4. (1) Any person to whom this Act applies who arrives in Canada without a permit has proved to the satisfaction of the Minister that he desires to enter Canada as a visitor only for the purpose of business, pleasure or health, and that he intends to leave Canada within six months after his arrival, may be granted a temporary permit in the prescribed form. A permit under this section may be granted for a period of six months or for such shorter period in any case as the Minister may in his discretion determine.

(2) Any such temporary permit may be granted subject to such conditions (if any) as may be prescribed by regulations under this Act, or as may in any case be imposed by the Minister. Every person to whom a temporary permit is so granted who fails to comply with any of the conditions subject to which that permit has been granted commits an offence against this Act.

(3) Where such temporary permit is granted to a visitor, a similar temporary permit may be granted to the wife and children of such visitor, and any persons, residents and employees of such firm or socially accompanying him.

(4) If a person to whom such temporary permit is granted desires to extend his stay in Canada beyond the period for which the permit was granted, he may make application to the Minister, who may, in his discretion, either grant an extension or extension form to the person, or grant a temporary permit to such person, or grant to such person a permit in the form prescribed with respect to persons intending to settle permanently in Canada.

Provided that a permit to the two mentioned persons shall be granted only if the Minister is satisfied that the person to whom the permit in that form would have been granted if his application had been made for the same in the proper and subject to the conditions prescribed in this Act provided.

(5) A person to whom a temporary permit is granted who remains in Canada beyond the period for which the permit was granted without having applied for and been granted an extension or such temporary permit or having been granted such extension remains in Canada after the expiration period, commits an offence against this Act.

(6) A temporary permit granted under this Act may be revoked at any time by the Minister. Every person to whom a temporary permit has been granted commits an offence against this Act if he does not leave Canada within such time after the revocation of his permit as the Minister may prescribe in that behalf.
