Noonan Combed For Fourteen Hits Against Nine Hits -Orme's Crew Make It 7 -- 4 For the Afternoon-London Lead Pared Down.

London dropped the first game to Orme's Brants by a score of 7—4 over at the ball yard yesterday afternoon, and to a little closer communion with the Aces.

Figures may not lie but they can be badly twisted as was proven when London got 14 hits off Johnny Noonon, while the best Johnny's friends could do was get nine from Carmen. Six of them did produce three runs in the last two frames, tis true, a shrill riot from the Friday-filled stands and the proper two frames, tis true, a shrill riot from the Friday-filled stands and the proper setting for one of the Tecs' justly famous rallies. But somebody spoiled the set when Stutz hit into a double play in the ninth.

Johnny Noonan himself made the figures look twisted by his great exhibition of control. Johnny didn't have a terrific lot on the ball, but it was where the had it that counted. The way he grooved them over, nicked the corners and generally served up the servings, pointed strongly to telescopic lens. Anyway the glasses he were yesterday made the batters look small and the plate look big.

TYRUS RAYMOND COBB.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 12—A cataract that has developed on his right eye is causing Tyrus Cobb, manager of the Detroit Tigers, little inconvenience, he said today.

It is of only recent development, Cobb says, adding that until it becomes more serious he would make no plans for its removal.

A dispatch from Boston said today that Ty planned to go to the Hub at the conclusion of the baseball season for eye treatment by a specialist of that city.

"Not so bad as that," declared the Detroit star, "As it may take six or more years for a cataract to develop to such a stage that surgical attention is necessary."

develop to such a stage that surgi-cal attention is necessary."

Members of the Cobb family have been afflicted with cataracts and it may be that the Peach may have to have his turn in having his eye operated upon for the removal of the envelope preventing the passage of the rays of light.

The next few days will determine how much longer the Maines regime is to last in the Mint. It is possible that the prexy may be able to swing along the rest of the season, but just as surely as the league closes on clos ing day, so will the Flint man's rule peter out. President Maines' first efforts for the league were along the right lines. Great credit was due him for the first year. Last year he ran amok at the world's series. He occupied two hotels. It is presumed he combed his hair in one and ate breakfast at the other. Lady umpires, a league brass band were other symptoms of approaching intoxication with power.

His stand in the Crichlow matter was another advanced symptom, but it probably remained for the meeting the other night to add the telephone post-climax. Anyway, he had the fans who heard his attempted explanations, which finally turned into admissions of mistakes that no league head should make, hanging on and asking the way home.

Inferences were made at the meeting against the president which could not be proven, and of which he probably isn't guilty. But his admissions in regard to his own judgment were the big things that condemned him Pitting his judgment in a man of DeLave's type against league-wide clamor, London fans and President Heard's fine ideals of sportsmanship, wasn't common sense any more than lady umpires and a brass band indi-averages would back up a specialist in saying that he still had at least the sight of one good eye.

Lew Tendler said he was going to appear at the promoter's offices yesterday and demand the $5,000 forfeit posted by Benny Leonard, the champ having called off the bout because of a dislocated thumb.

HAMILTON, Aug. 12.—Hamilton won both games of a double bill from Kitchener today, taking the opening I title by a 9 to 5 count, and the abbreviated session by 16 to 0. Reddy twirled good ball for the Hams in the first game, while Kitchener used two twiplers in an effort of stop the onslaught. Behan, who pitched the seven-inning affair, should have been credited with a no-hit game, but for weak efforts by Corcoran in centre field on two fly balls.

A special meeting of the directors of the Mint League has been called for Sunday in Detroit, at which the question of shortening up the season and a financial report of the league will be taken up. It is just possible that President Maines may be the subject of much discussion, owing to various actions lately. Want Season Shortened.

Hamilton desires that the season be shortened, as the ball club cannot have the use of the park after September 1. There is some dissatisfaction over the circuit over jumpy dates of the last part of the schedule, so this may end in the Hamilton request being favorably acted on.

The club owners are asking for a better condition of affairs in the conduct of the Mint League treasury

It is a generally understood thing that many of the club owners are tired of the Maines regime, and the issue may be forced at this meeting
