as the land where the dreams come true. The young man frets in his native ditch, and pines for a place afar; if he stays at home he can never hitch his cart to a rising star. He hears the travellers warmly speak of wonderful things they knew, and he wanders off in the dawn to seek the land where the dreams come true. After many years, when he's bent and old, he totters on feeble limbs, to lay him down in the old home fold, and die to the sound of hymns. His head was gray ere he learned the truth, the truth that is old and new, that home's the fulfilment of dreams of youth—the place where our dreams come true.

What Are You Doing for that Eczema?

"Nothing; I've about given up trying to cure it."

There Was a Food Famine.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—I want to contradict a statement made by Capt. A. Kean, which appeared in the Evening Telegram June 26th: "There is no destitution, nothing worse than a tobacco famine." When Capt. Kean arrived at Hr. Deep, there was only ¼ of a brl. flour and that amount was owned by Mr. Morgan, and he was relieving the hunger by letting them have a few pounds each day for to eat with herring. I can vouch and the teacher at Hr. Deep will bear me out that for three months this spring the people of Hr. Deep were living absolutely on dry bread and drinking the unsweetened liquid of boiled spruce and further, when Capt. Kean arrived at Hr. Deep, June 21st, there were 3 families living utterly on herring. Is not that destitution? If Dr. Grenfell did not arrive at Hr. Deep when he did, I am sure that there would have been many a corpse to witness what I am saying is true. "Nothing more than a tobacco famine!" If that was all the people of Hr. Deep were short, they could easily dispense with tobacco. But there are many women and children at Hr. Deep who have realized this past spring that food famine is far sharper than tobacco famine. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space.
