A GLANCE THROUGH THE PAPERS.

Vol. 1 no. 1 of "Stamps" presents a very creditable appearance. Very interesting is the article on "Benjamin Franklin. It gives a half page cut of the great statesman and portrays several interesting incidents of his life. His table of thirteen virtues ending up the article.

The Oct. number of Philatelic Californian is a corker both in size and contents. It opens with an article on U.S. Dep't stamps by W. N. Riddel and A. H. Weber which will prove a valuable reference

No. 2. of the Trans-Mississippi Stamp is filled mostly with readable items. The "Village Blacksmith" holds forth on the cover.

The Home worker for Nov. is the Boy Collectors' special. It contains much interesting and instructive matter for beginners.

The Western Stamp comes to hand this month in an enlarged form with cover. They promise a grand holiday no. but pages are to be smaller. We would advise them to keep the same size as many collectors bind the paper. When the papers are all shapes and sizes they do not make a very respectable looking volume.

Instead of the mammoth Nov. no. the Evergreen has only 8 pages without cover. The publisher explains satisfactorily and in Dec. the great number will appear.

It claims that it was original in getting the Nov. No. out before Oct. No. but we cannot leave it alone in its glory as the Phil. Advocate is ahead of it in that respect.
