(c) The accounts of the Inter-American Radio Office shall be submitted (c) The accounts of the Inter-American transfer be submitted by the Government where the Office is located to the next succeeding conference by the Government where the Office is located to the next succeeding conference approval.

(d) The Office is placed initially under the auspices of the Government o

Cuba. Its headquarters shall be in the city of Havana.

ARTICLE 10

Internal Regulations for O.I.R.

This Convention has annexed Internal Regulations of the Inter-American which provide the details for the internal administration of the Inter-American convention has annexed Internal Regulations of the Inter-American convention con This Convention has annexed Internal regarders for the internal administrance Radio Office (Annex 2), which provide the details for the internal administrance Radio Office (Annex 2), which may be amended only by the affirment of the conference. Radio Office (Annex 2), which provide the detailed administration of this organization and which may be amended only by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the States represented at a conference.

PART THREE

SPECIAL PROVISIONS

ARTICLE 11

General Principles

(a) The contracting Governments recognize the sovereign right of all nations to the use of every radio broadcasting channel.

ons to the use of every radio broadcasting the sole condition that no interest (b) The American Governments, upon the sole condition that no interest (b) The American Governments, upon the sole condition that no interest (b) The American Governments, upon the sole condition that no interest (b) The American Governments, upon the sole condition that no interest (b) The American Governments, upon the sole condition that no interest (b) The American Governments, upon the sole condition that no interest (b) The American Governments, upon the sole condition that no interest (b) The American Governments (c) The American Government (c) The American Governmen (b) The American Governments, upon the country, may assign any type of wave to any radio station under their authority. ference will be caused to the service any radio station under their authority frequency and any type of wave to any radio station under their authority. nency and any type of wave to any radio statistic different authority and ency and any type of wave to any radio statistic that, until technical developments that permits the elimination of radio interference of interferen

(c) Nevertheless, the Governments the elimination of radio interference of interment reaches a state that permits the elimination of radio interference of interment reaches a state that permits the elimination of radio interference of interments are essential in order to prove the control of the control o ment reaches a state that permits the control of international character, regional arrangements are essential in order to promote standardization and to minimize such interference.

dardization and to minimize such interference.

(d) For the solution of those problems which, because of special propaga. (d) For the solution of those problems which can be special propagation characteristics and interference conditions of radio transmission in the tion characteristics and interference special provisions, the contracting Government of the contracti tion characteristics and interierence conditions, the contracting Governvarious geographical zones require special provisions, the contracting Governvarious geographical zones require special provisions and the contracting Governvarious geographical zones require special provisions and the contracting Governvarious geographical zones require special provisions and the contracting Governvarious geographical zones require special provisions and the contracting Governvarious geographical contracting Governvarious geographical contracting geographical c various geographical zones require special provided the American continent into three regions, designated as ments agree to divide the American continent into three regions, designated as ments agree to divide the American, and the southern zone (Annex 3).

ARTICLE 12

Bilateral Agreements

The contracting governments whenever they shall deem it desirable within The contracting governments whenever they shall agreements within the scope of this convention shall negotiate bilateral agreements concerning the scope of this convention shall negotiate bilateral agreements concerning the scope of this convention shall negotiate bilateral agreements concerning the scope of this convention shall negotiate bilateral agreements concerning the scope of this convention shall negotiate bilateral agreements concerning the scope of this convention shall negotiate bilateral agreements concerning the scope of this convention shall negotiate bilateral agreements concerning the scope of this convention shall negotiate bilateral agreements concerning the scope of this convention shall negotiate bilateral agreements concerning the scope of this convention shall negotiate bilateral agreements concerning the scope of this convention shall negotiate bilateral agreements concerning the scope of this convention shall negotiate bilateral agreements agreement the scope of this convention shall negotiate bilateral agreements agreement the scope of the scope of this convention shall negotiate bilateral agreements agreement the scope of the scop the scope of this convention shall negotiate blitted a scone concerning the operation of radiotelegraph stations as between their respective nations in order to facilitate direct communication.

ARTICLE 13

Frequency Measuring Stations

The contracting governments agree to establish frequency measuring stations as soon as possible.

ARTICLE 14

Exchange of Information

B

C8

pI

The contracting governments which have not undertaken to communicate The contracting governments which an Inter-American centralizing office data relating to radiocommunications to an Inter-American governments the data references. data relating to radiocommunications to the data referred to shall interchange with all the other American governments the data referred to in Article 6, paragraph B (2), of this Convention.