

the burden
 fast able and ne to make
 of the fore-
 he matter in d that pro-
 nty-tax laid
), and a caoughs.—
 oor, and lay
 id : and the
 can be hoped fures are laid
 once levied,
 to lie unem-
 or every heri-
 employed for
 be of factious
 danger also is
 is hoped with

possibly grudge
 ration for the
 er : but is it
 old benefit by dvancing our
 the heritors of common, for od roads would
 ing the repara-
 ould be better-

pected that any or concerning
 framed as to en are practi-
 of Lord Ba-
 order to promote

mote a general good, if without such concessions it cannot be obtained. Better far to have a good law, though in our opinion defective in some articles, than to have no law at all; or, which is worse, a law eminently defective, unjust, and inexpedient.

F I N I S.