Insp. Copper In a lane running south from King street near Richmond, two beautiful horses may be seen any hour of the day o rnight. One is a rangy bay, the other is a fine-looking dappled gray.

Evcept for color, they make a well-matched team. They stand side by side facing the street. They are devoid of even as much harness as a halter shank, and yet they never move.

They are the kind of of horse that one time graced the winds ow harness shops and showed off the best hand-sewn, brass or nickel mounted harness that any lover of horseflesh would wish Inter. Nickel The dogs in the neighborhood are worried. They have been trying to stir up some excitement by teasing the model horses in galloping down the lane operal Soprano of the Chicago Civic Operal Company, sat weeping bitterly in her apartments here, while a score or more of private detectives scoured the Middle West in a vain search for trace of her 4-year-old son, supposedly the victim of a mysterious kidnapping. According to the singer, known to her friends as Mrs. Charles W. Bliss, wife of a wealthy realty owner of Tulsa, Okla., the boy was forcibly taken from her apartment by two well-dressed strangers during her brief absence on Friday afternoon. And to deepen the mystery, Miss Brown reported to police that coincident with the executing of the alleged kidnapping plot, her automobile was stolen from in front of the home of a friend whom she was visiting.

When the singer in her story to detectives brought in the name of her lausband, from whom she has been estranged since last July, a quick effective brought in the name of her lausband, from whom she has been estranged since last July, a quick check-up revealed that, simultaneously with the kidnapping, he had checked out of a local hotel and disappeared. Tam convinced my husband is at the bottom of all this," Miss Brown told the officers.

RECIPIENT NOT AFRAID

Expects Nothing of Alarming Nature Will Follow Letter.

Although J. Cianci took occasion to report the reception of an alleged Black Hand letter to the police on Saturday he is not taking the letter, which threatened his life if he failed to pay over a certain sum of money, seriously.

Mr. Cianci, when questioned by The Advertiser, stated that he was not worrying about the letter, and he regards it more as bluff than a threat. He states that he believes a young boy was the sender and that he did the act without realizing the serious consequences should he be caught. There is, of course, Mr. Cianci stated, a possibility that the Black Hand may have been a practical joke played on him by some of his frieds.

Police officials are inclined to the opinion that the letter is of little consequence. On previous occasions similar letters have been thoroughly investigated, but nothing of an alarming nature was ever revealed.
