ken of througfr the whole worlt:" We fin tha Lord's supper, into the real boid dare not hear any other Church chan the voice of her who trimmphed in her blund at Romb, the relics of whose nkartyrs fill the cattenmbs, of her who wilhstoud and ennguered the ['ag in, ihe Vaudial, the Goth. tho Saracell, who converted all tho nations, who perpetuated the classic languagea, who for ages was tho ack mumledg and constitutional arbiter of evecy difif. aully betweon Kings and hoir subjocts, who built up sncinty from the scattered and half civilized hordes which cano dewn from the "Northern tive" and decastated Sombern Einrope wilh a rape to destros; which only she, he mighty Church of God, could check in its career, withstand, and finally humanze. We must hear her alone whon we behold amongst us willail tho marks of her inmortality on her vene rable front, whose voice has beon heard in our days as ofold, rebuking the tyrant who has ravaged her pencelal vineyard and scattered her hushondmen. To riject this holy witness and nako an olliance with some linle iroken sect of modern simes is asking ton much. We will not sell our souls so cheap. There is no reason, no Christimity in sush a request.-As well may we listen to the Atheist who tells us to he contented with life and disown immortality, 10 enjoy the earth and banish the hope which wou'd hift us to hearen.

"No Sectarianism in the Work." -'This is a popular expression in most of tho Prospectuses of the new religion (and sometimes other works) issued at the cast, but which is generally fulvo. A Mr. Sears, of N. Y. in an advertisement for A gents for his Bible, comains the above words. This is a bait held our to ge purchasers, for after the work is sold it matters not whether it answers the expectation or not. We have not seen the mork, but from the notice alluded to(which is contained in one of our exchanges) we were almost tempted to publisti it, and thus get a copy which is tho price offered. But happily we have met a notice of the work in the U. S. Catholic Miscellany, that zhows the falsity of the lag it carsies, and places it in its true light-ithe following extract from tiec book inself will be sufficient to prove the statement without pubBishing the article, which however, we 3ould do, but for want of spacc. Quoting the words of the institution of the blessed facrament the biographer says:
"Our Savionr's words,spoken when he instituted the ,Lord's Eupper.' are in like enanner perverted : he said of the bread, Thes is my body ; "and of the cup of -ine, "This is my hlood, of the new lestament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins." Matt. xxvi. 26. 28. These words of Christ the RomanCatholics profess to receivo literally; and in con-存radiction to various other plain testimogutes of Scripture, as well as in opposition so every primciple of nature and sound teasoning, they have since the t.e elfth Eentury, built upon those words their abburd ond monstrous doctrines of transub, Stautiacion; that is, he pretended consers-Siun of the breal and wiac, which are used and blood, and soul and divinity of Jesus Clutist, whien the priost prenounces what they c.ll the words af eonsec fation of thase dements!"
"No sectarianism" indeed-"it is dosigued for all"一- ill but the Catholics.

Jmmensery af Cineation-Some astronomers have computed, ihat there are not less than 75 milltons ot suns in the unverse. The fixed stars are all suns, having like our sum, mumerous planets revolving round then 'The colar systelif. or thrt to whinch we belolig. ha

Now, if all the fixed stars are as distant from each other as Sirius is from our sill, or if our solar sy-tem be the average mage ntude of all the systems, of 75 millions of sums, what innapination can grasp the immensity of creation? Who can burvey a plantation containngy 7 g millions of circular fielda, cach ten milhons of miles in diamuter? Such however is onv of tho plantations of (fime whin has ineaared the waters in the hollow of his hamsodust heaven with aspan-comprenema althe mumatus tu sesles, and the lule in a Whe Is who "sitteth upon the orbit of the eurth stretchis out the henvens as a curhein, and apradeth them out as a topt to divell ain, "Nations to him ure "is a oucket, and are counted as as a drop of the bucket, and are counted as the small dust of the balance" and yet overwhelming thought, he sags "Though I dwell m th: bright and inly place, with him will I always dwell who is of an lumble aud contrite spirit and trembles at my word."

Tue Brecit Tref: has alvage escaped the efficts of atmospheris clectricity. Ithis fact, says a writer in the Cultivator,has been noticcd fur more than a huadred years, both in Europe and this ccuntry, and improvement might ing beeches nemade of the pranting and rear houses and barns of our farmers for the immo nity of cattle as well as human beincrs from the violence of lightning. Let a beccligrove as casy to rear as a plantation of butternuts, accompany every inhabited guol, and let soltary beech trees arise here and there ver every farm or plantation. IIow ofien nu we read of some fluck of sheep, some two or three horses or catile, or anen being killed by lightning, who had taken shelter under come oali maple, or hickory tree! Aud yut fewf furmers suffer a beech tree to stand, notwithstanding it is as shady and omamental as the maple. 'Woodman spare that tree.'
