

HUSBAND SAVED HIS WIFE

Stopped Most Terrible Suffering by Getting Her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Denison, Texas.—"After my little girl was born two years ago I began suffering with female trouble and could hardly do my work. I was very nervous but just kept dragging on until last summer when I got where I could not do my work. I would have a chill every day and hot flashes and dizzy spells and my head would almost burst. I got where I was almost a walking skeleton and life was a burden to me until one day my husband's step-sister told my husband if he did not do something for me I would not last long and told him to get your medicine. So he got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me, and after taking the first three doses I began to improve. I continued its use, and I have never had any female trouble since. I feel that I owe my life to you and your remedies. They did for me what doctors could not do and I will always praise it wherever I go."—Mrs. G. O. LOWERY, 419 W. Monterey Street, Denison, Texas.

If you are suffering from any form of female ill, get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and commence the treatment without delay.

Flying Cadets Fast Become Proficient

To one who first visits one of the several aerodromes of the Royal Flying Corps in Canada, it comes in the nature of a surprise to see so many aeroplanes aloft, swarming in the heavens, swooping down like high vultures, racing across the aerodrome and rising gracefully on their glistering wings. It speaks much for the efficiency of the R.F.C. training methods that most of the aviators in the machines are young cadets who have just migrated to the Flight Wing from the School of Military Aeronautics at the Toronto University after 4 to 6 weeks preliminary training. Some of them are taking their first "flip" and the fascination of that thrill will always linger in the young man's memory. Long after the cadet has mastered the art of flying, even when he can do loops, "immelman" turns, spins, and all the "stunts" in the aviator's bag of tricks, he always looks back on the joyous sensations when he first donned the leather coat, furlined helmet, goggles and those wonderful boots which are the aviator's pride. His initiation into the mysteries of flying begin with "dual" flying; day after day he goes up with his instructor until he has learned to control the machine himself. He must practice landing, for the mark skilled airman is the ease with which he lands. Then one day he will be sent up "solo" on the first of many flights and landings. This is the real test of his fitness for flying. Day after day he is given greater freedom on these solo trips until his instructor pronounces him a master of his art.

During this course in actual flying the cadet receives advanced training in wireless telegraph and signalling. He also gets actual practice in aerial photography, keeping the same records and striving for the accuracy that will be demanded of him in France. Not the least important and fascinating, he learns to use his machine gun like a master, chasing small balloons and targets towed by other machines.

304 Eggs in a Year

In the sixth national egg-laying contest in Missouri, a White Rock hen laid 304 eggs in the year. In the seventh annual contest, which began on November 1st, 300 pullets laid 2,220 eggs, which sold for $81.40. They consumed 2,223 pounds of feed, which cost $64.90, thus profiting above the cost of their feed during the lowest producing months of the year and eating high priced food. The war-time feeding ration contained no wheat, and was composed as follows: Dry mash, 20 pounds shorts, 20 pounds bran, 20 of oats, 20 of cornmeal, 26 of beef scrap. To go with this mash 200 pounds of grain were given.

THE OIL FOR THE FARMER.—A bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in the farm house will save many journeys for a doctor. It is not only good for the children when taken with colds or croup, and for the mature who suffer from pains and aches, but there are directions for its use on sick cattle. There should always be a bottle of it in the house.

For the Race of Man

"Oh, God don't take my boy from me."
The weeping mother prayed.
"Don't send him far across the sea,
Because I am afraid
"That if he goes, I'll never see
His face I love again;
Oh, Father, surely there must be,
Some other valiant man
"Who'll go to fight across the sea
Those hosts of sin and shame;
Lord, do not take my boy from me,
I ask it in Thy name."

And then she slept and, sleeping, dream
She saw a garden fair,
And far within, she saw, it seemed
A man bowed low in prayer:

"Oh, Father, let this pass from me,
And spare Thine only son;
Yet, Father, if that cannot be,
Thy will, not mine be done."

And the scene was changed; she viewed
A cool and verdant hill,
Where, reaching high, three crosses stood
Amid the darkness still.

Upon the second cross, she saw
The man who prayed alone,
And as she stood in silent awe,
His hour of grief was done.

Below His cross, she saw in prayer
A mother asking "Why
Did my son have to suffer there,
"Though innocent, and die?"

But an angel came and whispered low
" 'Tis part of a wondrous plan,
His Heavenly Father wills him so."
He dies for the race of man."

The sleeper woke, her stalwart son
Was standing at her side.
In uniform with sword and gun;
She softly, softly cried.

But quickly dries her tears away
And said, "Your country's call,
I'm proud to see you thus obey,
And e'en though you may fall
"In battle o'er the sea, some day,
Against the wicked foe,
I'll still be glad you went away,
For now at last I know,
"The noblest way that e'er has been,
To die since time began,
Is victory over strength of sin."
To die for the grace of man."
—RICHARD LAWRENCE MCGUFFIN.

Pointed Paragraphs

Every boy has an unconquerable longing to kill a wild goose.
Every man thinks his friends are more devoted to him than they really are.
The only gambling tip which amounts to anything is to keep out of the game.
It takes all kinds of queer people to make a world, and you are one of the queer kind.

You can make a mystery out of anything that happened after 12 o'clock at night.
Some elderly woman can look at a man with a mean, knowing look that will make him shiver.

When a man succeeds, he does it in spite of everybody, and not with the assistance of everybody.
A man suddenly becomes awfully polite and considerate for the public when an opposition business is started in his town.

A Ford Car Takes the Place of all These Things

WHEN you own a Ford you can do away with many articles that are a source of continuous expense to the man who still drives a horse. For instance, not only your driving-horse and buggy, but the single harness, blankets, whips, currycombs, brushes, horse-shoes, pitch-forks, feed-bins, etc.

In their place you have a speedy, dependable, dignified, roomy Ford Car—complete in itself. It is vastly superior to the narrow, cramped buggy that travels so slowly. And when a Ford is standing idle it does not eat three meals a day, and it requires no "looking after."

A Ford will save you time, trouble, and money. It is the utility car for the busy farmer and his family.

Our Art Societies.

Reminiscences of the cradle and infancy of art in Canada were charmingly given in a recent address by Mr. F. M. Bell-Smith, the well-known Canadian painter. Mr. Bell-Smith prefaced his remarks by saying that "art in Canada to-day is not merely fanciful, but is a wholesome and very valuable reality." He made a brief reference to Jacobi, one of the best colorists who had ever come to Canada from Europe, and to Paul Kane and to Kreighoff, a Russian Pole, who won not a little fame as the painter of "habitant" life in the Province of Quebec.

It was, however, left to Mr. Bell-Smith's father, John Bell-Smith, to found the first society of artists in Canada. This was just after he settled in Montreal in 1866. He was its first president. The Vice-President was John Alexander Fraser, one of the best water color painters the Dominion had seen. Others were his brother, William Fraser, Henry Sandham, James Duncan, and William Raphael. This society of Canadian artists was the parent from which all other art bodies grew, though the original did not long continue owing to the fact that the founders left Montreal.

Mr. Bell-Smith, with his family, and John A. Fraser moved to Toronto, and through their efforts largely the Ontario Society of Arts was formed in 1872, "which exists as a very live and active institution to-day," added Mr. Bell-Smith.

The establishment of the Royal Canadian Academy, under the inspiration of the Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise, was touched on briefly. Mr. L. B. O'Brien was first president, and the storm he raised in his first selection among academicians was recalled. Mr. Bell-Smith told how curiously the same scene appealed to different artists. He mentioned that he and three other Canadian artists were sketching within arm's length of each other in the Rocky Mountains some years ago, and each of the same theme made such a different picture that they were scarcely recognizable to themselves as the self-same view.

Electric Water Carts.

Electric cars water the streets of Milan. On these watering-carts reservoirs have been adapted to the platforms, and these reservoirs are equipped as the car runs by means of perforated tubes placed fan-shaped at the front and the back of the car.
