laborers on the Canadian Pacific railway have been drinking some pretty hard stuff the past couple of years. He declared that to great deal of the whisky he sold came down from Port Arthur in tin bores packed in sugar barrels, and it was of course subject to all kinds of adulteration after reaching the north shore. High wine or alcohol was at a premium, as it was apable of standing so much Lake Superior water, with an occasional bottle or two of pain killer thrown in, to keep John Riddell skip... 11 Having a great desire to make the ascent before the dedication, I obtained a pass for myself and friends. The day was very warm and bright, but when we entered the monument a cold wave struck us, which was equal to a Winnipeg blizzard or St. John's ice water breath. The elevator, a ponderous-looking affair, would seat comfortably about twenty persons, and a little lantern hanging up in one corner saved us from the total dark one corner saved us from the total darkness. The journey up, which was accomplished in eleven minutes, produced anything but pleasant sensations.

However "uncanny" they may be they

The view that greets one upon locking out.

The view that greets one upon looking out is truly the most magnificent I have ever seen. The city with its fine buildings and beautiful parks, the winding Potomac with Virginia on one side and Maryland on the other, make as nicturesque a setting as one could ever wish to see.

At the dedication there will be appropriate exercises at the monument, chiefly by masonic bodies. After that the procession will start for the capitol and be received at the east front. At 11 o'clock the doors leading to the rotunda will be opened to those to whom invitations have been extended, and those holding tickets of admission to the floor of the house and its galleries. One of the most disgraceful affairs in the shape of a society racket took place at a ball given by Mrs. Stewart on Thursday evening. The youth and beauty of the capital had assembled in honor of the occacapital had assembled in honor of the occasion, and the handsome ball-room was thronged with exquisitely dressed ladies.

When the ball was at its height and everybody was looking her prettiest, several resounding whacks were heard, startling even the butler down stairs, who rushed even the butler down stairs, who rushed upon the scene and then sent for a police man. The blows came from a young man in faultless evening attire, who had become ingloriously drunk on the abundant excellent wines provided by the hostess. The young man, who by the way is the son of a representative, proposed to dance with a fair debutante, who, seeing his condition declined the honor and dance with a fair debutante, who, seeing his condition, declined the honor, and upon his rudely insisting was obliged to appeal to her escort, and he remonstrating got pounded therefor. A challenge follow d, but was respectfully declined on the part of the pugilist, who made an ample spology. Moral: "Don't abuse the hospitality of any host or hostess by catting dank."

Old ewes done up lamb fashion have been the subject of many remarks at the recent receptions at the White house. The most wonderful thing to me is that the most wonderful thing to me is that the women, whose arms, necks, backs and chests are bired to the gaze of the world, are the fat, middle-aged creatures who seem to forget that all the powder in the world cannot change a coarse, red complexion of 50 to that of 20, or make them look attractive and young. The fashion is not encouraged by the leading ladies in society, but by would be leaders who have had their day in desperate efforts to lead and failed.

Mr. Blake spoke for two he half altogether. His speech w natured attack on Sir Leona fiscal policy and a bold assertid dominion government was the speech with the state of the second s nion government was bac in the many important question which it had been at war with cial legislatures, notably b Mr. Blake was happy to see t come of Sir Leonard Tilley's that a bankruptcy law would be this session. That ought to finence minister happy. He thit into Sir Leonard about constituency. He said that years the city of St. Johad not been in a worse it was during the past year not think that the unfortunate do anything more for Sir Leonard do anything more for Sir Leonar no matter what it did for him Mr. Blake then drew a harrowi of the depression existing in the Canadian cities and towns. Cotton and West Indian industricts the depression of the department of the department of the leaf of the department of the leaf o cotton and West Indian industrifax had gone to pot. Quebec's ing was at a standstill. The ope the manufacturing towns of On idle or working on short time. I they had bolt works, which had a glucose factory which had opened. This remark about works drew out a joke from kenzie, who half shouted out works near the Humber wore When Mr. Blake repeated this was a laugh all round on the benches. Mr. Blake reminded ernment that the year before the was one of difficulty. He wou hear the truth told and the given honest advice; that we hear the truth teld and the given honest advice; that we they owed the country, own part he was going to tell and shame the tories. He was a was no mention made in the sanother grant to the C. P. R.
