

I.S. Retain Championship.

Star Defeated in Play-off Game.

For the second year the I.S. have gained top place in the League Football series, and the trophy for another year, will remain in their possession. The Star put up a plucky fight last evening, but were outclassed from the beginning, and were beaten by 4 goals to nil.

The ground was in a very slippery condition, and with the strong Southwest wind which was blowing, conditions were not conducive to a good exhibition of football. Despite all this, however, some very fine play was seen on the part of the Star.

The Star played with the wind during the first half, but although they continually pressed their opponents, the Irish defence proved impenetrable and, occasionally, their forwards would break through in face of the wall which greatly hampered their progress. Combination, the key-note of success in football, was the feature of their play. Shortly before half time, the I.S. got clean through in a mix-up in front of the Star goal. I. Phelan netted the ball for the first score of the half. In the second half the I.S. managed to prevent the Star from getting through, whilst they, on the other hand, contrived to penetrate their opponents' defence, after minutes play, H. Phelan scoring a goal by Callahan. When the whistle went the score remained in the favour of the Irish. The I.S. have well deserved the championship for their consistently good, clean play throughout the season, and Captain and his merry men deserve every congratulation. The longest and most successful season in the history of the Football League has now come to an end, but whilst it is good, indeed, to see such interest revived in the old game, it would be well to have some arrangements whereby all games will be made interesting and a weak team will not have to play as a walk-over by a stronger team. The only way to avoid monotonous games such as these, is to divide the League into two divisions, competing the stronger teams and the weaker teams respectively. By this means, the weaker teams will receive more encouragement, all the games will become more interesting, and a greater number of players will be given an opportunity to try out in league football. The least that the Football League could do would be to discuss the matter at a meeting especially called for the purpose. In the meantime, to all the League of Irish and to Mr. Ern Churchill, the official referee, who carried out his duties in a most satisfactory manner, the Telegram extends its congratulations, and no matter under whatever system the games will be played under next year, it is to be hoped that the season will not be any less successful than this one has been.

Suspects Discharged.

ROBBERY STILL UNSOLVED.

The young lads, Smith and Maher, who had been on remand several days, charged with the robbery of the Nfld. Co., yesterday afternoon appeared before Judge Morris and were discharged. There was insufficient evidence to convict the accused who seem to have been victims of circumstance. The two boys had met on the South Side Hills during the morning of the safe robbery, and were making their way towards the bank box near St. Mary's Church, when they examined the contents, and took two of the company's receipt books, whilst Maher took a book which was in the box. Later in the morning, they volunteered the information which led to the finding of the safe. The description of the burglars, as given by Watchman Harvey, did not coincide with that of the accused.

Sebastopol From Labrador.

S.S. Sebastopol, Capt. W. H. Bartlett, arrived in port at 5.30 p.m. yesterday from Labrador. The ship met the weather on the round trip and made all ports of call, one of these being St. John's, where supplies for the recent fire there, the church, school house and stores were completely destroyed, but the residents were not short of food, and have sufficient to tide them over the winter. An inquiry into the cause of the fire has been held, but its origin is unknown. It is understood the property was partly covered by insurance with English firms. The Sebastopol returned having practically finished her cargo in a few places, and are still being caught. The weather for making has not been very favourable and a number of schooners are waiting for their cargoes to be made up.

Mr. Ayre Replies.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir—Two wrongs do not make a right. Ever since my acquaintance with Mr. Whitty, which began with the Unemployed Workers' Demonstration, I recognized his outstanding ability as a leader. That was shown in the masterly way he marshalled his men, kept them together, so eloquently addressed them and the House of Assembly. Now he looms forth in a new character, as a historian, and despite the fact that, in my opinion, he is all wrong, he would almost convince anyone that he is right. He instances many occasions when the pink, white and green colours were used and quotes poetry to uphold his contention, but all these instances do not, in any way prove the fact for which he is contending, namely, that pink, white and green are the colours of Newfoundland.

There were many poets, writers and speakers who, in days gone by, eloquently maintained that the world was flat. We now know that it is not. There were many, even clergy men, who contended that slavery was right. We now believe they were wrong. So with the pink, white and green. Many contend they are the colours of Newfoundland. Are they right? What authority have they for such an assertion. When John Cabot, on the 24th of June, 1497, discovered Newfoundland, he certainly did not have the pink, white and green flag. That flag must have had a beginning. Possibly Mr. Whitty could give us the date and the circumstances of its origin. Has this flag ever been accepted by the people as a whole? Do the people of the north recognize it as their flag? If not, who does? Having whetted our curiosity, I hope my friend, Mr. Whitty, will not lay down the pen he uses so fluently. He must be acquainted with the facts. Let him tell us them.

As regards Bell running under the pink, white and green colours, it is only natural that Bell will take his instructions from where he takes his money, namely The National Sports Committee.

Yours sincerely,

GEO. W. B. AYRE
