The Monitor no evidence to justify the court in holding him, or to introduce evidence from San Salvador to clear himself. Seattle coal being of a soft composition before igniting was carried from the furnace cover into the smokestack, which became almost redhot, sufficient, however, to crack almost redhot, sufficient, however, to crack and peel the paint. The upper deck is of solid steel three inches thick, covered by heavy planking. The deck became so hot that the planks around the edge of the boilers charred so that they had to be removed and replaced by solid cement. The coal was also highly injurious to the boilers. The engineers say that only vessels with open described and extended and extended. to be given up. The fact is, though, that in the present condition of San Salvador it may be pretty safely laid down that almost every killing has a political object, or is the result of political action rather than of result of political action rather than of "Things take place in a country where trial the Monterey is not altogether satisfactory to her complement of officers. They claim that there are several serious defects in construction. In the first instance, Paci-fic Coast coal is not especially adapted to her boilers and when it becomes r Next Monday, Labor day, will be a national in new boilers. The draught and ventilation of the vessel is not satisfactory—it is either too hot or too cold. Although not constructguns come in for some adverse criticism.

Much apprehension prevails lest the Monitor will become an utter failure in a naval engagement. The Monterey will report at

The Monterey, while coming into the Straits Sunday morning had a narrow escape from running on the rocks at Cape Flat-terp. A gentleman from Port Townsend, where the Monterey is now at anchor, arrived in the procession bore obscene mottoes, Mr. O'Brien's speech was as much an attack upon the government as upon the House of Lords. Dr. Charles K. Tapner, member of parliament for the middle division of Cork, anti-Parmelline amphavision of Cork, anti-Parnellite, emphasized his remarks by waving a shillelah.

While flourishing the stick he asserted the House of Lords was composed of bastards. "Not all of them," he explained, "and to those not bastards I apologize."

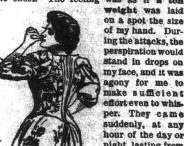

On the Thames embankment eleven platforms had been erected and it is estimated that 70,000 people were in the park. A joint resolution was adopted at the state of the lead every few feet. Suddenly she emerged from the fog bank, and direct ahead, less than 500 yards distant above the roffled sea, was a reef of treacherous boulders. The engines were quickly reversed and the big Mouitor sheered off in time to save herself from possible destruction. This story was confirmed by Capt. Keempff, who save the Mouitor was going under very slow steam, and the casting of the lead was enough precartion to have saved the ship.

vous over the adventure. THE "MARVIN'S" CRUISE ENDED. The schooner E. B. Marvin reached home and Copper islands. When off the entrance to the Straits on Thursday she spoke the schooner Wanderer, the latter being on her way home from Alaska, where she was reported to have been held seized. thirty minutes to half a day, leaving as suddenly; but, for several days after, I was quite prostrated and sore. Sometimes the attacks were almost daily, then less frequent. After about four years of this suffering. I was taken down with bilious typhoid fever, and when I began to recover, I had the worst attack of my old trouble I ever experienced. At the first of the fever, my mother gave me Ayer's Pills, my doctor recommending them as being better than anything he could prepare. I continued taking these Pills, and so great was the benefit derived that during nearly thirty years I have had but one attack of my former trouble, which yielded readily to the same remedy."
