Meanwhile her little sons are staying in England with their governess, the widow of an English officet.

The Queen's Health.

London, Aug. 23.—Queen Victoria has been affected by the weather as in no former summer. She has passed hours trying to find in the summer house in the Osborne Park relief from the heat. Punkas and other tropical appliances for cooling the air have been in constant use around her. In the evening she has driven in the most densely shaded parts of the grounds. Although, apparently, she has suffered no decline of her general health, her physicians advise that she should go to Balmoral for a change of air as soon as possible. LONDON, Aug 23 .- Queen Victoria has

BERLIN, Aug. 23 .- Duke Ernest, of Berlin, Aug. 23.—Duke Ernest, of Saxe-Wurtemburg, died last night at his castle at Reinandsbrunn in Cobourg.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The death of the duke will bring to the throne of the duchy the Duke of Edinburgh, who will thence become one of the princes of the German Empire having a vote in the Imperial Council. Duke Ernst was the ruler of an insignificant realm, but as such he attempted to play an important role, but with little success. In will be chiefly remembered as having been a composer of opera, the brother of Prince Albert, who was the consort of Queen Victoria, of England, and for the curious part he played in German history. He endeavored in a way the became within it to real the realm of art, have he German history. He endesyored in a way to become ruler in the realm of art, but he failed because his natural ability was too

Duke Ernst had the idea once of being the co-founder of a German empire, and there was a time when he was counted among the most popular of German princes. When in Prussia it was considered a crime to speak of German unity and a united German fatherland, he was the first of the princes, in spite of much ridicule, to give expression to the feelings of Germany at the time. He became imbured with the idea that song would carry the Germans forward in their demands for unity. He composed a maconerchorgesang, which was sung in those days all through Germany and is not forgotten even to-day. He was the first German ruler to congratulate King William on his proclamation as German Emperor.

The Duke of Edinburgh was to-day formally recognized as the ruler of the duchy. He had been spending some time in Germany, and when the conditions of Duke Ernst became critical he was notified and at once came to this city. He was at the castle of Reinhardsbrunn when his uncis died, and there to-day he took the oath of allegiance to the constitution in the presence of Emperor William and all the Ministers. The Diet will meet on Saturday for the purpose of swearing allegiance to the new ruler of the duchy. The body of Duke Ernst has been cambalmed, and it will lie in state in the castle on Friday. Qu Monday it will be removed to this city, where it will be intered in the Moritzkirche at neon.

his hannehes high. The Khan went wild with wrath, and, after several painful scenes with the Wazir, his

The Khan notified the British Government at Simla, not deficultly, but to forestall the news sure to come from friends of the Wasir's family. In a few five books, days a polite Government agent, accompanied by a stenographer and reams of official paper, appaared at Kelat, the capital of Beloochistan, set up a court of inquiry and found that the Khan, an experienced old blood-drinker, had tortured four wives to death, and mutilated and savagely destroyed scores of subjects with small excuse or no excuse except love of shricks and blood. In due time the Government agent reported that the Khan had been arrested, jailed and deposed, and that his son had been put on the throne in his stead. The Khan probably will be tried as a common murderer.

One cause of the peculiar but undoubted popularity of Efiglish rule with all classes in India is the frequent repetition of this calm, relentless punishment of bloodthirst princes. The average length of life in India is yearly raising.

It requires a good deal of ingenuity to become a successful printer. Boys with printing-presses, and ambition to develop into great printers, should remember this, and exercise their inventive qualities at and exercise their every opportunity.

A story is told of a Prague printer who got himself out of a very disagreeable dilemma by the use of his ingenious mind. He was once called upon to print a report of the Board of Trade of his native city in the two languages of the country, Gerof the Loard of Trade of his native city in the two languages of the country, German and Czech, and the representatives of either nationality strenuously desired that their tengue should occupy the first of the purallel columns on each page. The wary printer got out of his dilemma by turning one column upside down throughout the book, and arranging the titles accordingly, so that each language had a front column on every page.—[Harper's Young People.

ROYAL TEMPLARS IN CAMP. The Attendance Not as Large as Expected-Encouraging Reports Received.

Tononto, Aug. 23.—The attendance of the Royal Templars' camp at yesterday's meetings was a slight improvement on the earlier days, but still it is much smaller than in previous years, and the promoters, especially the local committees, are greatly disappointed thereat. The circumstances which militates more than any other against large meetings is the difficulty and expense of reaching the camp grounds. Yesterday was "advanced prohibition day," and the speakers were all advocates of a stern fight to the death and no day," and the speakers were all advocates of a stern fight to the death and no quarter. The keynote of the addresses throughout was no dallying with party, but a straight vote for principle no matter
